

'Bawled Out' but Not Fired for Attack On Kohler Worker

Witness Tells About Beating At Sheboygan

Washington — (AP) — A Detroit unionist testified today he was "bawled out" but never punished by his United Auto Workers union superiors for beating a Kohler Co. plant non-striker.

William P. Vinson, 230 pounds and 6 feet 3, told the senate rackets committee the union paid his wife $100 a week while he served 13½ months of a 2-year term. He was convicted of beating Willard Van Ouwkerk, 5 feet 6 and 125 pounds, who suffered broken ribs and a punctured lung.

The committee heard this testimony after a stormy exchange during which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) at one point threatened UAW Attorney Joseph L. Rauh with expulsion from the room.

This was touched off when Lyman C. Conger, Kohler Co. counsel, said he had been cursed in the hearing room by UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey. Mazey is chief union strategist for the 47-month-old UAW strike against the Kohler Co.

McClellan's Warning

Rauh said the exchange between Conger and Mazey occurred late yesterday after Conger told Mazey he "had spies following Mr. Mazey." Conger said Mazey used "foul language" and approached him in a threatening manner.

McClellan served notice he would seek contempt of congress prosecution for anyone found to have threatened any committee witnesses. He told all concerned: "You folks who want to have a quarrel and cuss each other out, get out of here."

Van Ouwkerk, 31, testified he was beaten up in a Sheboygan, Wis., bar after refusing to join the union. The incident occurred June 18, 1954, a little over two months after the strike started.

Vinson, 53, said he heard Van Ouwkerk say there were too many union men in the bar, and he told the committee: "I'd been drinking a little, and I lost my temper and hit him."

Vinson said "nobody" ever took me off the job to which he had been assigned by the union in Wisconsin. He said he was "bawled out" by various union officials but not punished in any other way.

Vinson said he was given no specific duties when he was sent from Detroit to Kohler. With Rauh and Sen. Mundt (R-SD) trying to outshout one another, McClellan pounded his gavel on a sounding board and told Rauh:

"I happen to be chairman of this committee. When a member of this committee wishes to speak, that member will have preference."

McClellan said neither Conger's protest — since it was unsworn — nor anything Rauh

At Least 11 Die in Collapse Of Cofferdam

Montreal, Quebec — (AP) — Divers and frogmen were summoned today to the hazardous task of retrieving bodies from the bottom of a steel cofferdam which collapsed under the pressure of heavy chunks of ice and swirling currents in the Riviere des Prairies.

Police said they believed 18 men lost their lives. Company officials placed the deaths at 11.

About 20 men were reported working at the bottom of the dam when a supporting beam buckled and let the structure collapse yesterday. The dam had been sunk 32 feet below the waterline into the river bed to allow construction of a 6-lane toll bridge across the Riviere des Prairies, known as the "Black river" here, on Montreal's north shore.

Two or three men escaped from within the dam when it collapsed. Three others saved themselves when they were tossed from the top of the dam into the current.

"The ice came down and hit it and the whole thing collapsed," said one of those who escaped.

Forfeits Bond; License Taken

Appleton Man Fails to Appear in Court for Drunken Driving

Howard I. Young, 32, 1415 N. Superior street, Wednesday failed to appear in court for trial and Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede ordered his $167.95 bond forfeited on a charge of drunken driving.

Young's driver's license was revoked for a year.

Young was arrested by Appleton police Dec. 1 after his car hit a state patrolman's car parked in front of the policeman's home in the 200 block of W. Parkway boulevard.

Young previously had denied the charge.

Tunisian Ruler Threatens Break With Egyptians

Angry Over Alleged Plot in Cairo to Assassinate Him

Tunis — (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba threatened today to break diplomatic relations with Egypt over an alleged Cairo-based plot to assassinate the Tunisian chief of state.

Bourguiba said in a broadcast to his nation that he had informed Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser unless a "serious explanation" was forthcoming of alleged plot. "We no longer have any need of diplomatic relations with Egypt."

The pro-western Tunisian government, in charging the plot yesterday, claimed it was headed by the exiled Tunisian extremist leader, Salah ben Youssef, who is sheltered in Cairo by Nasser's government. Ben Youssef replied that the charge was fabricated to divert Tunisian public opinion from pressing Bourguiba into joining the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

Break Indicated

Presumably Bourguiba meant he would break with the U.A.R., which has taken over the diplomatic relations of both Egypt and Syria.

From the U.A.R. side came charges that King Saud of Saudi Arabia had plotted to kill Nasser and wreck the new Arab union. It appeared that the Egyptian leader had embarked on a campaign to lump Saud with Kings Faisal II and Hussein of the Arab federation as enemies of Arab unity.

The chief accuser of Saud was Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, Syrian army intelligence chief. Similar charges were made by an Egyptian witness in a Cairo court, and Nasser himself spoke of a Saudi plot.

Approve Bills to Bar Support Cuts

Washington — (AP) — The senate agriculture committee today approved bills that would prevent Secretary of Agriculture Benson from reducing farm price supports and planting allotments of this year's crops below last year's levels.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said the vote was 12-3.

Across the capital, meantime, a house agriculture subcommittee unanimously approved legislation to block Benson from lowering dairy price supports from about 83 per cent of parity to 75 on April 1.

Chairman Abernethy (D-Miss.) said the bill would keep the minimum support price on milk used in manufacturing dairy products at the current level of $3.25 a hundred pounds for two years.

These three senators have figured in testimony about a four-way contest for Miami's TV Channel 10.

In recess today, the committee's prospective next big name witness is Col. George Gordon Moore, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Eisenhower.

Moore denied yesterday that he had anything to do with the federal communications commission's grant of TV Channel 10 to a National Airlines subsidiary headed by G. T. Baker, a friend of his. But Moore wrote Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the investigating subcommittee, that he is willing to repeat his denial under oath.

Probers Won't Invite Senators

Rayburn Says No Request Will be Made for Testimony

Washington — (AP) — Speaker Rayburn said today a house investigating committee will not invite testimony from senators whose names have come into an inquiry into alleged backstage maneuvering over a Miami TV license contest.

"We're not going to ask them to come over here and if I were the senators, I wouldn't come voluntarily," Rayburn told newsmen.

"If a senate committee asked me to go over there I would tell them to go dig potatoes deep."

Rayburn said the senators whose names have been mentioned during the house hearings have a forum of their own in which to testify if they wish.

"They've got a floor over there and they've got committees," he said. "We're not going to investigate senators."

Figured in Testimony

Rayburn's pronouncement, as head of the house, squelched whatever possibility there may have been that the house committee would invite testimony from Sens. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) and Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.)

These three senators have figured in testimony about a four-way contest for Miami's TV Channel 10.

Ike Receives New Bulganin Message

Deals With Summit Meeting, Bid to Leaders to Visit U. S.

Washington — (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov called today for a prompt summit conference to start easing world tensions "piece by piece."

Menshikov declared: "If we settle only some problems, not all problems at once, it will make the task of deciding other questions easier."

Washington — (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin sent President Eisenhower a new message today. It reportedly dealt with negotiations for a summit conference and Eisenhower's bid to leading Russian citizens to visit this country.

The message was delivered to Secretary of State Dulles by Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov at 11 a.m. Dulles asked to Bulganin, which the Soviets' Menshikov to return to the state department four hours later and own people.

Russia's proposal for a presuming foreign ministers' meeting, message would be made public. The U. S. note is expected inside Russia along with the welcome Russia's agreement last week to hold a meeting of foreign ministers but to reject as totally unacceptable Soviet terms for such a meeting. The United States particularly objects to an advance commitment to hold a summit conference. It also finds unacceptable Russia's insistence that the foreign ministers should be limited to talking about mechanical arrangements.

Menshikov went to the state department with Bulganin's message immediately before making a speech at the National Press club.

Lincoln White, department press officer, said Menshikov gave Dulles two documents in the course of their 7-minute meeting. He said the documents had to be translated and he was unable to identify them.

Menshikov himself had told reporters he brought in a reply to Ambassador Menshikov's Feb. 15 letter to Eisenhower, which the Soviets' Menshikov to return to the state department four hours later and own people.

26 Aboard Hijacked ROK Plane, Including 2 U. S. Fliers, Regain Freedom

Osan, Korea — (AP) — Communist batteries shot down an American Sabre jet near the Korean truce line today and the pilot reportedly parachuted "just over the communist side of the line." Meanwhile the North Koreans released two American pilots and 24 others from a South Korean airliner hijacked 18 days ago.

The first brief air force announcement on the jet fighter did not say whether the pilot who bailed out was seen to hit the ground safely.

A second F86 accompanying the downed Sabre returned to its base. The pilot reported he "saw the lead aircraft get hit and crash, and then momentarily saw a parachute with the (first) pilot floating toward the ground just over the communist side of the line."

The two Sabres were on a low-level simulated ground-support mission about 65 miles northeast of Seoul. Under standing orders they are forbidden to fly over the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone that stretches across the peninsula separating North from South Korea.

The air force announcement did not make clear whether the pilot came down over the communist half of the zone or in North Korea.

The air force withheld the names of both pilots and began an investigation together with the U.N. command.

May Drop Search

Planes from the crashed Sabre's base at Osan, where Americans first battled the communists in the Korean war, searched the southern fringes of the zone from aloft today but failed to spot the lost flier.

An air force official said it was doubtful the search would continue tomorrow because "it's just too close to the line."

After release of the 26 by North Koreans, passengers said it was seized in flight Feb. 26 by "at least five communist agents."

The Korean passengers confirmed earlier South Korean government charges that armed agents took over the plane on a flight from Pusan to Seoul. They said there was a fight but no one was injured seriously.

The two American pilots, a West German couple and 22 South Koreans were delivered at the Panmunjom truce headquarters after several hours delay. South Korea at first refused to sign release receipts provided by the communists. A representative of the South Korean Red Cross, after a telephone call to Seoul, finally signed.

Reluctant to Sign

U.S. and West German diplomatic representatives signed the receipts without objection. The South Koreans had feared their signature might constitute a form of recognition of the regime in the north.

The first ones released were the 22 Koreans, 21 passengers and a crewman. They walked through a cordon of military policemen from a communist bus to an allied bus. West German businessman Johannes Henrichs and his wife were next. The last were Willis P. Hobbs of Vallejo, Calif., the pilot of the airliner, and Air

Vote to Authorize GI Loan Rate Boost

Washington — (AP) — The senate banking committee today voted to permit an increase of one-fourth of 1 per cent in the interest rate on GI loans. It did so in approving a bill authorizing $1,850,000,000 to stimulate housing over the nation.

The bill is expected to be debated on the senate floor next week.

It was considerably modified from the form in which it first was introduced by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.). But he told newsmen he still believes it could provide in 1958 more than 200,000 homes in addition to those which would be built under present programs.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said he felt it might bring construction of 400,000 more homes than would otherwise be built. Both senators said many thousands of extra jobs would be created.

Additional provisions of the bill would extend GI home loan programs for two years to July 25, 1960, and lower down payments on FHA home loans.

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — (AP) — Moon-watchers geared themselves today for a sky search for the army's newly launched and mysteriously missing satellite, Explorer II.

At the same time the conviction grew that the 6-inch metal cylinder, 80 inches long and weighing about 32 pounds, never achieved an orbit.

Not Enough Velocity

There were persistent reports that signals from the Jupiter-C launching rocket convinced the army missile experts, ca or the Indian ocean beyond.

The cylinder would have traveled less than half way around the world before tumbling down over the atmosphere.

Officials of the army ballistic missile agency and of the final satellite stage failed to fire, through the atmosphere.

Army sources said that if the missile's speed propulsion laboratory, which built the high speed upper stages, were unavailable for comment, Werner von Braun, cause it to burn up from the German-born head of the army space program, left for Huntsville, Ala., before reporters apart from the messes of such orbit.

Milwaukee May Be Gunaca Trial Site

Man Wanted for Assault in Kohler Strike Dispute Says He's Willing To Drop Fight Against Extradition

Madison — Wisconsin authorities said Wednesday night that state law apparently would not prevent a trial in Milwaukee for John Gunaca of Detroit who is wanted by Sheboygan officials on charges stemming from the Kohler company strike.

Charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm in the beating of two non-striking employees of the Kohler plumbingware firm, Gunaca has fought extradition to Wisconsin since 1954. Local 833 of the United Auto Workers struck the Kohler company in April of 1954, but the company remains in operation.

with new workers and non-striking. In Detroit, Wednesday, Gunaca, a former member of UAW Local 212 in Detroit, said he would be willing to drop his fight against extradition to Wisconsin if his trial could be transferred from Sheboygan to Milwaukee.

Attorney General David Weber, Sheboygan county district attorney, said he didn't think such a change could be made, but the question was referred to the state attorney general's office by Peter Pappas, legal counsel for Gov. Vernon Thomson.

William Platz, assistant attorney general, supplied an official memorandum in which he quoted a 1910 decision which said the right to a trial site change in a criminal case "is purely statutory and does not exclude the idea that a change by consent of both parties is proper."

Gunaca's offer to drop opposition to extradition was made in a telegram to Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the senate rackets committee which is studying the strike at Kohler.

Requests Refused Wisconsin requests to extradite Gunaca have been refused for three years by Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams who said he did not feel Gunaca could get a fair trial in Sheboygan.

McClellan said the committee would have no authority or right to interfere in the scene of any trial of Gunaca. In his telegram Gunaca also indicated he would go to Washington to testify in the hearing if he were granted immunity from extradition. McClellan said he had instructed the committee staff to explore whether it would be possible to obtain a court order granting the immunity.

He said that if the answer was affirmative, the full committee then would have to decide the next step. McClellan said it was "not quite clear" whether Gunaca, even with immunity, would testify or invoke the Fifth Amendment, "although the implication of his telegram is that he would testify."

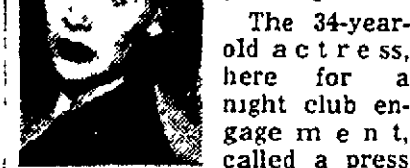

Under Oath McClellan said the committee could, if it chose, go to Detroit to question Gunaca or have some agent go there and question him under oath. He indicated little enthusiasm for either course.

Immediately after Gunaca announced he would come to Wisconsin if the trial were moved to Milwaukee, Weber said he doubted such a change in venue would be legal "in view of the clear language of the law."

Marie Ready To Give Out 'Real Story'

Cincinnati — A veteran Los Angeles detective hears today what Actress Marie McDonald calls the real story of her kidnapping 13 months ago.

The 34-year-old actress, here for a night club engagement, called a press conference yesterday and sobbed as she told newsmen her estranged husband, Harry Karl, was responsible for the kidnapping.

The story enlisted the quick interest of west coast police. Thad Brown, detective chief at Los Angeles, said: "This is the first time we have heard this story from her."

Detective Lt. Herman Zander, who investigated the kidnapping, was sent by plane, with Julian Blodgett of the Los Angeles prosecuting attorney's office, to question Miss McDonald today.

Also in Los Angeles, Karl scoffed at the story which he said is "absurd and ridiculous" and said: "I feel quite sorry for Marie. She needs a great deal of help."

Yesterday's press conference came after Karl had announced in Los Angeles that he is infatuated with a redhead and wants a divorce from Miss McDonald.

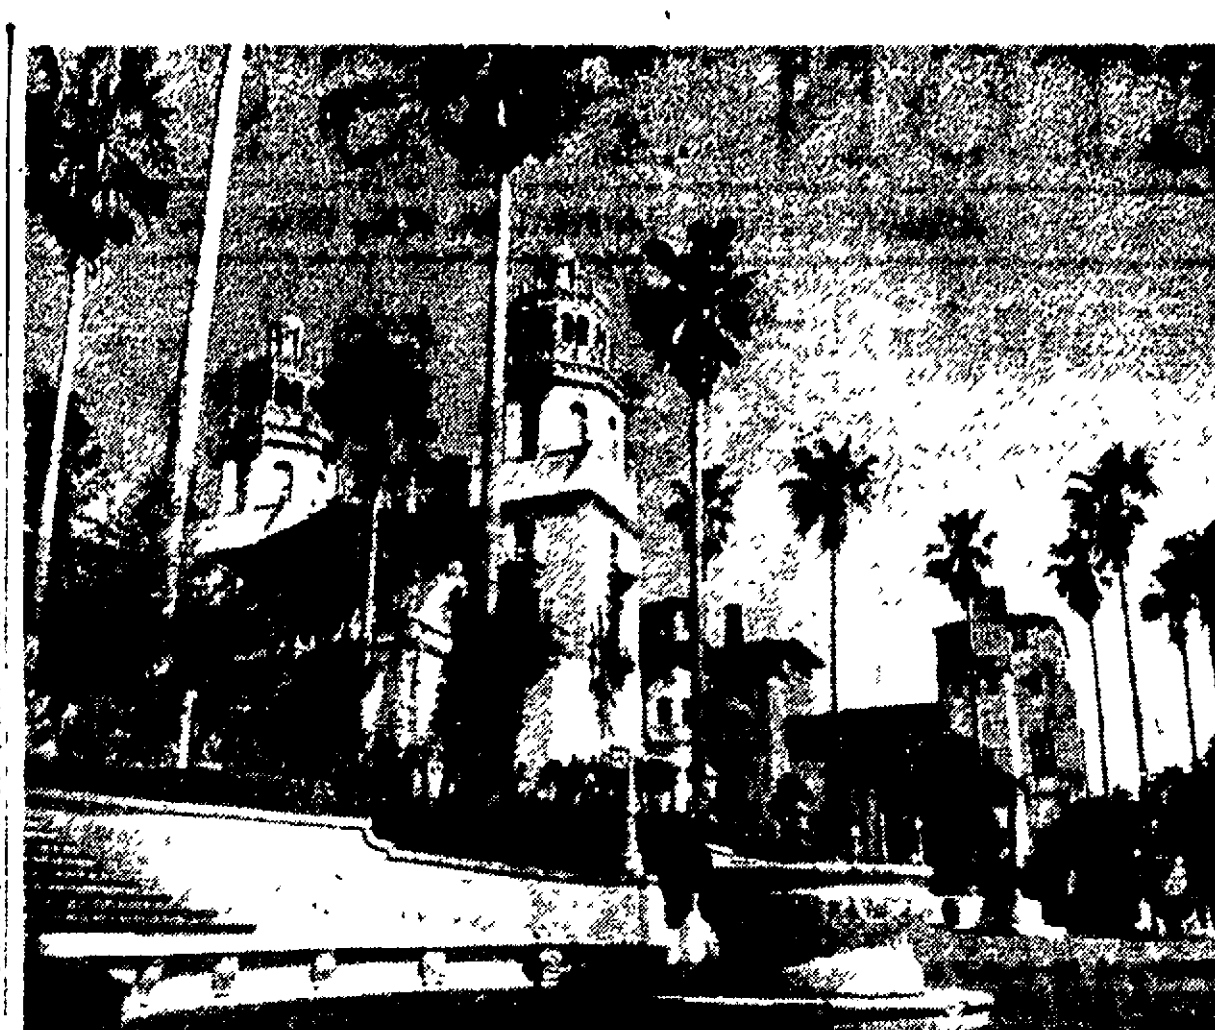

Karl and his wife were also estranged in January, 1957, when she disappeared from her home and was located 156 miles away 24 hours later. She told of being kidnapped by two men.

Officials said she testified under oath at length before a grand jury, but no indictments were returned. Yesterday, she said the kidnapping was authentic, but was "motivated by my husband by his own admission and by the admission of the two men who kidnapped me."

Specifically that the change of a trial site can be made only to an adjoining county Milwaukee and Sheboygan counties are separated by Ozaukee county.

Weber said, "There are five counties adjoining ours. With Sheboygan county, they represent a combined population of 300,000 persons. I am sure we can get 12 honest people out of 300,000 to hear testimony in this case."

"We have tried many strike cases. In some there have been convictions, in others acquittals. It depends entirely upon the facts in each case," was Hearst's great collection of

Fabulous San Simeon Castle Ready To Reveal Long-Hidden Splendors

Famed Home of Late Publisher Will Be Opened May 17 for Tourist Inspection

San Simeon, Calif. — Fabulous San Simeon castle, cresting a mountain top like a white crown, prepared today to reveal its long-hidden splendors to all.

For decades it has been the guarded setting of many of the world's great art treasures.

But its vaulted rooms will echo with the tramp of tourists' feet beginning May 17. By then it will be the property of the people of California, a monument to its builder, the late publisher William Randolph Hearst.

The Hearst family will turn over the twin-towered castle, its untold wealth in statuary, paintings, tapestries and other art objects and 120 surrounding acres, to the state within the next few days. Between then and May 17 the state will complete arrangements for opening it to the public.

Preview by Newsmen With park rangers learning the secrets concealed from public gaze in the 146 rooms of the castle and its complementary structures, the state opened the property for a preview by newsmen.

The glistening jewel in the mountain top, setting overlooks Pacific ocean waves breaking against a rough coast 250 miles north of Los Angeles and 245 miles south of San Francisco.

The road to San Simeon turns off from U. S. Highway 101 and winds up the emerald green mountains. Zebras, gnus, elk and goats from what once animals, gallop over the hillside.

The beauty of ancient Greece as depicted in Neptune pool, bordered by the columned facade of a green temple and marble statues of gods and nymphs, introduces San Simeon.

Neptune Pool Rising above the clear, green pool are terraced gardens, sprinkled with glistening statues.

Frowning down upon the sea is a 6,000-year-old Egyptian cat goddess, chiseled in somber gray stone. Rising over all are the twin towers, holding their 48-bell carillon whose tones were revered by Hearst as he gazed over the fogging coast.

2 Sets of Twins Result in List Of Double Entries

Milwaukee — Troubles multiplied at Johnston Municipal hospital Wednesday when two sets of twins brought about a long list of double entries in the record books.

They were: Kathy and Sally, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kruczynski, and Randall and Therese, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Schultz.

Both sets are two years old. Both sets of twins had gulped headache pills. The Kurczynski children had taken aspirin and the Schultz youngsters, a prescription for their mother.

Both sets were in good spirits when they arrived at the hospital, not quite an hour apart. But all four youngsters were pretty glum when they returned home after having their stomachs pumped. Physicians said they would perk up and be fine. There were these other facts for the record:

Both sets have the same birthday, Dec. 17, 1955, when they were born an hour apart. Both sets arrived about a month ahead of schedule. Both fathers are in the navy.

and mosaics to be seen are in the vestibule of La Casa Grande (the big house), as Hearst named it, but "the castle" as others called it.

Assembly Room Then comes the great assembly room, 100 by 40 feet, where guests gathered in lavish settings before being served in the austere refectory over which gently sway the banners of 16th century Italian noble families.

There dined the great figures of government, entertainment and society whom Hearst hosted in regal manner reminiscent of the great Roman medieval heritage.

Next, as the tour of visitors will progress, comes the art-packed Morning Room where guests awaited breakfast. Then to the billiard room, where the richest tapestry of all hangs. It is a French Gothic hunt scene valued at $150,000.

Next comes what perhaps to Hearst was one of the happiest rooms of all—the theater where he showed movies nightly to his family and guests. It is rich and deeply warm in scarlet and gold.

Protest End of Hunt For Sinking Victims

Izmit, Turkey — A crowd of men waving shrouds staged a protest demonstration yesterday after the government announced the end of the search for victims of the sinking of the ferry Uskudar last Saturday. "We want the bodies of our children," shouted the crowd. The government had reported 146 bodies were recovered from the sunken hulk. Gov. Ekmel Cetinel said more might be missing.

Man Walks in Sleep, Falls Through Window

Los Angeles — Pensioner Jacob Durand, 63, took a stroll yesterday in his sleep. He told police he awoke as he fell out a window — to the street three stories below. Hospital attendants treated him for a broken ankle and possible head injuries and said his condition is fair.

Record Breaking Rains Hit Hawaiian Island; Some Areas Flooded Out

Weather Bureau Records Over 10 Inches in 16-Hour Period

Honolulu — Record-breaking rains deluged Hawaii's principal island of Oahu last night and brought floods to some areas.

With no relief in sight before this afternoon, the weather bureau recorded 10.68 inches of rain at Honolulu airport in 16 hours — breaking a 4-year record.

Even the 41-year record of 13.52 inches — set at Honolulu's federal building in March 1917 — was threatened.

An electrical worker was reported washed into a drainage canal but was pulled out safely.

The storm flooded homes, forced postponement of at least 19 military air transport service flights, and put a big radio station off the air for 18 hours.

Planes Crash Two F8U Crusader jets crashed after taking off from the carrier Hancock, operating in Hawaiian waters. One pilot was killed; one rescued. Names were withheld. Seven other Hancock pilots landed at navy or marine air stations on Oahu.

Commercial flights operated on schedule to the mainland and United States. Inter-Hawaiian island flights were delayed slightly.

The glamorous Waikiki resort area was a sopping, dismal place. In the Reef hotel's basement garage 100 cars were flooded to the headlights.

Open Shelters The Red Cross opened three storm shelters — one in Honolulu and two in suburban areas in southern Oahu.

Houses in the modern Aina

Haina suburb had as much as 18 inches of water on their main floors. Water was waist-high in some Honolulu streets. Ironically, the Kona coast of the island of Hawaii, drought-stricken for months, was not expected to benefit from the storm.

Oahu alone — with 450,000 of the territory's 550,000 people — bore the brunt of the storm. Of the other islands, only Kauai to the northwest was in line for a stiff soaking.

Tewes Introduces Bill For Tax Deduction on Teacher's Expenses

Washington — Rep. Donald Tewes (R-Waukesha) said Wednesday he has introduced a bill in the house to allow school teachers a $600 yearly tax deduction on expenses incurred in continuing their education.

Tewes pointed out that other professional and business groups are allowed deductions for continued training. He said a teacher cannot claim such a deduction unless he can prove he would have lost his position if he had not taken an advanced course.

Youth Who Killed Minister Father Sent to Boys School

Las Cruces, N. M. — she would refuse to attend social functions if he did not stop "fussing at the boys in public."

Mrs. Boyett said her sons were not allowed to go to the movies or attend school dances.

The judge said: "We have here a 14-year-old boy who would probably serve in from three to five years in prison were he to be convicted as an adult on a charge of second degree murder. From the state prison he would return to society as a hardened criminal after having received a post view Baptist church, was shot while he prepared to punish John and his twin brother, Jack.

"I wish I had followed my first intuition and left my husband two years ago," Mrs. Boyett told Dist. Judge W. T. Scoggin. "But I was afraid a her husband was understanding family would be hard on people 'outside the fam-on the boys.'"

The distraught mother testified what he was doing to his two tied she once told her husband sons."

Retailers Urged to Fight Shoplifting

Merchants Told by Detective Best Way Is Training Clerks

Preventing and controlling shoplifting depends a great deal on training given clerks, Lt. George Behrendt, Appleton police detective, told the Appleton Downtown Retail association Wednesday.

The state law covering shoplifting was changed last year to permit greater latitude in arrest of shoplifters. However, Behrendt warned, merchants must be sure of an intent to steal merchandise before acting.

The new statute differs from the old in that an arrest is now possible when merchandise is concealed with the intent to steal it without the owner's consent. In the old statute, arrest was only possible after the shoplifter had left the premises.

Even with the new statute, which slightly broadens police powers, merchants must count upon clerks who are alert, who check merchandise, who will watch customers and who will distinguish between the legitimate shopper and the thief, Behrendt declared. In addition, the veteran detective pointed out, with the tendency toward self-service operations, many stores do not have enough clerks to watch merchandise at peak shopping periods.

Shoplifter's Method

He warned merchants that thieves may enter a store several times to determine times of coffee breaks when clerks are thinned out, or crowded shopping periods, such as the noon hour.

In addition, Behrendt suggested that merchants encourage employees to know their customers — not only to benefit the store, but to give an additional protection against shoplifters who often are strangers to a given department of a store.

Behrendt emphasized he was speaking solely as a police officer, not suggesting how merchants ought to run their businesses or as an attorney giving legal advice.

Juvenile Problem

Shoplifters in the Fox Cities area vary in age from 8 to 70, with possibly up to 90 per cent in the 8 to 18 age group. Appleton does not seem to be plagued with what Behrendt termed the professional shoplifter. Juveniles (children under 18) make up the largest single group of offenders. In addition, the offenders number 10 girls to every boy, the lieutenant said.

He estimated that as high as 90 per cent of shoplifting thefts are unreported.

He told the merchants the Appleton police force was not large enough to station men in a store plagued by shoplifters, although police would, of course, answer as soon as possible any call for assistance.

from a merchant. He added that perhaps the old-fashioned floorwalker or a store detective would be an answer to thieves in a store.

Questioned about restitution, Behrendt warned merchants against demanding payment from a suspected offender for goods stolen. If the party is not guilty, or perhaps even if he or she is, the store owner may find himself accused of extortion or blackmail. Call the police, Behrendt declared.

Parents' Responsibility

Under state law, Behrendt pointed out, parents' responsibility for juveniles is limited to damage and does not cover theft. In other words, the officer said, a merchant cannot legally force parents to make restitution for thefts.

However, Behrendt added, it frequently occurs that parents are willing to make restitution. In the matter of restitution, Behrendt pointed out that police often recover stolen property and it is, as one merchant said, used merchandise. This is almost unavoidable, Behrendt said. If the juveniles are turned over to the county court (which is the juvenile court in Outagamie county), the police have no further jurisdiction. The necessity of turning juvenile offenders over to the county court is not clearly defined in the statutes and it has been the custom in Appleton for police to handle many cases which are relatively minor, the detective explained.

Behrendt said an interview between police and juveniles ordinarily is a useful one, since about 4 per cent of the juveniles become repeaters — and four out of 100 is not very many, he added.

Juvenile Records

Police keep records on juveniles for destruction of property and theft, but not for what might be called juvenile pranks, Behrendt said. In addition, he characterized juveniles between 12 and 15 years of age as the worst offenders in shoplifting. Shoplifting is seasonal, the lieutenant said, rising significantly in the spring, (especially around Easter), in the fall and during the Christmas season. Little shoplifting is reported in the summer, he added.

Behrendt warned merchants against mistreating or mishandling youngsters. He added that it is wise to have a witness whenever a juvenile is questioned, especially girls, to avoid any later claims of mistreatment.

Behrendt noted that merchants can call upon police for assistance at any time, but added that proper training of clerks was the single greatest preventative measure merchants can take against shoplifters of any age.

Lawrence Says: U.S. Business Status Becomes Top News Story

Would Give Reds

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The business situation in America has become the most important news story in the world today. It is more important than any "summit" conference or the launching of "satellites." All Europe is anxiously watching the business trends here. For if America's economic strength is sapped by a deep depression, the communists would be given an opportunity for victories in many parts of the globe without firing a shot.

Which way will business go? Here are three directions in which the economic curve in America may be charted in the next 12 months:

1. The declines could go deeper. The psychological effect of this might cause a mood of hesitation and reluctance to go ahead even in businesses that are fundamentally sound.
2. There could be an upturn this summer or this autumn. A steady recovery would then ensue throughout next year.
3. There might be a side-wise movement as business bumps along the bottom for a while, with no sign as to just when in 1958 the upturn would start.

Begin With Confidence

If businessmen were convinced, for instance, that the bottom already had been reached—as a few observers seem to think—planning could begin now with real confidence. But it takes a little while to determine whether a bottom mark has actually been recorded. Too often the weekly or monthly figures are changed by statistics the following week or month. There must be signs of a continuous trend in order to be sure of what is happening.

Unfortunately, there has been an overemphasis on unemployment figures as the sole indicator of business conditions.

For the truth is there were only 340,000 less persons at work in January 1958 than in January 1957. There were, however, more than 900,000 workers added to the nation's labor force in 1957, and these, together with the usual number out of jobs for personal or other reasons, brought the total of unemployed up to 4.5 million in January.

Lots of Talk

Lots of talk has been heard lately about how the Soviets give incentives and stimulate their scientists by special treatment. But the principle is even more significant in a free economy. Tax revision of the right kind is perhaps the most important stimulus that could be given American business of all kinds. It's the policy that performed a miracle in west Germany, just as the lack of incentives has retarded Britain's postwar recovery.

What ought to be done in America probably will not be done because there isn't as yet a majority in congress willing to take a long look ahead and plan not just for the few months of 1958 but for several years.

Prosperity—bigger than any the United States has ever experienced—would, for example, follow the passage of a measure like the bill sponsored by Rep. Sadlak of Connecticut, Republican, and Rep. Herlong of Florida, Democrat. It would revise the whole income-tax structure, to take effect over a 5-year period, so that eventually the country would have a rate schedule ranging from 15 to 42 per cent for individual incomes and an overall rate of 42 per cent for corporations. Referring to this bill, the First National City bank letter, which is noted among businessmen for its down-to-earth analyses of the business situation, says:

Brighten Outlook

"It is doubtful if any action congress could take would so brighten the economic outlook and revitalize efforts to produce and sell and go ahead."

This is echoed by Dr. Charles F. Phillips, an economist, and president of Bates college. He says a plan of this kind would bring in enough revenue to keep the budget balanced.

For, by making the tax rates productive instead of restrictive, America would get more and more tax receipts from business.

Valley Area Hospitals Get Accreditation

Institutions Cited After Submitting To Voluntary Survey

Several hospitals in the Fox Cities area have received accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals after an annual survey.

However, Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, commission director, pointed out omission of a hospital from the list doesn't necessarily mean it failed to meet accreditation standards. The accreditation program is a voluntary one and only those hospitals requesting surveys are visited.

Receiving the commission's nod in this area are St. Elizabeth, Appleton; Community, Clintonville; Riverview sanatorium, Kaukauna; Theda Clark, Neenah; Community, New London; Mercy, Oshkosh; Shawano Municipal, Shawano; Riverside Community, Wau-paca; Hickory Grove sanatorium, West DePere; Bellin Memorial, St. Mary and St. Vincent, all of Green Bay; and Sunny View sanatorium and Winnebago State hospital, both of Winnebago.

Basic Requirements

The joint commission is an agency established several years ago by five organizations—the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital association, American Medical association and the Canadian Medical association.

All surveys are made by physicians who rate hospitals on basic requirements such as a safe physical plant free from fire hazards; proper supervision and review by the medical staff of clinical work done; maternal, infant and anesthetic death rates not excessively high; adequate medical records; and ethical practices.

Also considered are investigation of all tissue removed at operation, mortality rates within reasonable limits, proper nursing care and proper administrative and medical staff organization.

Lion badge winners were Ward Meythaler, Lee Spector, Kurt West, Charles Williams, Scott Seaborne, Philip Maldari, David Chappe and Richard Dewey.

Wolf badges were presented to Michael Henderson, William Riker, Peter Otto, Mark Olson and Dennis Mayne. Henderson received denner stripes.

Russians Develop New Powerful Microscope

Moscow —The Russians have developed a super microscope which magnifies more than a million times and enables scientists to see separate atoms of the element barium, Izvestia reports.

The government newspaper said the image is projected on the flat bottom of a device resembling a television electronic tube.

A current of several thousand volts passes through a needle, which emits electrons that bombard the screen and produce a greatly magnified image of the needle's point. When gas is let into the tube molecules settle on the needle point and are magnified a million times on the screen.

Nixon Would Not Take Oath During Period of Disability

Washington —President Eisenhower said Wednesday his disability agreement with Vice President Nixon does not contemplate that Nixon would have to take a new oath to act as chief executive.

Eisenhower also told his news conference Nixon has never served in that capacity during any of the president's three serious illnesses.

Eisenhower said the agreement does not mean Nixon would take the oath as president during any future temporary Eisenhower illness.

In essence, Eisenhower said that if he becomes unable to carry on his duties Nixon will have the sole responsibility of deciding when to take over as acting president.

On the other hand, Eisenhower said he would make the decision on when he would be able to resume his duties.

What he and Nixon had agreed upon, Eisenhower said, was that they would act as any honest man would in meeting an emergency.

Eisenhower said it had not been necessary for Nixon to become acting president during the chief executive's three illnesses. But he said if while he was on the operating table in his ileitis operation an emergency had arisen, Nixon would have had to make a decision at that point.

Mrs. Smith Bids For Reelection

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Mrs. Dena Smith, acting state treasurer and widow of the late State Treasurer Warren R. Smith, announced Wednesday she will be a candidate for Republican nomination to her office in the fall elections.

The 58-year-old Mrs. Smith, deputy to her husband during his nine years as state treasurer, is a native of Kewaunee and one of the best known women in state politics.

She would be the first woman ever to make a campaign for the state treasurer's office. Gov. Thomson named her to the vacancy caused by the death of her husband several months ago.

It is regarded as unlikely that Mrs. Smith will have major competition for the Republican nomination. No Democratic candidate has yet announced.

Lone Alderman Objects To Money for Ball Park

Hannemann Says Contingent Fund Nearly Depleted

Ald. Harold Hannemann, an anxious eye on the city's contingent fund, Wednesday night was the only alderman to oppose the $5,000 appropriation for Goodland field.

"I'm opposed to it," said Hannemann after the meeting, "because it means taking the $5,000 Hannemann from a nearly-depleted contingent fund. If the money would be available in the 1958 budget, I'd go along with it."

The contingent fund amounted to $15,999.09 at the close of council actions Wednesday. The lowness of it last Thursday caused Ald. Robert Stumpf to have the finance committee instruct City Clerk Elden J. Broehm to send letters urging economy to all city departments.

Ald. Allan Sonkowsky touched off discussion of the appropriation by suggesting ticket prices might be hiked a nickel to make sure the city gets its appropriation returned by the ball club.

Contract Talk Ahead

"I don't know why we should put out money for improvements on the ball diamond," he said, "when people from other places also will be attending games. We ought to see that they pay their share."

Ald. Kenneth Priebe, chairman of the recreation commission, agency controlling the field, said the commission hopes to get at least $4,000 of the appropriation returned through a contract which will be negotiated with the baseball team.

"I don't know why," said Ald. Harvey Priebe, Sr., "whenever a discussion of athletics comes up in this town measures are opposed on the basis of a few dollars. This will be a pretty good class of ball and we certainly won't be criticized for improving the field. That's what it's there for and it's been laying there dead the last few years."

Serve City's Youth

Ald. Ervin J. Bogan, another recreation commission member, said improvements would serve not only the Class B Foxes, but the city's young ball players as well. Baseball should be encouraged, he said. "Past councils," Bogan added, "spent several thousands of dollars they didn't get back."

The Appleton Community council's youth committee, of which he's a member, probably would endorse improvement of the field, Ald. Donald Mueller said.

Kenneth Priebe explained that lights and the dugouts would have had to be repaired and a canvas fence purchased, whether there was organized baseball or not. Resodding of the diamond, addition of a groundskeeper and a room for umpires are the only improvements needed because of the ball club, he said.

About $9,000 work is planned at the field, but the recreation commission has $2,300 available and city departments doing the work will be asked to absorb labor charges within their budgets.

Judy Garland Sues for Divorce

Santa Monica, Calif. — Judy Garland, suing for divorce, says Sid Luft has beaten and "attempted to strangle" her several times.

The singer filed the suit Tuesday against the theatrical agent to whom she was married in 1951. Her previous husbands were composer David Rose and producer Vincente Minnelli. Miss Garland requested an order restraining Luft from harassing or injuring her or removing their children, Lorna, 5, and Joseph, 3, from the state. She also asked the court to evict Luft from the family home in Beverly Hills.

The court set a hearing for March 14 on the restraining order and her request for $4,425 monthly temporary support and custody of the children.

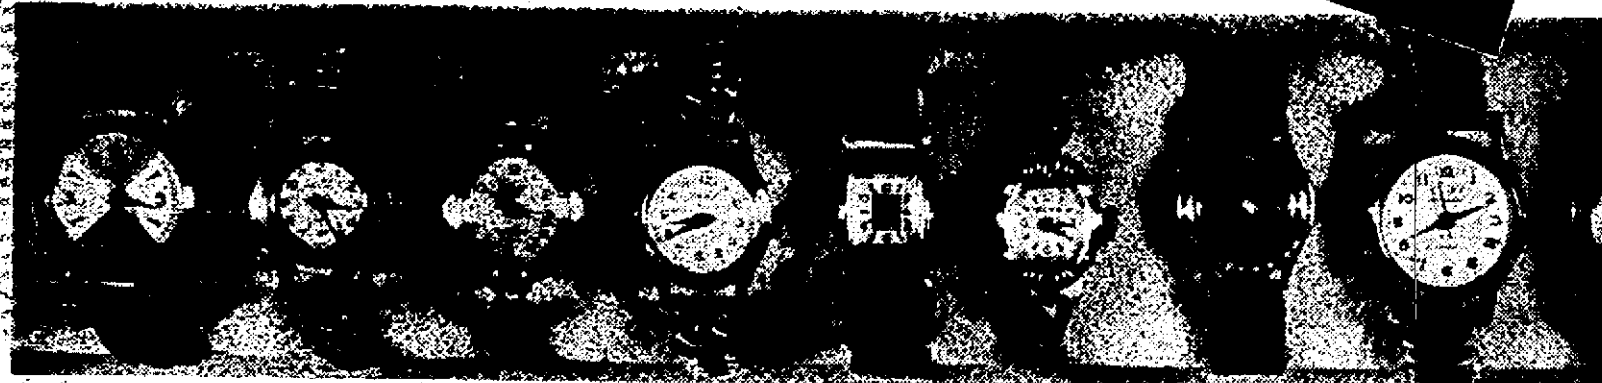

Judy's complaint said that by pre-marital agreement she and Luft were to keep their properties and incomes separate. But it said Luft now has possession of certain properties which belong to her and which he refuses to relinquish.

The actress sued for divorce in 1956, charging cruelty, but withdrew her complaint.

Alderman Wants Limits to Terms Of Park, Fire-Police Appointees

Limits on the number of years park board and fire and police commission members are permitted to serve are being sought by Ald. Donald Mueller.

The north-side councilman also wants a week's advance notice from the mayor or on all proposed appointees to city boards, commissions and committees. Mueller outlined his wishes in three separate resolutions submitted as items of new business at Wednesday night's council meeting.

Resolutions calling for a maximum of two consecutive 5-year terms on the park board and the fire and police commission startled councilmen.

Mayor Robert L. Roemer was so nonplussed for a moment that he did not know where to refer the first one when it was read.

Doubts Validity
Whispered calls from aldermen prompted him to refer it to himself, but when he asked City Atty. Don L. Jury for an opinion, Jury said he would need time for study.

After the meeting, Jury said he doubts that limits can be placed on terms since both the park board and fire and police commission are established by state law. The law, he said, makes no provisions for limitations.

Mueller's resolutions:
"Whereas the park board has the same members for some number of years who have served faithfully, and whereas, the population of Appleton is such that there are many people interested and have the ability to serve on a commission such as park board, therefore, be it resolved that the term of park board members be limited to two consecutive 5-year terms."

About 99 Years
"Whereas, the number of total years of fire and police commission members are many, somewhere around 99 and whereas, the past record of such commission and members is of such that no complaints were made in the past and none at the present time, but seeing as how we, the city of Appleton, have a large population and surely there are many men and women of equal ability and interest in city government to serve such commissions, therefore, be it resolved that the term of fire and police commission members be limited to two consecutive 5-year terms."

The mayor presently fills all appointments by announcing his choice at council meetings. In most cases, the appointment is subject to council approval.

Report to Council
Present park board members are George Johnson, president, Arthur W. Jones, secretary, Erik L. Madisen, E. R. Rachow and Dr. R. R. Lally.

Present fire and police commissioners are George C. Dame, president, Carl Sherry, James R. Joyce, Kurt Koletzke and Helm Hussner.

Alumni Will Ballot for Trustees

Ballots have been mailed to 5,500 Lawrence alumni for the election of new trustees and directors.

Returns will be tabulated early in June, and announced at commencement time. Lawrence has more than 10,000 alumni in its active file, but only those holding degrees are eligible to vote.

Nominees for alumni representatives to the college's board of trustees are: Gordon R. Clapp, '27, president of the Development and Resources corporation in New York City; Russell C. Flom, vice-president of the pulp and paper division of Marathon division of American Can company, Menasha; Barbara Schlafer (Mrs. Karl) Haugen, '13, Appleton, past president of the Lawrence alumni association board of directors; Robert H. Leverenz, '40, Sheboygan, vice-president of Leverenz Shoe company, and district lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis International.

Norton E. Masterson, '24, vice-president and actuary of Hardware Mutuals Insurance company of Stevens Point, and a member of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education for the State of Wisconsin; and Earl D. Miller, '32, president of the Heckert Shoe company, Appleton, and secretary of both the Appleton Memorial Hospital Board and the Community Fund.

Those proposed for director of the Lawrence alumni association include: Donald W. Brown, '50, Menasha; Alice Aldrich (Mrs. Dan) Hardt, '29, Appleton; Arthur H. Kaemmer, '41, Fond du Lac; Edward S. Pfeifferle, '35, Appleton; Elsie Plantz (Mrs. Adam C.) Remley, '10, Appleton; John W. Robson, '28, Menasha; Barbara Simmons (Mrs. Edmund) Webster, '30, Waupaca; and Anna-belle E. Wolf, '39, Appleton.

Produce Counters Suffer From Seasonal Slack

Lenten Demand Causes Egg Prices to Rise Sharply, Most Meat Remains High

The seasonal slack period in the fresh produce croplands has created short supplies and higher prices for Appleton consumers. To add to the dark picture, egg prices have risen sharply and most meat and fish prices continue high.

There are bargains, to be sure, but it takes a sharp eye to spot them, although specials will be offered this weekend to draw consumers into food stores.

The rise in egg prices, according to market men, is due to lent. Demand always picks up this time of year, they say. This week's advances of 4 to 8 cents a dozen may be repeated next week, retailers predict, but after that prices should drop steadily until hot weather arrives.

Right now, Grade A large are tagged from 57 to 65 cents a dozen and, if next week's increase materializes, it means Grade A large are once again destined to be in the over 70-cents-a-dozen category.

Protein Buys

Chickens, ham and chuck remain their places as top protein pound lots they're still considered bargains, with stewing chickens at about 39 cents, fryers from 43 to 47 cents, picnic hams from 35 to 39 cents, ham roasts at about 55 cents and chuck ranging upward from about 45 cents a pound.

Still high priced are spare ribs at 57 cents, pork roast from 69 to 85 cents, round steak from 85 to 89 cents, sirloin from 89 to 99 cents, lamb steak at 79 cents, veal steak at 79 cents, pork steak at 59 cents and pork chops from 79 to 89 cents a pound.

About the most reasonable fish price, although that, too, is considered high, is smoked chubs at 49 cents a pound. In the very high brackets are pike fillets at 99 cents and perch fillets at 89 cents a pound.

On Produce Counters

Outstanding buys are difficult to find in any vegetable department, but fairly reasonable are carrots at 13 cents a bunch, broccoli at 29 cents a bunch, spinach at 29 cents a bunch and cauliflower at 35 cents for a large head.

Although Wisconsin potatoes have gone up 16 cents on 10-pound lots they're still considered good at 10 pounds for 59¢ D'Anjou at 20 cents a pound.

Girl Wins Damage Suit From Man Credited With Saving Her Life

Tulsa, Okla. — Beverly Ann Pennock won a $1,500 damage suit verdict in district court Tuesday and one of the defendants was a man credited with saving her life in 1936.

The suit asked $40,247 from the city of Broken Arrow, Okla., and Joe Robinson, manager and life guard at its swimming pool.

Beverly Ann's attorneys contended Robinson was negligent because she was on the bottom of the pool 20 minutes before being rescued. They argued lack of oxygen left her with a brain injury.

Robinson and an assistant, Jerrell Beller, revived Beverly Ann and were awarded certificates of merit by the Red Cross.

Rep. O'Konski Unlike Other Politicians in One Respect

Tells Visitors He Plans to Retire After Four More Years in Congress

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Washington — One of the state's shrewdest politicians, veteran Rep. Alvin O'Konski of the 10th district, is unlike his colleagues in this caldron of politics in one important respect.

While most of them are actively planning further political conquests, O'Konski tells visitors he is looking toward retirement in a few years.

In four more years I'll be 58, and I'll have a good retirement income," he told this reporter. "That means two more election campaigns and two more terms in the congress. Then I'm going to quit. They're not going to carry me out of here feet first," he said, with a reference to some congressmen who serve until their deaths.

O'Konski made the comment matter-of-factly, almost as if he didn't know that such an announcement will create a lively furore in his own broad district of thinly settled upper Wisconsin.

Upper Wisconsin political opponents have tried nearly everything to unseat O'Konski, without avail. His majorities remain high in each election, to the envy of most other Wisconsin practitioners of the office-seeking art. Some of them are now prepared to concede that they can get his seat only when and if he retires.

Makes Own Rules

O'Konski plays the political game according to rules of his own making. He wears the Republican label, but he has been utterly independent of party discipline and most of the party ideology. In his last campaign he criticized the Republican administration of which he was a nominal part with a vigor that was indistinguishable from his criticism of the Democrats — with the result that he piled up another impressive victory margin at the polls.

He is following the same tack today. No Republican in the congress is more critical of Ezra Taft Benson, the Republican administration symbol of lower subsidies for farmers.

The Republican party currently is in such bad shape in his district, he says, that even the dismissal of Benson now wouldn't make much difference.

"It is already too late," he says. "Benson stands for the elimination of the family farm and the impression has been made. He wants to drive the small farmers off the farm and into the city, where they're creating the present unemployment program."

O'Konski's own solution for the economic problems of agriculture is characteristically direct and simple—perhaps too simple for the economist—but beautifully simple for the politician.

"Abolish all aids by the government, of whatever kind, to any farmer who has a gross income of more than $10,000 a year."

"That will drive out the big fellows, who are living off the fat of the land.

Has Simple Answer

"The family farmer isn't causing the surplus that is the base of this trouble. A simple law could change the whole program and give us the answer," he says emphatically.

O'Konski ranks as one of the senior Wisconsin representatives in the national legislature, as he is now completing his eighth term.

If he realizes his ambition to round out 20 years of service, he will have served longer than any man who has served his district in its history.

A year ago O'Konski entered the crowded Republican primary election, in the special election for U.S. senator. He ran surprisingly well, and finished third in the race. Asked why he isn't running this year, he replied that he is a "practical politician." He is strong in most of the geographical area of the state, but he would lose the nomination in the population centers of eastern Wisconsin, he said.

O'Konski's career may be a refutation of the idea that a man cannot pursue a life of politics without a sacrifice of his personal finances. The visitor gets the impression that the congressman regards himself as in comfortable financial circumstances.

Sold Radio Stations

A sign was his recent sale of two upper Wisconsin radio stations for a reported $225,000. The congressman says he has calls, they lived in a $57 a month apartment in a city public, but he leaves the clear impression that his resources go considerably beyond that.

Evicted Baby Kangaroo Thriving Outside Of Mother's Pouch

Chicago — A baby kangaroo, evicted by its mother from her pouch a couple of months ago and considered destined to die, was reported thriving today in the Brookfield zoo hospital.

Director Robert Bean said tender care by zoo workers saved the life of the baby kangaroo. It was put in a dark incubator, simulating conditions in the pouch, and at first fed goat's milk every 30 minutes. The feedings have been reduced to eight times daily.

The baby kangaroo, about nine inches tall when evicted, has grown two inches. Bean said when mother kangaroos throw out their young it usually indicates the baby is sick and results in the baby's death. In this case, however, Bean said the baby was well but the mother had a jaw infection.

He owns an attractive home at Mercer, in Iron county, where he plans to retire four years hence. He estimates that his congressional pension after 20 years and at age 58 will be about $12,000 a year.

His effective political partner during his whole political life has been his attractive and intelligent wife, Bonnie. O'Konski reminds that he and his wife lived modestly during their early years in congress, while they saved money for his business ventures. For 10 years, he recalls, they lived in a $57 a month apartment in a city public, but he leaves the clear impression that his resources go considerably beyond that.

Stricken Child Gets a Letter From President

Carrollton, Ohio — Donald Stine, is 5 years old. Eighteen months ago he was afflicted with a blood disease doctors believe may be leukemia.

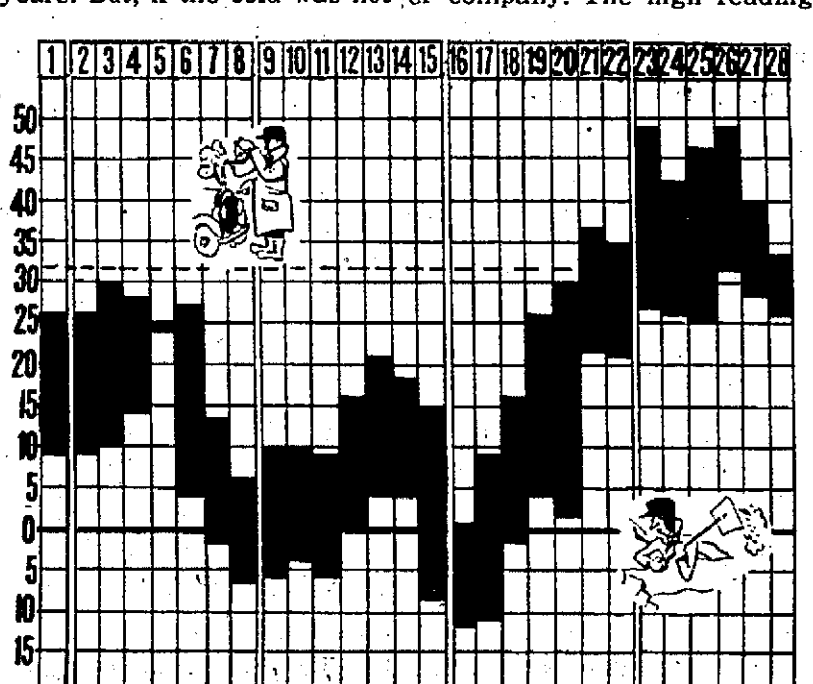

Donald's mother appealed through new papers and radio stations for people to send cards to her son because he enjoys them. The boy, who also suffers from asthma, was deluged with more than 15,000 get-well letters, toys, gifts and cards from all over the nation.

Then came a special letter, postmarked from Washington, D.C. Inside was a framed picture of President and Mrs. Eisenhower. A letter from the president, signed by his personal secretary, Ann Whitman, brought a smile to Donald's face.

It said, in part: "The president has learned that you have been a good little boy through some trying times, and that you like to receive letters. So he hopes that this note will please you and that you will continue to be brave. Remember your devoted mother and father and brother, Gene, as well as your many friends are counting on you and sending lots of good wishes your way..."

Mean February Temperature Lowest for Month Since 1936

Despite a warming trend near the end of the month, February temperatures averaged lower than any February for 22 years. But, if the cold was not ed by its presence, snow was on the same day was only 1 above zero.

The monthly mean temperature was 16.6, or 2.4 degrees below normal. In 1936, the coldest February on record, the monthly mean temperature was 4.3 degrees. The lowest reading that February was 24 below zero.

High of 49

The moderating trend toward the end of the month raised daytime temperatures as high as 49 degrees — on Feb. 23 and 26 — and brought thawing on the last eight days.

Precipitation was drastically below the February normal. The month's total of only .24 inches was the lowest since February, 1934, when an identical total was recorded. Before that, only twice was the melted precipitation less — in 1907 and 1927.

Although only 2.3 inches of new snow fell during the month compared to the normal amount of 9.5 inches, the snow cover was consistently about seven inches for most of the month. It disappeared rapidly after the thawing weather arrived on Feb. 21.

Heating degree totals for the season increased rapidly in February. A total of 1,354 units below the 65-degree base was accumulated during the month, in contrast to the 30-year average of 1,269. The above normal number served to increase the accumulated total since the heating season began in September to 5,520. The normal amount for the 6-month period is 5,545. This indicates fuel consumption should be about normal for the current heating season.

might say on behalf of Mazey would be considered as evidence.

Mundt said Rauh has interrupted senators in the hearing "more than any other counsel we have ever had."

McClellan told Rauh that if he "persists in a course of conduct" which McClellan said he regarded as disrespectful, "you will be invited to retire."

Rauh told McClellan, "I meant no disrespect," and he added:

"Mr. Conger told Mr. Mazey he had spies following Mr. Mazey. . . He had our secretary-treasurer shadowed."

McClellan said he isn't certain who should make the inquiry he advocated into use of private detectives by the Kohler Co.

"Spying on union gatherings is a violation of the Taft-Hartley (labor relations) act," McNamara said. As a non-lawyer, he added, he isn't sure yet whether to direct his demand to the national labor relations board or to the justice department.

The Michigan senator's statement to newsmen came as the senate rackets investigating committee prepared to explore the beating of a Kohler non-striker by William Vinson, an official of the United Auto Workers union. Vinson was convicted of the assault and sent to prison.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said witnesses would include Vinson, an international representative of the UAW from Detroit, and Willard Van Ouwkerk of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., whose injuries included a broken neck.

Chairman McClellan said that before the day ends he also intends to call to the witness stand Mazey, for quizzing about violence in the bitter, marathon strike, and about the union's boycotting of the company's products.

Much Vandalism

A committee investigator, Jerome Alderman, testified yesterday police records show 838 complaints of vandalism since the strike started April 5.

He said they included 259 reports of actual vandalism against non-strikers and 30 against strikers. The committee is trying to determine who was responsible.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) contends that "thugs" were imported from Michigan to help the strikers and that the union had used illegal or improper boycott tactics.

Conger testified yesterday that private detectives hired by the company used hidden microphones and secret agents around union picket lines to get information on strike violence.

He also acknowledged—and defended—use of the private detectives to dig up evidence which led to a midnight raid in which the Milwaukee police morals squad arrested Robert Burkart, a top union strike strategist, and the woman he had represented as Mrs. Burkart.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called it a "despicable" action by the company, but Conger said it was a justifiable move to impeach Burkart's credibility, since he then had a wife and two children living in Toledo, and was about to testify against the company in an NLRB hearing.

Red Batteries Down Jet Near Truce Border

Force Lt. Col. Howard McClellan of Buchanan, Mich., who was acting as co-pilot to log extra flying time. Hobbs wore his Korean National Airline uniform and McClellan was in his air force uniform without the cap.

The U.N. command said eight Koreans from the airliner remained in the north and apparently were seven red agents and a child of one of them.

One of the Korean passengers, Maj. Chung Moo Yung, said he was wounded in the head during the struggle with the communist agents.

Describe Seizure

Other passengers gave this account:

At least five communist agents actively participated in taking over the plane as it was flying between Taejeon and Suwon south of Seoul. One of the group, wearing a South Korean army sergeant's uniform, stood in front of the passengers with an M-2 carbine. Another brandished a shotgun.

The major and another South Korean officer were knocked out with crowbars. The communists then fired about six bullets from a .45 caliber pistol at the lock of the cabin door. They forced their way inside and Hobbs' efforts to make radio contact with the ground. The plane was landed a few minutes later at Sunan airport north of Pyongyang, north Korean capital.

No Ill Treatment

South Korean National Assemblyman Yoo Bong Soon, one of those aboard, said the communist agents were met by soldiers and were separated from the rest of the passengers. The rest were taken to an apartment building in Pyongyang. Yoo said they were treated fairly well, were taken on guided tours and were given communist propaganda lectures.

Hobbs was greeted by his pretty blond wife, Norma, after his medical check. The air force then drove them and McClellan to Seoul.

"I just want to have my family know that I am okay," said McClellan. "I am also tired."

Hobbs, appearing healthy and cheerful, declined to answer reporters' questions immediately and explained: "I'm tired. I want to go home."

In Seoul, the South Korean government called the plane seizure piracy and abduction and demanded its return.

Justice Currie to Head Conference on Aging Population

Madison—Justice George R. Currie of Wisconsin's Supreme court will serve as chairman of the state's conference on Problems of an Aging Population June 4 and 5.

Justice Currie was appointed Wednesday by Gov. Thomson, who also named Prof. Eugene A. Friedman, Madison, executive secretary of the conference. Friedman is a University of Wisconsin sociologist. The theme "Wisconsin Plans for its Senior Citizens" has been selected for the meeting. Gov. Thomson noted Wednesday that the percentage of Wisconsin residents over the age of 65 is higher than the national's.

St. Patrick Dance Planned Saturday

An informal St. Patrick dance will be held by the Masonic Dance club Saturday night, March 8, at the Masonic temple. The dance will begin at 9 o'clock and there will be music by a local orchestra until 1 o'clock.

Giant size shamrocks and an abundance of Kelly green will decorate the hall and refreshment tables. Three special dances are being planned for the program.

Mr. and Mrs. David Prosser are chairmen of the party and committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Behm, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Precourt, Mr. and Mrs. George Schirmacher and Mr. and Mrs. William Shute, all of Appleton.

North and south winners at the Lady Elks dessert bridge Wednesday afternoon were the Mmes. Norbert Roemer and Melvin Jeffery, first; Lee Fischer and Cyril Goffin, second; George Schwab and Ed Schneider, third; Harold Parish and Mae Bast, fourth. Tied for fifth were the Mmes. H. J. Weller and H. L. Davis, Mae Kerr and Max Schiedermayer.

In east and west play, Miss Emma Voge and Mrs. E. J. Schaar were first; the Mmes. Albert St. Pierre and James Kools, second; Wesley Youngchild and Cecil Hardacker, third. Tied for fourth and fifth were the Mmes. W. J. Fries and Lena Struck, W. G. Bryant and Edward Bass.

There will be another bridge session at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the clubhouse.

State Chief Visits Pythian Sisters For Inspection

Mrs. Doris Curtis of Prairie Du Sac, grand chief of the Wisconsin jurisdiction of Pythian Sisterhood, served as inspecting officer when 60 members of Zenith temple, Pythian Sisters, met Monday night for dinner and later inspection and initiation of five candidates at Castle hall.

Among guests attending were Mrs. Lloyd Matheson, Waukegan, and Mrs. George Schmidt, Appleton, past grand chiefs, and several members from Oshkosh Sisterhood. A social followed the initiation and the Mmes. Matheson and Schmidt presided at the table. The Mmes. Joseph Malvery and Otto Gilek were among evening committee members.

The local unit will next meet March 17 and will sort articles for a rummage sale to be held March 18.

Greek 'Sing' Slated by Collegians

An all-Greek "sing" will be held Friday night in Lawrence college Memorial union by Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity for all members of Greek letter organizations on the campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hulbert, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Turentine, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Duncan have been invited to act as judges for the singing events and to serve as chaperones for the informal dance which will follow.

Ronald Jensen, Barrington, Ill., Sigma Phi Epsilon social chairman, is handling the affair. Assisting him are last year's social chairman, Thomas Johnson, Milwaukee; Geoffrey Bowen, Grinnell, Iowa; Bert Gray, Minneapolis, Minn.; James Raue, Watertown, and Glen Peterson, Wilmington, Del.

Pan-American Unit To Discuss Plans For Annual Dinner

The Pan-American unit of the American Legion auxiliary will make plans for an annual dinner program when members meet at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harvey Ganzer, 331 E. North street.

The annual Pan-American dinner is being planned for May. A program for the auxiliary meeting in April also will be discussed.

New London Girl To Be Bride in June Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Brown, 806 Algoma street, New London, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Janice, to Roger Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Burlington.

The couple will wed in June.

Miss Brown is currently teaching at Our Savior Lutheran school, Wausau, where her fiancé is also employed. He will resume studies at Thiensville Theological seminary in fall.

Series High Point
The singing of Miss Price leaves little to be desired. Here is a voice very even throughout the entire range and intelligently handled. It was a pleasure to hear a soprano who is not afraid to let some of the warmth of the mezzo-soprano voice come into the lower notes, and yet sings the high notes without clamping the jaw wide open. The respect which she had for the words and their verbal imagery, as well as their positive articulation, could serve as a splendid example to both student and trained singer.

To many of those in attendance last night, this concert was the high point of the 1957-58 Lawrence Community Artist series. It is to be noted that many "regulars" missed the pleasure of hearing Miss Price because of inclement weather conditions.

Racial Relations and Christianity were discussed when members of the Urban league of Milwaukee met with the Trinity Women's association Tuesday night at the Trinity Lutheran parish hall. Women's groups from area churches were invited to the program. Shown standing, from left in top photo, are Mrs. Wilbert Spanagel, Appleton, chairman of Christian education, William V. Kelley, director of the Milwaukee Urban league, and J. Howard Offutt, Urban league director of music. Seated, from left, are Mrs. Walter Heil, Appleton, president of Trinity Women's association, Mrs. Mabel Martin, Milwaukee, soloist, and Mrs. Offutt. Below, the Rev. Karlton W. Reviewer Lauds Soprano Price

BY GEORGE COX

Music has been described as a "three man art," needing a creator (composer), interpreter (performer) and recipient (listener) to bring it to total fruition. These three ingredients were wonderfully blended last night at the Lawrence chapel when an enthusiastic audience was treated to an extremely well chosen program by a fine artist — Leontyne Price, soprano.

Often singers have strong and weak areas in any program as the result of their training or background; an opera singer often tends to make every song sound like an aria, while the lieder or recital singer fails to ignite the fire in dramatic music. However, Miss Price was at home in both art song and opera aria, shifting easily from one to the other.

Warm, Rich Voice
With the majestic opening notes of the arioso "Thanks Be to Thee" by Handel, the audience sensed that this would be an evening to remember. The second composition, a seldom heard aria from Handel's "Julius Caesar," made it apparent that here was a singer who had excellent command of the vocal instrument, as she glided through the extremely long phrases without taxing the control of the breath. The third number, the "Countess" aria from the "Marriage of Figaro" presented a treatment of the opening recitative which was a pleasure to see and hear.

Fine Interpretation

The warm, rich quality of her voice was well displayed in the group of four songs written by Richard Strauss, a composer who often presents great technical problems for both singer and accompanist. For his songs are often conceived in an orchestral pattern of wide skips, often with excessive range. It is a credit to both performers to note that these difficulties were never paraded before the audience, either by the singer or her excellent accompanist, David Garvy. This group, well contrasted in tempo and mood, was very well received by the audience.

In contrast to the angularity of the Strauss songs were the songs of Gabriel Faure. Here is found music which is pure atmosphere rather than mood or emotion. Faure never writes brilliant, sudden climaxes. In fact, his music never reaches a loud, intense level of dynamics. The challenges presented in these songs were well met by Miss Price, with the high point being found in the sustained introspective atmosphere of "Au Cimetière" (In the Cemetery).

These were followed by three songs by the leading contemporary French composer, Francis Poulenc. In the final song, the moving bitterness of "Je nommerai ton front" displayed the wonderful interpretive powers of Miss Price. The student of languages could have understood every word of both the German and French songs, for here was excellent pronunciation and articulation. Charming "Hermit Song"

The dramatic qualities of this voice were brought forth in an aria from Giordano's "Andrea Chénier" which made the audience aware of that area which has given wide fame to Miss Price. The "Hermit

St. Joseph Society Votes Memorial for Mt. Calvary Chapel

A reading stand for the new chapel project at Mt. Calvary was approved as a memorial gift by the Ladies Aid and Missionary society of St. Joseph church at a meeting in the parish school cafeteria Tuesday.

Mrs. Leon Wolf was appointed telephone chairman for the society and Mrs. Clara Kloeppel, entertainment chairman. The next meeting has been postponed from April 1 to April 15 because of holy week.

Hadassah To Conduct Program

Appleton chapter of Hadassah members will conduct services at Moses Montefiore synagogue at 7 o'clock Friday night, under the direction of Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein. Those taking part will be the Mmes. Harold Abramson, Abe Hamilton, A. Cohodas, Appleton and Ben Goldin, Kaukauna.

Hostesses for a social hour later will be the Mmes. Silverstein, Jake Fielkow and Joseph Shiff.

The Hadassah medical center unit will be in charge of the chapter's meeting at 7:30 Tuesday night. A cancer movie will be shown, with Mrs. Stanley Hamilton and Dr. Paul Cunningham conducting a question and answer period after the program.

Hostesses, will be the Mmes. Norman Friedman, Leo Golper and R. Gordon.

1st Overnight Set at New Scout Camp

Thirty-five Girl Scout adults, who are registered for the Troop Camp Licensing course, will attend the first "overnight" at the new lodge at Camp Winnecomac, Kaukauna day camp of the Fox River area Girl Scout council, on Friday.

They are the Mmes. Lloyd Beach, Roy Broas, William Hanamann, Kurt Hirsch, John Huppler, Freeman Nichols, Frank Witt, Warren Whitinger and Richard Zwickey of Neenah; Eugene Eaton, Menasha; Ray Driessen, Little Chute; Alvin Lust, Kaukauna; Leon Flanagan, Seymour; Ed. Ehler, Scott Miller, Marlow Peters and Nathan Wiese, Clintonville; William Blum, Roger Baird, Leo Butler, Ralph Chamberlain, Robert Greenwalt, James Gresham, Ken Hay, Roger Huth, Carlton Krabbee, John McMahon, Oscar Meyer, S. B. Owings, Karel Richmond, George Skoldager and J. L. Tibbetts, Appleton.

In charge of the training event will be Miss Patricia Bodette, district director. Mrs. Joseph F. Heaton, field director, and Mrs. Perry Pollard, training chairman.

Having previously had a basic outdoor training course and attended a pre-planning session these leaders will spend 24 hours at the campsite in preparation for taking their troops on a similar outing. Activities will include: tracking, nature games, lashing, making tin can stoves, star study and discussions on program activities as well as fire building and meal preparation.

Young Boy Adopted By Mission Council Of Assembly of God

Plans to adopt a 5-year-old boy residing at the National Children's home at Hot Springs, Ark., were voted by members of the Women's Missionary council of the First Assembly of God church Wednesday night, when the group assembled at the church hall. Support for the youngster will be provided for one year.

During the evening, Scripture verses were read and the social hostesses were the Mmes. Redfield Brown, Arthur Bruesewitz and Gordon Crawford.

The council will next meet April 2 at the church hall.

Rule Landowner Can't Bar Public From Lake Connected to Another

Madison —W— Wisconsin's attorney general said Wednes-day a landowner who builds an artificial lake cannot bar the public from his lake if he digs a channel connecting it to a navi-gable natural lake.

However, Atty. Gen. Honeck said there is nothing to stop the landowner from filling in the channel again — unless his lake has existed so long that it now is presumed to be a natural lake.

Honeck gave his opinion at the request of the state public service commission.

Husbands Jubilant That Strike May Limit Chemise Production

AP Women's Editor

New York — (U—) As the wheels of the billion-dollar-a-year dress industry ground to a stop in seven eastern states, women throughout the country began to worry about their Easter outfit—and men grinned.

The first dress strike in 25 years came at a time when workers were busily stitching up the thousands of spring chemise styles already or-dered by stores across the nation. These are the much-discussed sack dresses and suits destined to change the shape of the American wo-man this spring.

Since the first advance pic-tures of the new fashions ap-peared, things haven't been the same in the American home. Husbands have issued ultimatums, wives have had hysterics, dress manufactur-ers have gone grimly ahead banishing waistlines, buyers have placed their orders while keeping their fingers crossed, and the younger seg-ment of the feminine popula-tion has rushed out to buy the new flapper styles at the nearest shop.

Now, just as the conserva-tive element was getting ready to give in to the pressure of fashion and try out the new styles, the dress industry has shut up shop. Workrooms piled high with Easter orders are deserted. Shipments of dresses have come to a stand-still. The strikers are milling around the streets in a holi-day mood. Store buyers are telephoning frantically, man-ufacturers are issuing sooth-ing statements and the gen-eral public is viewing the situation with mixed feelings.

Women who vowed they never would wear the gunny-sack now have discovered that life will not be worth living unless they can have one in time for the Easter parade. Stores are telling manufacturers that they will not accept merchandise ship-ped too late for the Easter trade. Most husbands are jubilant.

Last word from the strike front is the prediction that it will all be over soon — public pressure will force a settle-ment, so they say, in time for Mrs. America to get her new outfit.

But the strikers may be discounting the power of the American male, who will happily let his wife wear last year's dress.

sat on stools and benches pro-vided there. In the event of a shower, they were considera-bly better off than either the audience standing in the pit or than the actors themselves.

All of the action of the play took place on the open plat-form, with no curtain to cut off the view of the stage at any time. The actors had to walk on and off in full view of the audience, and if any character died on the stage, he had to be carried off.

Toted Own Props

Elizabethan plays moved much more rapidly than do modern ones. Scenes followed each other without interrup-tion, since there was no cur-tain to fall and no scenery to be moved. Spectators gave no thought to time and place, merely concentrating on the actors. Such properties as were used—tables, benches, beds, chairs, and even trees, rocks, and walls—all had to be car-ried on and off the stage by the actor who needed them.

The Lawrence theater pro-duction of "Much Ado About Nothing" is accurately con-forming to this fundamental feature of the innyard "the-aters" which was used in the construction of all subsequent Elizabethan theaters—i.e., the open platform surrounded on three sides by the audience.

'Much Ado About Nothing' Staging Duplicates Innyard Theater of Bard

When "Much Ado About Nothing" makes its appear-ance next week in the Law-rence college Memorial union, it will be staged to reproduce the peculiar structure of the Elizabethan theaters which in-fluenced Shakespeare's writ-ing.

Three eight o'clock evening performances are slated for March 13, 14 and 15, and a 2 o'clock matinee for March 16. Tickets are now available at Belling's Drug store or they may be purchased before each performance at the union box office.

All good dramatists, from the Greeks to the moderns, have planned their plays to make the most of the peculiar-ities of the buildings in which they were to be performed—and Shakespeare was no ex-ception.

Drama in Innyard

The first theater in England was not built until the great bard was twelve years old, yet the lack of proper housing did not prove to be a deterrent to the flourishing art of the the-ater. Troupes of actors pre-sented their plays in innyards, which were not only very convenient but, because of the hol-low-center design of all Eliza-bethan inns, were amazingly well-adapted for dramatic purposes.

These two or three-story buildings were built in the form of a hollow square around a paved courtyard where trav-ersers dismounted and wagons were unloaded. Galleries or balconies ran around this courtyard at the second and third stories which normally were used by the guests of the inn to get to their rooms.

Two Prices Charged

When a group of players came to town any innyard was easily converted into a very satisfactory theater by setting up a platform stage at one end. On the afternoon of the per-formance, one actor stood at the entrance to the courtyard to collect a general admission fee and another actor at the foot of the stairs leading to the galleries collected a second fee for reserved seats.

The patrons who paid only general admission stood in the open courtyard around the platform stage. Those who bought reserved seats went up to the porch-like galleries and

City Seeking New Chief of Police

Deadline for Applications Set For Tuesday; Examination March 17

Appleton's fire and police commission is looking for a new chief of police. The commission Tuesday decided to accept written applications for the position left vacant by the late Chief Herbert W. Kapp's resignation Feb. 25. Application forms are available at the office of Carl A. Sherry, commission secretary, in the Zuelke building. The commission set a deadline for accepting applications Tuesday, but indicated if an insufficient number were received the deadline might be extended.

Present plans call for a written examination to be given by Carl Bertram, vocational school director, March 17 at the school. After the examination, all candidates will appear before the commission for personal interviews, with appointment to follow shortly.

Not Only Local Men The commission has no desire to restrict the applications to men from the Appleton area or from within the department, George D. A. e., commission member, said. Although no advertising will be done, Dame indicated the commission felt the publicity given the search for a chief would be sufficient to insure a number of applicants. No precise qualifications for chief have been listed by the commission, although Dame indicated the commission wants a chief with executive ability to coordinate activities of the department. Starting salary for the chief's job is $6,350 annually. Two increases are provided—$100 after the first year, $750 after the second.

In addition, the city pays half a Blue Cross and Blue Shield medical plan, workmen's compensation and part of the Wisconsin Retirement fund. A longevity pay allowance is made for five years and more of service. In informal discussion with members of the commission, it was indicated they felt the chances of getting an ex-FBI man for chief were remote. Too many of the former federal investigators are making salaries in private industry or in law practice which the city could not match, it was said.

Thus far, two men had indicated a positive inclination to file for the chief's job—Acting Chief Walter J. Hendricks and Sheriff Donald Hendricks. Hendricks was appointed acting chief by Kapp early in February. He has been on the Appleton force since 1927, a captain since 1949.

Hendricks' term as sheriff will be up this year and he is not eligible to run again. He was appointed to the county police force in 1949 and was elected sheriff in 1954 and reelected in 1956.

The police commission also indicated three additional policemen are needed to fill vacancies in the department, but any action on the vacancies will await appointment of a chief. Members of the police commission are Dame, Sherry, James R. Joyce, Kurt Koletzke and Helm Hussner.

The Workings of City Government were explained to a group of Girl Scouts when Troop 139 toured the city hall Wednesday evening. They are shown with, from left, Aldermen Allan Sonkowsky, John Schumacher and Harvey Priebe. The scouts, same order, are Polly Webb, Ann Bahr, Margaret Van Horn, Gwen Spiegelberg and Lynn Schoenke. Here's How to Put Best Face Before the Camera

Why not put your best face forward to the camera next time you have your picture taken?

You can get a real glamor-puss portrait of yourself easily by using a few of the tricks employed by professional models.

You don't need all of the facilities of a Hollywood makeup studio, either. Just the basic everyday essentials—rouge, pancake makeup, lipstick, vaseline, mascara, facial tissues—will do nicely.

Here are some practical suggestions from Patricia Stevens, head of the nationally-known model schools:

First, tuck tissues around the neckline of your dress to protect it from cosmetic stains and smears.

Select pancake makeup one or more shades darker than you usually use and apply evenly to give your skin a mat-like finish and to conceal minor flaws and blemishes. Powdering over the pancake is not necessary unless you wish to darken specific areas of your face only.

Use rouge only to minimize certain of your features. For example, rouging a sagging chin will make it less noticeable in the photograph. A light touch of rouge on each side of a too-wide nose will make it appear slender. You can slim down a full face by patting rouge along your cheek and jaw lines.

Choose a dark shade of lipstick and apply with a lip brush. Don't try to change the line of your lips, for you want the photograph to look like you—at your best. A thin coat of vaseline over your lipstick gives a moist, alluring gloss.

A touch of mascara will accent your eyes.

Simple "Don't's"

There are a few simple don'ts, also:

Fancy, extreme hair-do's will date the picture. Keep yours as simple as possible.

Avoid over-dressing. A simple costume with a touch of white at the neck photographs best. Or a dark dress touched up with a piece of jewelry is effective.

Relax. Don't "freeze" before the camera. And don't stare intently at a fixed object. Think of smiling with your eyes. You can accent the pretty lines of your mouth by holding your lips apart slightly.

There. That's perfect. Hold it!

Subcommittee To Approve Dairy Bill

Measure Would Hold Line on Milk Supports

Washington —A quick approval is expected today by a house agriculture subcommittee of legislation to block Secretary of Agriculture Benson from putting lower dairy price supports into effect April 1.

Chairman Abernethy, D-Miss., said he will recommend passage. Reps. Johnson, D-Wis., and Tewes, R-Wis., subcommittee members, predicted the hold-the-line measure will get subcommittee approval.

Benson last December announced the current dairy supports of about 83 per cent of parity would be dropped to 75 per cent at the start of the new dairy season April 1.

Milk used for manufacturing butter, cheese and dried milk currently is supported at $3.25 a hundred pounds. This would be cut to about $3.03 on April 1 if the computing formula is left unchanged.

Tewes said he is concerned that, when the bill to hold the line on dairy supports goes before the full Agriculture Committee, Chairman Cooley, D-NC, will insist it be incorporated into a general farm bill.

"By lumping all farm legislation together, we are risking a presidential veto," Tewes said. "I think the chances would be better for obtaining President Eisenhower's signature if we handled the dairy matter as separate legislation."

Johnson said, however, that if the dairy bill is coupled with a few measures the administration wants—such as continuation of public loan 480 to sell surpluses for foreign currencies and the wool support program—it might help more than hinder.

State ADA Names McKee President

Madison —Lymann McKee of Madison, was re-elected president of the American Dairy association of Wisconsin. McKee, who also is president of the national ADA, was chosen to succeed himself by the board of directors of the Wisconsin association at its 20th annual session.

The two-day meeting of the organization, which is a dairy products promotion group financed by farmers, ended with an address by the Deerfield Creamery company, Deerfield, on plans for the June Dairy month state promotion.

Other state officers reelected were Albert L. Hansen, Black River Falls, vice president; Robert Bird, Brownsville, secretary, and A. J. Goecker-mann, Milwaukee, treasurer.

DeGoller said that there were "a few clouds on the horizon in the face of all-time high dairy production."

"Economic conditions being somewhat tighter," he said, "may make the job of promoting dairy sales a little harder this year. However, this very fact can be made to pay off by stressing the economy of dairy foods, as well as nutrition and sales."

3 1/2 Inches of Snow Covers Fox Cities

December returned to the Fox Cities today on the wings of a 3 1/2-inch fall of silvery but sodden snow.

The fresh white stuff put a thin coating of ice on most highways, making driving hazardous. This condition softened by mid-morning, however, as the sun filtered through a hazy sky.

As most Fox Cities residents sharpened up for another bout with snow shovels and galoshes, weathermen warned that a fresh blast of cold Arctic air is likely to put Wisconsin back in the cold zone at least for overnight.

Temperatures are expected to range from 12 to 20 in the north tonight and from 18 to 24 in the south. High Friday will be 27 to 34 north and 33 to 38 south. Lowest reading in Appleton overnight was 29, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company's weather station. The high Wednesday was 34 and the temperature at 11 o'clock this morning stood at 35.

Elsewhere in the state most areas measured from one to four inches of new snow.

Nighttime temperature minimum ranged from 5 above zero at Grantsburg to 30 at Keno-sha.

Temperatures Wednesday were about normal for the season, ranging from 36 at Grantsburg to 30 at Superior. The mercury plunged to 16 below zero at Fraser, Colo., early this morning.

Sheriff Urges Revision of Juvenile Code

Social Delinquency Root of Youthful Crime, Lowry Says

Neenah — A plea for the revision of the state juvenile crime code was voiced Wednesday by Charles Lowry, Winnebago county sheriff.

"What was mischief when we were youngsters is now juvenile delinquency," Lowry told members of the Neenah Kiwanis club. At the same time a crime is not a crime, only delinquency, when committed by a person under 18, he said.

Lowry suggested a revision of the code to distinguish between acts of mischief, delinquency and crime, and also to provide proportionate punishment.

"If a boy is guilty of mischief, it is his father's responsibility to punish him," Lowry said. "Give a boy a break under the law if he is merely delinquent," the sheriff added, "but go back to common law and punish him accordingly if he is a criminal."

Social Delinquency
Lowry objected to the general term "juvenile delinquency."

"What we are talking of is social delinquency," he said, "and indicates a fault in society and the home." He said that most people are unduly alarmed over the situation. Lowry admitted that the condition is not ideal, but said it is not as bad as many people think.

Most juvenile — or social — delinquency arises from an unhealthy situation in the offender's home, Lowry said. He echoed the words of Judge Samuel Liebowitz of Brooklyn, N.Y., criminal court: "Put dad back in charge."

Youngsters must be taught to respect their parents, Lowry said. He gave statistics showing that the crime rate among youths 18 and younger is much lower in European countries, where parental rule is unquestioned, than in the United States.

Correct Society
Society too must be corrected, the sheriff said. "It isn't the teenagers who sell filthy literature and dope or run taverns; it's the adults," he noted. "These people must be made responsible for the crime of the juveniles."

"Wisconsin delinquency is not too bad," Lowry said, "but we are doctoring the effects instead of the cause." The adults trading in juvenile crime and delinquency, as well as the juvenile criminals must be weeded out, he said. "Under the present criminal code a juvenile criminal receives the same punishment as a juvenile delinquent — a few days at Waukesha and probation."

Airport Terminal May be Completed in April, Board Advised

Supervisors Approve Contract With Oshkosh For Fire Protection of County Buildings

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — "Sometime in April, we hope" was the best assurance given Winnebago county board members Wednesday afternoon as to the completion of the new airport terminal building.

Supv. Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, aviation committee chairman, said the contractor should be completed with the construction work in several weeks. "Then will come the clean up work and the installation of the outside lighting and the dumb waiter for the restaurant."

An open house will be held on a Friday evening and Saturday afternoon when it is ready but just which Friday and Saturday is not known. Plans are underway for such an open house with the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce and its industrial promotion committee aiding in the planning.

Board members gave approval to terms of a contract between the county and city of Oshkosh for fire protection at county property, such as the airport, fairgrounds, hospital, farm and Sunny View sanatorium.

C of C Regrets Council Action On Referendum

Neenah — Regret that the Neenah council is not including an advisory referendum on the police station site on the April 1 ballot was expressed today by Leon Tolversen, Chamber of Commerce vice president and chairman of the community planning committee, on behalf of the chamber.

The advisory referendum would have given the voters of Neenah an opportunity to express their dissatisfaction over the proposed police station site at Walnut and Doty streets, he said.

In a letter to the city council Feb. 19 the chamber had suggested that the advisory referendum be included with the bond issue.

Long Range Plan
"A majority vote against the bond issue will lead tremendous support to our need for a long range city plan," said Tolversen. "The Chamber of Commerce recognizes the need for a new police station, but due to the lack of an intelligent long range city plan, we must oppose the bond issue."

"This will prove to our city council that we, the people of Neenah, do care," he added, stressing the last two words.

Doty-Walnut Site Sure if Bond Vote On Station Passes

Police Facilities Location Will Not be on April 1 Referendum

Neenah — This city's new police station — if it becomes a reality — definitely will be built on the southwest corner of Doty avenue and Walnut street. Aldermen Wednesday night voted 8 to 2 against a request from the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce to put the question of the site to the voters after a 50 minute session of speeches which saw only two aldermen remain seated and which had two spectators talk from the floor.

The question of the police station becoming a fact will be put to the voters, as is required by state law, when a referendum for providing the $270,000 construction cost is held with the general election April 1.

Fire Protection
The city will be paid $300 per truck for responding to a call and this will include the first hour at the fire. The county will pay $200 per truck for the second hour, $300 per truck for the third hour and $500 per truck for each hour beyond the third hour.

Portions of an hour will be pro-rated and the Oshkosh fire chief will decide the number of trucks to be sent. The Oshkosh fire chief, Otto Stoegbauer, discussed the arrangements with the board members Wednesday.

The board authorized the hiring of a third full-time janitor by a 32 to 8 vote and will transfer $3,000 from the contingency fund to cover the wages. The salary will be $245 a month plus the cost of living bonus.

Vacation and sick leave policy for county employees was clarified to provide that vacation time cannot be accumulated and that vacation time may be taken as sick leave but no sick leave as vacation time.

Supv. Ben Zimmerman, town of Winnebago, institutions committee chairman, reported that the water line to the county hospital from the state hospital was tested and the valves and pipes were found in good order. It had not been used for many years. The county plans to use the line in case of an emergency.

The laundry equipment authorized by the board is now being installed at the county hospital. Eighty-three persons already have been admitted to the home for the retired and three more are scheduled for examinations. The home will house 114 persons.

the "several hundred members" of the C. of C. mentioned in Mr. Konrad's letter are only a half dozen Neenah business men, who for selfish reasons have tried before to put the entire city hall block for parking.

Accuse Editor
"And the editor," Miller continued, referring to Edward C. Cochrane, editor and publisher of the News-Record, "who just recently was asking for the support of the citizens of Neenah for his newspaper, and whose stinging editorials, directed at the city council, accusing them of 'holding secret sessions,' of 'not wanting advice,' of 'not doing their duty' is either one of this minority group or is being used by them as a tool."

"If the bond issue is voted down on April 1 because of the machinations of a minority group, they will have done a great disservice, not only to the citizens of Neenah but to our excellent police department which is now being handicapped by a lack of much needed facilities," Miller concluded.

'Not Fair to Citizens'
Ald. Leonard Hedberg, Fourth ward, said that "it would not be fair to expect the average citizen, who has not studied all the alternate locations and the problems, to vote to his satisfaction on this (the site)."

Hedberg said that the alder-

Jays, Rockets Clash For Tourney Crown

Victor Earns Finals Berth At Appleton

Menasha — Neenah and Menasha High school basketball forces will resume their long-time rivalry for the second time in a little more than two weeks when they collide at 8:30 tonight in the finals of the Menasha subregional tournament.

Omro will meet Oshkosh in a consolation game at 7 o'clock and tonight's two winners will play the winners of the Appleton subregional there Saturday night.

The Twin City adversaries have collided 15 times in tournament play since 1927 and the Rockets hold a 10.5 margin. They met in the opening subregional game last season and the Bluejays emerged with a 72-49 decision.

Neenah captured triumphs in the two Mid-Eastern conference meetings this winter, coming out on top 67-34 on the Bluejay court on Jan. 17 and winning 41-37 after two overtimes and a round of free throws on its own floor Feb. 15.

Wins over Oshkosh and Omro Tuesday night give the Rockets and Jays respective records of 17-3 and 10-9 and regardless of tonight's outcome Menasha assured of finishing no worse than an even slate. The Jays have won seven of their last eight while Neenah's verdict over Oshkosh started a new chain after last Friday's loss to Shawano.

Neenah's tournament roster includes eight seniors, Fred Seggelink, Ralph Syring, Gene Gries, Marv Carlson, Ed Meyer, Kent Simerson, Dave Thomsen and Pete Bylow and two juniors, Bill Kuehl and Jim Hensen.

Everyone but Hanson and Simerson saw action for the Rockets against Oshkosh and every Menasha player with the exception of Ristau played in the tourney opener against Omro.

Seggelink tallied 20 points in the Rockets' opening win while Gries added 17, Thomsen scored 14 and Carlson made six. Nelson had 16, Koslowski 14, Selbach 13 and Stepanski eight in the Omro game.

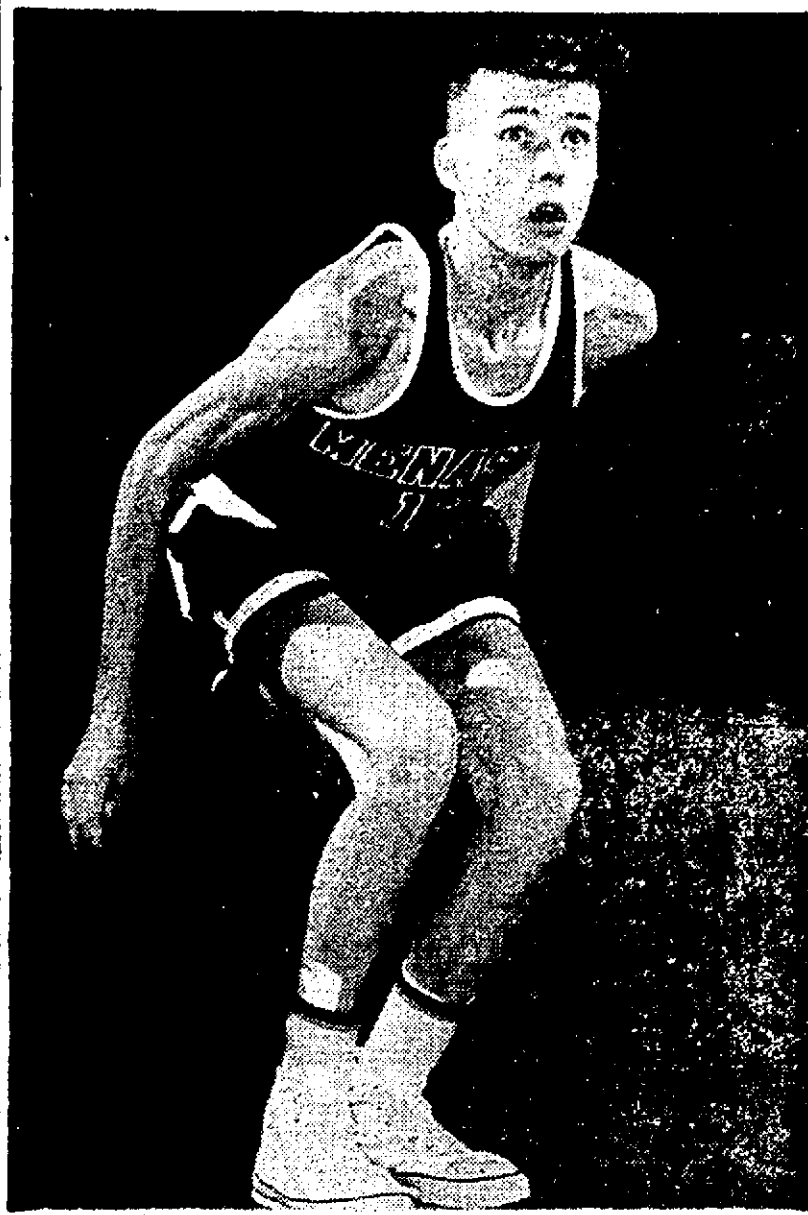

Leading hitters included Jim Arno, Truth, 11-22; Emil Clark, Equality, 12-22; Carl Huebner, Liberty, 7-20, and Felix Pozolinski, Justice, 6-20.

Zephyrs Tackle Madison Club in Tourney Debut

Menasha — St. Mary will open competition in the state Catholic basketball tournament at West De Pere in the 8:30 game tonight against Madison Edgewood. Milwaukee-Marquette and Wausau Newman collide at 7 o'clock. Campion - Superior Cathedral and Wisconsin Rapids Assumption-Racine St. Catherine were paired in first round games this afternoon. Today's losers will meet in consolation play Friday afternoon and the winners return for semi-final action Friday night. Third place and consolation games are slated for Saturday afternoon and the championship Saturday night.

Kramer Fires 620 Count in Neenah Loop

Neenah — Herb Kramer registered a 620 series to lead the way in the Commercial Bowling league Wednesday night at Muench's.

Don Christensen posted 573, Ken Rouse 565, Ernie Gallmeier 563, Fred Raabe 550 and Gib Mitchell 535. Porath Truckers netted a 986 game and 2,843 series to sweep team laurels.

Porath Truckers (43-26) hold a two-game lead over Larson-Schrieter (41-28) in the championship race. Neenah Foundry 431-251.

Fowl Recipe Causes Mayor to Duck Issue

Cheyenne, Wyo. — On page 10 of a Cheyenne newspaper appeared a letter to the editor wondering what happened to the flock of 27 ducks which stayed in a lake at the city park all summer.

On page 12, under the heading "Today's Recipe," was the selection "Danish Wild Duck with Sour Cream," the Mayor's Favorite," contributed by Mrs. Val S. Christensen, the mayor's wife.

The mayor was quick to explain. He said the ducks had been moved to warmer quarters for the winter—not to the Christensen dinner table.

time advantage. The winners led 42-38 at the end of three periods and added a 17-12 edge in the final quarter.

Ralph Kiesow paced the Bergstrom attack with 31 points on 10 baskets and 11 free throws. Ruf Ihde hit 14 points and Jim Powers had nine. Bob Peck scored 21 and Bob Erickson made 16 for Lakeview.

Headquarters company turned in a 50-26 triumph over Neenah Foundry. The winners led 12-8, 28-16 and 38-18 at the end of each of the first three quarters.

Don Christensen scored 16 points for Headquarters while Harry Sturgis had 14 for the Foundry. Sturgis and Orrie Siebers combined to tally all 12 of Foundry's field goals and all but two of its points.

Company I topped Badger-Globe 53-49 in the third test on the final night's program. The national guard led 8-7 at the quarter and 21-20 at halftime but trailed 38-34 at the close of three segments.

Dave Zolkowski and Jerry Plier had 14 points to lead Company I and Pete Burghardt notched 26 for the Badgers.

Tour of School Addition Part Of Open House

Winneconne Area Residents Invited To Program Friday

Winneconne — A tour of the new addition to the Winneconne central school will be part of the annual open house of the community school district Friday evening.

The open house is for all residents of the district and will begin at 7:30 in the evening open house at the new Winneconne school which will be held in their classrooms.

A general meeting will be held at 8:30 in the school gymnasium at which John McKenna, district superintendent, will extend the welcome. The group will divide into five discussion sessions according to the age groups of the pupils and then will have refreshments in the cafeteria served by the Jack and Jill club and the school board.

The open house for all district residents usually is held in the fall of each year but was postponed until after completion of the new addition which contains six classrooms and a multi-purpose room.

McKenna stressed the open house is not for just the parents but for all residents and taxpayers in the community and school district. Dedication and the evening open house at the new Winneconne school will be held in their classrooms.

League Announces April, March Events

Neenah — March and April events, including an annual meeting and unit meetings, were announced today by the League of Women Voters of Neenah-Menasha.

The annual luncheon meeting will be held at 11:45, April 7, at the Menasha Elks club. Local agenda items which will be discussed and voted on include a study of the problems and advantages of combining Neenah and Menasha; study of the location of the University of Wisconsin extension in this area; study of city finances and budgetary procedures with a view to "making the most" of the taxpayers' dollar and the "know your county" agenda item.

A report of the nominating committee and election of officers and directors will be held at the annual event. Mrs. Karl Forstner is chairman of the unit meeting topics on foreign trade.

Meeting Schedule

Meetings will be held March 17 with the morning group meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Turley, 709 Keyes street, Menasha; the afternoon group with Mrs. Paul Glaister, 603 E. Wisconsin avenue; and the evening group at the home of Mrs. Robert Greenwald, 613 Winnebago Heights. A fourth group will meet at 9 o'clock, March 20, at the home of Mrs. E. O. Woerner, 669 Congress street.

A board meeting will be held at 7:30, March 24, at the home of Mrs. Walter Werner, 328 Park drive. March 25 has tentatively been set as the date of a Neenah mayors' candidates meeting.

Mrs. A. T. Hudson was named unit chairman of a fourth unit group meeting Thursday mornings. Miss Margaret Griffiths, Mrs. Kenneth Peterson, Mrs. William Dowling, Mrs. James Dickson and Mrs. Mary Crean attended the Institute on Foreign Policy held Feb. 22 in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Arvo Vaurio has been appointed co-chairman and board representative of the child guidance item. This committee is presenting a panel at meetings of the Hoover and Lakeview schools Parent-Teacher associations this month.

Requirements of Projects Given 4-H Club Leaders

Winneconne — Requirements of 4-H projects in electricity, gardening and swine raising were outlined at a meeting for project leaders at the central school here Tuesday night.

Carl Neitzke, extension specialist in electricity for the University of Wisconsin, covered the basic principles of that project and the literature available to leaders and members. He discussed technics leaders can use in helping those 4-H members working on the project and demonstrated various materials.

Don Tripp, assistant county agent, and Clarence Westfahl, 4-H director, met with the leaders in the swine project and pointed out the project requirements and literature available.

Garden project leaders met with County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky who told of the proper vegetable varieties for this area. Seeds should be of the Wisconsin strain so that they are resistant to Wisconsin diseases and will mature in our growing season, he warned.

He also spoke on soil management and fertilizer use and provided a recommended vegetable list for the area.

Parked House Trailer Damaged When Hit by Car

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — A house trailer owned by Robert Erickson, route 1, Neenah, was damaged when struck by a car driven by Mrs. Adele M. Herzberg, Wilmette, Ill., at 8:27 Wednesday night.

The trailer was parked on blocks about 44 feet off Highway 41 south of County Trunk GG in the town of Vinland. No one was in the trailer at the time.

Mrs. Herzberg said a semi-truck was coming toward her car in her lane so she headed for the ditch to avoid a collision. The car continued on an angle and hit the trailer, damaging the rear of the trailer and the left front of her car. She complained of a bruised shoulder.

Slippery road conditions were cited in an accident on Highway 41 near the airport in the town of Neenah at 6:36 Wednesday night involving cars driven by Albert J. Zellmer, 49, route 1, Neenah, and Herbert R. Stewart, 26, Oshkosh. Both cars were headed north and Zellmer said he had placed his hand out the window to signal a left turn into a driveway when his car was hit in the rear by the Stewart car.

Plan Larger Library, Neenah Council Learns

Olla Perry Begins Rezoning Action For Second Time

Neenah — A plan to enlarge the Neenah Public Library was revealed in a letter to the city council from Harry Korotev, library board chairman, Wednesday night.

Korotev's letter requested $2,000 for preliminary architectural services to study the library's needs. The board has already met with Frank C. Shattuck and Associates, Neenah architects, for preliminary plans, but nothing has been developed.

The board's request was turned over to the finance committee.

The plans commission received a petition from Miss Olla M. Perry, 415 S. Commercial street, for the rezoning of her lot at S. Commercial and Caroline streets to commercial. An identical petition was refused last month by the council.

The aldermen approved a resolution to borrow $95,000 on short term notes to pay for the city's new southwest side fire station, and new fire engine and other equipment.

The money is needed to meet bills in the next few weeks, before a bond issue for the amount can be sold.

Accept Truck Bids
The council also accepted the bid of American-LaFrance Foamite for the new fire truck, at a cost of $20,614.

Bids for two new dump trucks, a 34 ton truck costing $3,305, and a 45 ton unit costing $3,760, also were accepted from Neenah-Menasha Motors, Neenah, and Fox Valley Truck service, Appleton, respectively.

The aldermen approved the transfer of $21,000 from bond revenue to the water department for contingencies and fees involved in the city's new two million gallon reservoir now under construction on Belmont street.

A $5 down payment was ordered returned to Richard Jos, who had purchased a barn on E. Columbian avenue property earmarked for parking. Jos was unable to meet insurance requirements for moving the structure.

Reappraise Buildings
The reappraisal of city buildings for insurance purposes was unanimously approved by the aldermen. The 1958 budget includes $3,003 for this purpose.

Complete control of the White boat house, except for that portion used by the police department, was turned over to the park board by council action. Previously the building had been under the jurisdiction of the health and welfare committee.

Before adjourning the council

Robert Buechle, City Employee, Dies at Menasha

Menasha — Robert D. Buechle, 35, 884 Marquette street, assistant to the Menasha city engineer, died at 10:30 Wednesday night after a 1-month illness. He was born Aug. 29, 1922 in West Orange, N. J.

Buechle had lived in Menasha for 13 years and was employed by the city for the last four years.

The World War II veteran had served as secretary of the Menasha City Employees Credit Union and was recently elected to the board of directors of that group. He ran for the school board one year ago.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary Catholic church. Friends may call at the Laemmrich Funeral home after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon where the rosary will be said at 8 o'clock Friday night. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery.

Survivors include the widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buechle of Livingston, N. J.; a grandmother, Mrs. Edith Evans, Livingston, N. J.; three daughters, Barbara Lynn, Laura Lee, Christine Mary, and one son, Bryan Michael, all at home, and one sister, Mrs. James Sniffen, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Menasha GOP To Hear State Field Director

Republican Group To Discuss County, District Caucuses

Menasha — Ed Terrill, field operations director for the state Republican party, will speak to the Menasha Republican club at its meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night at the Elissa D. Smith library auditorium.

He will discuss what the Republicans have done for the state of Wisconsin and what can be expected from them in the future.

Terrill operates a 310 acre farm near Waunakee which produces over a half million pounds of milk a year. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin agricultural short course.

His political activities include volunteer work at the state headquarters in 1954, fieldman for Gov. Thomson's headquarters in 1956 and director of field operations since Nov. 11 of last year.

During the business meeting, Terrill granted a beverage operator's license to Herbert H. Blank, and accepted a report from the police justice of the peace recording $478.80 taken in as fines and costs in December.

Assessments to Total $10.51 in Glenayre Park

Firm Offers $5,000 To City to Speed Edgewood Plat Work

Neenah — Special assessments totaling $10.51 per front foot will be levied against lots in the Glenayre Park plat for water, sewer and sewer lift station purposes, the city council voted Wednesday night.

The total includes $5.47 for sewer main, $3.82 for water main and $1.22 per foot for a proportionate share of the sewer lift station costs. The lift station, which serves the south side plat, is at Chatham court and S. Park avenue and pumps sewage to the sewage disposal plant for treatment.

Edgewood associates, developers of the Edgewood plat in another south side section of the city, have guaranteed the city $5,000 in return for a guarantee that street, sewer and water improvements will be installed in undeveloped parts of the plat before Oct. 10.

The agreement was made to permit the city to pay more for the work if a shorter completion time is promised by the contractor. An additional $1,000 is to be paid for each week before Oct. 10 that the improvements are completed.

Plans Announced
Plans were announced by the council to develop the area this spring and summer, and specifications for the work are being prepared by the committee on public works.

In other action Tenor Brothers, Algoma, contractors installing sewer mains on Harrison street and the unnamed street south of the Marathon general office, were permitted to alter the kind of fitting used on the sewer pipes. The change order will mean a 35 cents per foot reduction in the cost.

The aldermen repealed an old and unwieldy ordinance specifying procedures and rates in special assessments in favor of a new ordinance which will be presented shortly. While the city is without an ordinance it will operate under state statutes.

NHS Concert Features 11 Selections

Neenah — The program for the first Neenah High school band concert of 1958 was announced today. The concert is set for 8 o'clock next Thursday evening in the NHS auditorium and is open to the public.

Different sections of the band will be featured in each of the numbers following the opener, "Our Glorious Land" by Joseph Olivodoti. The triple-tonguing trumpet section will be featured in Edmund Gruber's "Caisson Song" and a tone picture will be painted in "A Gypsy's Fireside Dream" by Johann H. Fultz.

The trumpet trio composed of Kaye Gruetzman, Dave Hielsburg and Marilyn Kurh will be featured in "Polka Dots" by F. L. Buchtel. The band will play Victor Young's award-winning "Around the World" and another tone painting, "Wanderer's Call" by Gus Guentzel.

The sousaphone section's presentation of "Them Basses" by G. H. Huffine will feature Kathy Kruse, Gary Cummings, Doris Remmel, Jim Jensen and Justine Mantor. Charles Williams' "Dream of Olwen," familiar to television viewers, will be played by pianist Jim Vogt with band accompaniment.

The band will play "Guest Conductor" by Paul Yoder and will feature the senior majorities in A. F. Weldon's "Gate City" before the national anthem closes the evening.

Aldermen Voice Views on C of C Site Question men decided on the Doty-Walnut site after a survey of city administration needs and proceeded to purchase the properties needed.

To add an advisory referendum on the site would just confuse the issue, he added.

"Several months ago a committee was formed of several citizens, several business men, our mayor and several aldermen to meet and discuss problems facing the city of Neenah. One of which the Chamber of Commerce pointed out was parking for our uptown district. We had such a meeting with-out evidently arriving at any important decisions, because the committee has been disbanded at the request of the chairman," Hedberg said.

"Several members of this committee suggested that we hire a group of experts to make a study of the city of Neenah as a whole, which would be made in a three step program, to the total cost of $60,000. We saw no need for that program because we have had a survey of city municipal needs, and the school board knows and has projected its needs for years to come. Why do we need someone from outside to tell us who live here what we need?" Hedberg said.

Aldermen Not Qualified

Kuester, local shoe retailer and member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the aldermen were not qualified to place the city's needs in perspective and that a professional survey was needed. Kuester told the aldermen that he did not represent the chamber Wednesday night, but was speaking only as a merchant and a citizen.

Kuester, who made his speech after all the aldermen had finished theirs, was called out of order by Mayor George E. Sande after an appeal by Miller, who said that the public should not be heard since a public hearing was not being conducted.

Ald. Ray Murphy, Fifth ward referred to News-Record editorials opposing the site selection as "slanted to the point of misinformation." He recalled an open letter to the citizens from Ald. Daniel Luebke, council president, published in that paper which explained in detail the council's position on the proposed municipal building program.

Canned Pears May Seem a bit humdrum by themselves, but given a cocoa meringue shell, a rich cream filling and chocolate shavings, they are indeed in paradise.

The letter, which outlined plans to use half of the city hall block for parking facilities, "was complete and informative to the point where there could be no misunderstanding by the public," Murphy said.

Police station costs were a prime consideration, Murphy said, in the council's decision. "The city of Neenah (at the time of the 1956 survey by Frank C. Shattuck) owned some property in the city hall block and therefore it seemed a logical place to seek additional properties which would be made available at the least possible cost to the taxpayer," Murphy said.

Ald. Warren Sanders, First ward, noted that the police station site is undesirable for business expansion because of the railway tracks and the Valley Inn parking lot on opposite sides of the streets from the proposed site.

"During the years no business has been established on either side of this block on Doty avenue, although expansion has taken place in other areas of the city.

"Even Wisconsin avenue between Commercial street and Walnut street has shown signs of decline and could provide sites for new stores or buildings, a much more desirable location," Sanders said.

"The group appraising our selection... want to disregard all the time, effort, money and planning that has already gone into the project and put the questions before the voters to decide by referendum. How inconsistent can we get?" Sanders concluded.

Ald. Peter Fara, Third ward said that this is one decision the citizens expect the aldermen to make, and that it

Desserts Simple, Glamorous Start With Canned Fruit Base

BY EDITH M. BARBER

There is nothing like having a stock of canned fruits on hand for use as an easy dessert. Some of us have a very good custom of keeping a can or two in the refrigerator or, as then they are chilled and ready to use.

One of my favorite choices for a party dessert is a mixture of canned and fresh fruits. For two recent affairs I chose canned pineapple tidbits, dark red cherries and peaches with fresh orange and grapefruit. I also added for one meal a few cut dates. These fruits were tied together with a little rum.

There are several really glamorous desserts which can be prepared with canned fruits for a special occasion. One of these is justly known as "pear-adise meringue." A meringue shell is baked, cooled, then spread with cream filling, sprinkled with shaved chocolate and topped with drained pear halves. It is really an elaborate dessert, but worthwhile preparing for a special occasion.

For a simpler dessert, pears may be used for an upside-down cake for which a gingerbread or spicecake mix is delicious. This may be served with whipped cream or a custard sauce.

Cocoa Meringue

3 egg whites
Dash salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Pearadise cream filling
1 teaspoon shaved unsweetened chocolate

6 to 8 canned pear halves
Beat egg whites until frothy. Sprinkle salt and cream of tartar over them and continue beating until stiff. Gradually beat in sugar and cocoa, alternately, adding vanilla with last addition of sugar. Spread in round 9-inch piepan and bake in slow oven one hour. Cool in pan. Spread with Cream Filling, sprinkle with shaved chocolate and top with pear halves. Chill for several hours or overnight.

Cream Filling

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash salt
1 cup pear syrup (drained from canned pears)
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/2 cup cream, whipped
Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in pear syrup. Cook over low heat until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Stir a little of hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks. Add to remaining hot mixture and cook over low heat for two minutes, stirring constantly. Chill. Fold in whipped cream.

(Copyright 1958)

should be decided solely by the council.

Ald. Daniel Luebke, Fourth ward, said that a referendum should be called only if the council had two equal alternatives and could not reach a decision, but such a situation does not exist. "Had the question arisen earlier," Luebke said, "the referendum would have done more than merely confuse the issue."

He said that a pressure group was trying to void the site, and that all chamber members had not been polled. If any citizens questioned the wisdom of the council's plan there would have been a proper and legal petition presented Luebke said.

Ald. Gilbert Krueger, Fifth ward, said that Konrad had admitted to him that the Feb. 19 letter had been decided upon by only the executive committee of the chamber. He also accused the chamber of employing a professional organization to handle public relations releases relative to chamber views.

Would Do Little Harm

Krueger and Ald. Charles Biolo, First ward, voted against the denial of the chamber request, stating that they didn't think a referendum on the site question would hurt the city's chances of getting a new station.

Biolo said that it would be wrong not to allow the voters to tell the council what they think. "If they vote against the bonds we'll lose the station, but I'm willing to risk a location change against loss of the station."

"Our judgement is challenged; let's put it before the jury," Biolo concluded.

Schramper, the other speaker from the floor, noted that the junior kindergarten in the schools is being abandoned in September because of space problems and said that new municipal buildings should not take the place of schools.

Joseph Jaskolski Ends 50 Years At Whiting Paper

Menasha — Joseph F. Jaskolski was honored by officers of the George A. Whiting Paper company Tuesday at a luncheon south of Alcott drive and sewer will be installed in the entire length of the street.

Before improvements are made water and sewer service pipes will be laid from the mains to the curb lines of each lot, the cost of which will be assessed against the lots.

The committee of public works was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the improvements and estimate the entire cost of the street and curb and gutter work. The total assessment against each lot is also to be determined by the committee.

A public hearing on the work is to be held after the committee returns its report.

Numerous Strong Points in Nation's Economic Picture

BY NORMAN WALKER

Washington—“Business is no good,” says the operator of a big hotel on the Las Vegas gambling strip. “Last year we were turning down 500 reservations every weekend. Now we’re only turning down 400.”

Which helps prove that even with the troublesome recession the country is experiencing there are bright spots. And the encouragement isn’t only on the Las Vegas dice tables.

It’s reflected in optimism in the long-depressed farm areas.

You also see it in the hopes of builders with spring weather coming and the freeze on building money credit thawing.

You find buoyancy, too, in the boom towns near missile bases like Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Redstone arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., the government’s vast atomic works in New Mexico, and the missile fuel factories in Texas.

It’s apparent in many areas across the land which have barely felt the recession and report business as good or better than their top levels of prosperity, or only a little off.

The same search by Associated Press newsmen that turned up the gloomy economic facts-of-life in the jobless areas of Michigan, Pennsylvania and California also brought growing accounts of conditions elsewhere.

West Florida Boom

President Eisenhower isn’t the only one with a chin-up outlook. Take Bob Conroy, 38, one of Detroit’s jobless army. He and his wife both lost their jobs in early December. They

(The economic slump is a reality. So is the fact that many sections across the land have barely felt it and report business excellent. This fourth article of a series on the nation’s economic health takes stock of the strong points.)

and their two children are living on hopes, state jobless benefit payments and two basement freezers filled with food.

“We’re living,” said Conroy. “We’ll get along. I think in a few months something ought to happen. I got a deer during the hunting season last fall and froze the carcass. That’s helped.”

In Florida, where migrant fieldhands, idled by the crop freezes are being fed in soup kitchens, business is booming on the state’s west coast. There has been an influx of plant construction workers and “snowbirds,” the winter vacationers from the north.

Miami Beach, with temperatures back to the normal 70s, has been bidding hard age of jobs, particularly in the nation’s factories; there is the encouraging word from many economists that we are really headed for a labor shortage in a few years—that there will be plenty of work—and pay—for all.

Louisiana reports: “Almost everyone is living high on the hog here.” Texas reports its rustling gulf coast industries are going full blast. South Dakota says its bank deposits topped $300 million for a record.

It’s odd, but two of the sectors that worried the economists most last year—farming and construction—now are improving and carrying much of the hopes for pulling the country up again.

The big story in farming is the broken drought. The wheat and cattle farmers in Kansas, Iowa and Idaho, Missouri and Kansas, Nevada and New Mexico, Oklahoma and the Dakotas, have stars in their eyes again.

Nebraska, coming out of a bumper crop year after a series of bad ones, counted a 43 per cent hike in crop dollar values which gave the state’s farmers $200 million more to spend.

More Construction

Construction, a laggard in 1957, is looking up. Various government moves have eased money availability.

Home builders in many areas started clearing sites even before early February snows melted away, getting ready for cement pouring, bricklaying, plastering.

George Yamini, Dallas developer, reported sale of 62 lots in one week for $14,000-up homes, said it was due to more liberal credit. Tyler, Texas, expects $30 million to be spent this year in expansion, repairs, streets and highways.

Revived defense work is beginning to show up. For example, construction is starting on a new 65 to 100 million dollar missile base at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Threaded through the AP’s survey data are strong suggestions of the mobility and fluidity of the labor force. Workers can and do adjust to other jobs—go elsewhere looking for work.

The electrical manufacturing industry generally has been hurting. People more or less ran out of money to buy home appliances, TV sets, etc. But the electronics end of the industry is beginning to pick up again with renewed defense spending, and withdrawal of small appliances from fair trading by several firms may help sales.

A group of electronics makers in the San Francisco bay area are particularly optimistic. “We have had no layoffs and are starting to hire engineers again,” says H. Myrl Stearns, president of Varian Associates, Palo Alto.

Southeast Confident

Arkansas, like most southern states, is working overtime trying to lure in new industries. There have been some spotty layoffs, but southern states are still on the plus side of the economic ledger.

The confidence that the growing southeast will continue its steady economic growth is seen in the comment of an Arkansas state official:

If you want to look on the bright side consider that baby sitters are easier to get. Ditto guys to shovel snow off your driveway.

Living costs still are soaring at record levels. But there’s some encouragement here too. Raw material prices have sagged, for such things as rubber, metal, hides, wool, gasoline, fuel oil, and lumber. Government economists predict sooner or later this will drift into the retail level as lower consumer prices.

In southern Wisconsin the town of Monroe calls itself America’s Swiss cheese capital. Here’s another industry that’s been in the doldrums. But milk prices paid to the farmers and the price of the Swiss product are not shot through with holes any more. So Monroe is one of Wisconsin’s bright spots.

Lawrence Track Team to Open Indoor Season

Winsor Defends 'Shot' Title in Conference Test

The Lawrence college track team will open its 1958 indoor season by competing in the annual University of Chicago Invitational meet Friday evening.

A delegation of 13 or 14 Vikes will enter the meet, in which all nine Midwest conference schools are expected to take part.

Host Chicago usually wins and the ranking of the Midwest conference schools back of the Maroons is regarded as the circuit's unofficial indoor meet result.

In the absence of Coach Art Denney, who is in the hospital with influenza, Gene Davis will accompany the Viking delegation to Chicago.

Cornell Favored

Cornell, 1957 indoor and outdoor winner, is heavily favored to cop the title again. Lawrence, Ripon, Carleton and Grinnell are considered strong contenders for the runnerup spot.

Leading Lawrence at Chicago will be John Winsor, defending indoor champion in the shot put. Winsor's winning toss last season went 44 feet, 4 inches.

Lawrence placed sixth among conference teams last year with 15 points. Ripon — with the likes of Bob Osiewalski, Pete Kasson, Jim Higgins and Don Tomczak took this time — wound up fourth.

Viking individuals, besides Winsor, who are expected to compete Friday include: Gil Sutherland in the shot put; Jim Leatham and Gary Scovel in the high jump; Scovel, Harry Hartoonian, and possibly, Carroll Gonzo in the broad jump; Leatham and Hartoonian in the 60-yard dash; Scovel in the 60-yard low hurdles and 60-yard high hurdles, and Dave Berganini and Ron Simon in the 2-mile run.

Four relay teams will take part. Personnel will include four of the following in each event: distance medley — Len Hall, Dave Mulford, Ted Pinkerton, Ted Sutherland and Berganini; two-mile — Mulford, Ted Sutherland, Jim Smith, Ron Traver, Pinkerton and Berganini; sprint medley — Hall, Scovel, Leatham, Mulford and Ted Sutherland.

Hall, Mulford and Ted Sutherland will be three of the four runners on the 1-mile relay team.

The team will leave Appleton Friday morning and return here Saturday. Unlike last year, no freshmen will compete at Chicago.

Frank Howard Signs Dodger Bonus Pact

Columbus, Ohio —(AP)— Frank Howard, Ohio State baseball and basketball star, signed a major league baseball contract with the Dodgers Wednesday.

Bill Schweppes, assistant farm director of Los Angeles, declined to divulge the extent of the bonus Howard received but admitted, "it would not be an exaggeration to say it was in excess of $50,000."

14-16 Rinks to Compete Here in Invitational Collegiate Bonspiel

Rinks from at least eight, and possibly nine, colleges and universities will compete in the annual Lawrence college Invitational Collegiate Bonspiel at the Appleton Curling club Friday through Sunday.

A total of 14 rinks is definitely in the field for the 3-event bonspiel and two more rinks are tentatively slated to compete. Competition gets underway at 8:30 Friday evening.

Adler Brau '5' Upsets Subway in ARD Meet

Plays Pond's For Championship Monday Night

ARD Tournament

Monday Night's Games: 7:00—Coated vs. Subway (consolation). 8:00—Pond's vs. Adler Brau (championship).

Wednesday Night's Results: Pond's 65, Coated 42. Adler Brau 63, Subway 61.

Pond's, 1957-58 Major AAA basketball champion, will meet a member of that league's second division for the title in the 1958 men's city tournament Monday evening in the Appleton High gym.

Pond's opponents will be Adler Brau, which tied for fifth place in the AAA circuit. Adler Brau upset Subway Bar, 63-61, in Wednesday evening's semifinals in the Jefferson gym, while Pond's dumped Industrial league champion Appleton Coated, 65-42.

Adler Brau's Jim Kirkland poured in three baskets in row early in the fourth quarter to help push his club into the lead and dumped in two more later in the period. The winners outscored the losers, 18-11, in the fourth stanza.

He finished with 21 points while Jim Meyer added 19.

skipped by Mike Collins, is defending bonspiel titlist.

The three Viking rinks definitely set for the bonspiel are skipped by Neil Collins, Wauwatosa; Tom Melchert, Kaukauna; and Dave Witte, Appleton. Mike and Neil Collins are brothers.

On the Neil Collins rink, defending second-event champion, are: Walter Rhodes, Jr., Madison; Fred "Fritz" Ruf, Elm Grove; and Bob LaRose, Portage. (formerly of Appleton).

Curling on the Melchert rink, Notre Dame university, two are Dan Molsberry, Wisconsin from La Crosse State college, Rapids; Paul Manz, Neillsville from the University of Wisconsin; and Byron Johnson, Milwaukee, one from Virginia (Minn.) Junior college, two from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, and one from Northwestern university.

On the Witte rink are Dick Pfleger, Nekeosa; Phil Dorchester, Sturgeon Bay, and one from Northwestern Karl Schmidt, Chicago.

Mike Penner, and John Steinberg, Appleton will skip the two Notre Dame rinks.

Saturday's competition will run from 8 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock in the evening while Sunday's curling will be at 9 o'clock in the morning and the finals at 12:30 noon.

Pins will be awarded to members of the winning rink and the runnerup in each event.

Defending State Champs Topple Clints, 89-45

Shawano Tourney

Tonight's Games: 7:00—Clintonville vs. Wittenberg (consolation). 8:30—Shawano vs. New London (championship).

Wednesday Night's Results: New London 61, Wittenberg 56. Shawano 89, Clintonville 45.

Shawano — Defending state champion Shawano plays for the championship of its own sub-regional basketball tournament here tonight against a New London High quintet which may show the effects of three games in three nights.

While the Indians were coasting to an 89-45 win over Clintonville Wednesday evening, the Bulldogs had to go into overtime to defeat Wittenberg, 61-59, in a tight-as-a-drum affair.

The ingredients that have made the Indians Wisconsin's No. 1-rated prep quintet this season—hot field goal shooting and divided scoring punch in Marty Gharriy, John Cantwell and Norm Ostapinski—were operating for Shawano Wednesday.

Cantwell Hits 30

Cantwell whipped in 14 of 23 field goal tries and finished with 30 points, Gharriy contributed 20 and Ostapinski scored 14. The tournament hosts made 37 of their 74 shots, or 50 percent.

Sophomore forward Wayne Moder counted 20 points to pace the Truckers who counted on 18 of 43 (42 per cent) of their shots. Shawano moved off to a 10-2 lead and substitutes saw plenty of action the rest of the way.

New London's Dennis Roff scored five of his nine points in the overtime, all of the Bulldogs' markers in the extra period.

Musial Says Cards Have Better Title Chance This Year

St. Petersburg, Fla. —(AP)— Stan Musial, dean of the St. Louis Cardinals, says he thinks the team will have a better chance of winning the National league pennant this year because of more depth.

He said the pitching depth has improved over last year and the second line strength is better.

Musial said the over-all Cardinal pitching balance looks the best to him since 1942, when the Red Birds won the pennant.

"If the Braves don't win it, we should," Musial said.

Hamner Seems Fully Recovered From Serious Shoulder Injury

Clearwater, Fla. —(AP)— Only 15 months ago Granny Hamner was advised by a doctor he would never play baseball again. Today, the veteran Phillies infielder is practically a cinch to open the 1958 season at second base.

"Only a miracle would enable you to play again," the doctor said. "It would be an act of God if you could swing a bat properly."

Wouldn't Quit

Six months before, Hamner had jammed his left shoulder diving for a ball. He ripped a tendon right next to an old injury—another torn tendon—that still had not fully healed after an operation. More than a year of sheer torture followed.

But the gritty Virginian refused to give up. He tried to start all over again as a pitcher. It didn't pan out.

Foxes Order Uniforms, Await Word on Menasha Games

The Fox Cities Baseball club is inching closer to its $15,000 fund-raising goal.

Club directors heard Wednesday night that $2,500 was still needed to complete the drive. This represented a stock-sale gain of $500 in the last week.

Some of the directors feel that not all potential individual buyers had been contacted.

They urged anyone wishing to buy one or more shares of stock (at $5 a share) to contact any member of the board or Business Manager Bob Willis (3-4152).

The club has ordered its uniforms and other equipment for the 1958 season. Pond's was awarded the contract for uniforms and Schlafer-Ace the contract for other equipment.

The club is awaiting word from the Menasha Park board on its request to play one game a month at Menasha.

The games the Foxes have tentatively requested to move to Menasha are May 20, against Rochester, June 9 (Davenport), July 14 (Cedar Rapids) and Aug. 9 (Burlington).

Willis reports that the response on players' housing has not been very heavy to date. He has asked any resident with available housing for the '58 season to contact him as soon as possible.

Still he refused to admit defeat. During the past winter he took a job as coach of the paraplegic basketball team at McGuire Veterans hospital in his home town of Richmond.

St. Norbert Will Play Wheaton Quint at Aurora

By The Associated Press

The second annual NCAA small college basketball tournament begins tonight, with the Midwest regional at Evansville, Ind., getting a 24-hour jump on seven other cross-country eliminations.

Evansville college, one of the favorites of the 32-team field with a 19-3 record, plays Wheaton (12-8).

Defending champion Wheaton of Illinois, back again for another try after a sparkling 24-1 season, plays St. Norbert of Wisconsin (15-9) in a first round game in the Great Lakes Regional at Aurora, Ill.

The Midwest, ending Friday night, and the seven others end on Saturday night will advance their eight winners to the meet at Evansville, March 12, 13, 14.

Terrors, Kimberly Primed for Clash

Area Rivals Have Split Their Most Recent Tournament Tussles

Kimberly and Appleton — the adversaries in tonight's sub-regional championship game in the AHS gym — have split two memorable tournament tussles since Gil Frank and Dick Emanuel began their coaching rivalry.

In 1955, Frank's state tournament-bound Papermakers used a powerful fourth-period rally to down the Terrors, 58-48, at Kimberly. In 1956, Emanuel's Madison-bound Terrors upset Kimberly — then ranked No. 1 in the state — by six points, 63-57, at AHS.

Tonight's game (starting at 8:30) between two streaking, ambitious clubs could turn out to be the same type of sizzler.

Both Have Changes

The host Terrors, with a 15-4 record, are the "rated" team (No. 15) this time. They finished in a second place tie in the Fox River Valley conference. Kimberly, with a 13-6 record — finished third in the Mid-Eastern circuit.

In the season opener, the Terrors stopped the Papermakers, 61-52, at Kimberly, to give Emanuel a 4 to 2 edge in his 4-season coaching series with Frank.

Since that November meeting both teams have undergone extensive changes in the makeup of their "top 7 or 8" and both have improved markedly.

One highly important newcomer to this second AHS — Papermaker game is Jack Lambers. A football injury kept Kimberly's junior scoring and rebounding star out of the opener, but he has played every game since.

Don Hearden, sophomore guard, led the Papermaker offense with 21 points against AHS. Warren Polman and "Junior" Peerenboom added eight apiece.

Jack Ulwelling, the Terror pace-maker, scored 19 of his team's 61 points. Jim Zoelk added 10 with Howie Hamann and Tom Verkuilen coming up with nine and eight, respectively.

The Terrors have rambled to 10 victories in their last 11 starts. Their 9-game skien was the longest in the FRVC this season.

Kimberly has also gained momentum, winning four of its last five. One of those four wins was over Neenah, 56-53, making the Papermakers the only team besides state champion Shawano to beat the Rockets. The Papermakers' only loss in their last five was to Shawano. Kimberly outdid the Indians in field goals but lost the game from the foul line.

First Home Game Set For May 3

The Fox Cities baseball club of the Three-I league will make its home debut Saturday, May 3 against Cedar Rapids.

The Foxes will play two series on the road before moving into Goodland field, according to the official 1958 league schedule released today. The Foxes open the season, Sunday, April 27 at Davenport.

Each of the other five clubs in the league — Green Bay, Rochester, Burlington, Davenport and Cedar Rapids — makes four trips into the Fox Cities. The Foxes have drawn 15 home dates for May, 17 for June, 15 in July, 15 in August and three in September.

The 130-game league season closes Sunday, Sept. 7.

The Foxes will play eight Sunday games at Goodland field, in addition to one holiday assignment. They meet Green Bay here the afternoon of Memorial day, then journey to the Bluejay park for the night portion of that holiday doubleheader.

The Fox Cities nine will be at Burlington for both of the other two major holidays — July 4 and Labor day.

The Foxes are scheduled to make four trips to each of the other league cities, except Green Bay. The Foxes make five trips to the Bay, including the one-nighter May 30.

Proxmire Accused of Abusing Mailing Rights

Resolution by State Sen. Lorge Adopted By GOP Platform Committee at Green Bay

Green Bay — Agriculture, state financing and the cost of education were accorded the most attention at a meeting of Republicans here Wednesday night, but the greatest show of unanimity came in a departure from the platform discussion.

Lorge said he based his stand against Proxmire's use of free mailing on the fact that he himself received such a circular addressed "Boxholder, Bear Creek" and assumed that such matter was being sent to all box holders in the state.

He declared the practice "cheapens the office of U. S. senator" and he also criticized it because of the cost to the post office department in handling this type of mail.

Lorge also commended Gov. Thomson for his "untiring efforts to aid the dairy farmer of the state by his trips to Washington." This also was unanimously adopted.

Direct Subsidy

In another matter beyond the scope of state affairs, the group heard Edgar Rudolph, a former president of the Farm Bureau in Door county, propose a direct cash subsidy to farmers from the federal government to help farmers against rising costs. The payments, he said, could be based on cost as shown by a farmers' income tax returns for the last three years.

He felt such a payment by the government would be justified by the great increase in farm production costs.

One of Series

Rudolph said he offered the proposal as a means of getting the Republican party elected this year. He said even a small payment would help considerably.

"The party is in trouble," he added, calling attention to the Democratic senatorial victory last year and the recent narrow win by a Republican in a longtime Republican district in Minnesota.

The meeting held at the Beaumont hotel was one of a number of sectional meetings in the state to hear proposals from local Republican party members for a state party platform to carry into the fall elections. The party platform committee intends to have a proposed platform prepared and in the hands of delegates before the state convention in May.

State Sen. A. A. Laun, Keil, who heads the platform committee in the Eighth congressional district, explained the session was not designed to discuss national issues, but to get individual thought on planks in the state platform.

Other committee members who headed the meeting were Mrs. John C. Stevens, Appleton, Paul A. Schutte, Jr., Manitowish, and James Plier, Oconto.

Taxation Discussed

The longest discussion centered about state taxation and its relation to the cost of education. Other opinions were for revision of the property tax and abolishing the personal property tax, to which Sen. Lorge added proposals for a floor and ceiling on real estate taxes and greater equalization of utility taxes in state areas.

Several changes in the state government structure were proposed for study. One suggestion would set up two divisions in the state agriculture department to separate the promotional and regulatory functions.

Others from Outagamie county attending the meeting were Assemblyman William Sullivan, Kaukauna, Mrs. C. C. Schroeder, Appleton, district GOP vice chairman, Harold Froehlich, candidate for the assembly from Outagamie county's first district, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oudenhoven, Appleton.

Another platform study meeting is scheduled for March 11 at Oconto.

Power Company Plans Another Substation Plant

A plan to construct an estimated $175,000 electrical switching and substation at S. Weimar street and the Chicago and North Western Railway company tracks was revealed today by Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The announcement came as the power company asked the city council to rezone a parcel of land from residential district to permit construction. City Clerk Elden Broehm said the request will be forwarded to the city planning commission.

Company officials said the switching and substation is needed to provide flexibility in its electrical service for the growing southeast side. The improvement will be able to handle the southeast side's needs for years to come.

Construction won't begin this year, the officials said, but "sometime in the future."

The property to be rezoned is 105 by 120 feet with a 16-foot-wide access road, officials said. Any construction would be entirely fenced as are all similar power company installations, they added.

Check Misbehavior With Card System

Kansas City — Principals at Kansas City's junior and senior high schools have a new, standardized system for keeping track of misbehavior by pupils.

Its keystone is a disciplinary record card adopted yesterday. The card says:

"Truancy, aggressive fighting, theft, extortion, disruption of class work, threats against teachers, insubordination and displays of vulgarity should be recorded. Obviously, trifling cases will go unrecorded."

The card provides spaces for setting down the nature of an offense, details of the investigation and the persons and agencies involved in it, the findings, disposition of the case and follow-up work.

The report becomes part of a pupil's academic record and will follow him wherever he may go in the city's public school system.

The principals devised the system as the result of a rash of rowdiness in the schools. It came to a head about five weeks ago and since has simmered down.

Pick Chairmen Of 1958 Scout Camp-O-Ree

Committee chairmen for the 1958 Valley Boy Scout council camp-o-ree, to be held at Pierce park June 6 to 8, were appointed at a meeting in Appleton Wednesday afternoon.

This year's camp-o-ree will be sponsored by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

They are J. S. Wells, general chairman; J. K. Babbitt, physical facilities; E. V. Krueger, health and sanitation and secretary of the camp-o-ree committee; G. A. Schmidt, finance; H. H. Dahm, commissary; Harold Brown, demonstrations and activities; C. H. Schultz, personnel; and John McLean, publicity.

More than 1,000 scouts are expected to attend the camp-o-ree. They will represent 85 per cent of the troops in the council.

Safety themes and projects will highlight the program. The scouts also will demonstrate camping skills.

Attending the planning meeting Wednesday were Wallace Christensen and Fred Sordahl, Valley council scout executives.

Boycott Classes to Get Aid for Education

Montreal, Quebec — A boycott of classes began at five of Quebec's six universities today to support demands for more provincial aid to higher education. About 20,000 students were affected.

At the University of Montreal, professors read or chanted in empty classrooms. Students used snow to block roads leading to the university. Students gathered at the road barricades carried placards saying "justice wanted by 21,000 students."

Police said three men were detained for questioning after their car knocked down two students at a road barricade near the university.

Tavern Owner Forfeits Bond for Keeping Her Bar Open Too Late

Mrs. LuLu Burbey, route 1, Appleton, has forfeited $23.20 bond on a charge of keeping her tavern open after legal closing time.

Mrs. Burbey was arrested after county police found the Cara Lu club in the town of Greenville open at 1:45 the morning of Feb. 3. Mrs. Burbey previously denied the charge.

Moving Farmers Into Labor Force Unwise Says Panel

Seymour — Farm experts agreed during a panel discussion before an inter-club Kiwanis meeting at the Hotel Seymour that unnecessary displacement of farmers into the labor market would be unwise and uneconomical.

John Powers, county agent; Walter Muehl, a Seymour farmer; W. T. Reese, a former officer of the farm products promotion for the state; Peter Farrell, Outagamie county Farm Bureau director, and R. C. Schultz, a farm journalist, participated on the panel before more than 100 Kiwanians representing clubs from Menasha, Appleton, Little Chute, Green Bay, Preble and Sturgeon Bay.

The panel also agreed government should get out of the agricultural industry but it should be replaced by some other type of help program.

The farm problem, the panel declared, is reflected in the entire economic picture of the nation since most wealth has its starting point with the soil. It suggested farm youth be taught more agricultural economics in the schools.

$2,200 Goal Set For Red Cross Drive in City

Harold Roloff Will Head Campaign Started This Week

Kaukauna — The annual drive for funds for the Red Cross got underway in Kaukauna this week with Harold Roloff, vice president and plant manager of Roloff Manufacturing as general chairman for Kaukauna.

The goal this year has again been set at $2,200 with the drive to continue throughout the month. Definite plans for the campaign have not yet been completed but the main event will be the city-wide solicitation.

Karl Kuehn, vice president of Badger Northland in Kaukauna, has been appointed chairman of the area drive which includes Kaukauna, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Freedom, Little Chute, VandenBroek and Buchanan.

Other Chairmen Assisting Roloff with the Kaukauna drive will be Martin Janssen as business solicitation chairman on the northside, Richard Verfurth, business solicitation head on the southside and Harry Conkey, industrial solicitation chairman.

Each of the chairman may appoint workers to assist with the collection. Kaukauna has benefited from Red Cross funds in recent years through periodic first aid courses and sponsoring the annual "rural learn to swim" program held at the Kaukauna pool.

The majority of the funds collected are used to help persons in need and to assist during times of disasters in particular sections of the country.

Police List 24 Arrests in Month

Kaukauna — Kaukauna police made 24 arrests during February including 11 for violation of parking ordinances, according to the report by Police Chief Harold V. Engerson.

Other arrests included six for disorderly conduct, three for speeding, two for arterial violation and one each for reckless driving and permitting a minor to drive. The department issued five warnings to speeders and warned four persons for parking infractions.

In other activities the department investigated 11 accidents, six fires, conducted 106 miscellaneous investigations and recovered lost or stolen property valued at $812.50. Two deaths as a result of a car accident were reported in the month.

Three Trustee Posts On Ballot This Spring

Little Chute — Three trustee posts are up for election this spring but no papers have been filed yet, according to Mrs. Loreta Versteegen, clerk-treasurer.

Deadline for the filing of papers is March 14.

Cub Scout Pack 31 Holds First Blue, Gold Dinner

Kaukauna — About 80 Cub Scouts, parents and leaders attended the first Blue and Gold dinner of the recently organized Cub Pack 31 sponsored by the Home School association of Holy Cross school.

The event opened with a covered dish luncheon followed by skits by each of the various dens. Guest speakers for the evening included Stephen Baisch, East district Valley Boy Scouts representative and Leo Elmmmerman, Scoutmaster of Troop 31.

Den strips were awarded to Jim Courtney, Mike Chopin and Mark DeBruin, den chiefs. Officers of the new unit include: Howard Vandehey, cubmaster; James Achten, assistant cubmaster; Ed Renn, pack adviser; Harold Coleman, pack chairman and Joseph Krings, secretary-treasurer.

Art Oettinger is advancement chairman; John and Arthur Kerry are in charge of handicraft; Ralph Walsh is in charge of general activities and Vic Peeters is publicity chairman.

Den mothers include Mrs. Jo-

One Building Permit Issued in February

Kaukauna — A total of 14 permits were issued during February by Lohar Kemp, assistant building inspector. Only one of the permits was for construction.

The lone building permit was for remodeling the windows in a private home at an estimated cost of $150. Kemp also issued five plumbing and eight heating permits.

Plans Underway For Annual C of C Dinner Meeting

Kaukauna — Preliminary plans have been made for the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner to be held March 20 at the Elks clubrooms.

The event will be open to members, their wives and guests. Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Verner E. Suomal, associate professor of meteorology at the University of Wisconsin. Topic of his talk will be "Space and the Sputniks." Complete details for the dinner meeting will be released at a later date.

John Rieth hit a 556 series and Evelyn Taylor hit a 176 game for the only honor counts registered in the Saturday Mixed Doubles league at S and B alleys.

Team honors went to Watson's with a 363 game and a 1,037 series. Mangold's continue to lead the league with 29 wins and 10 defeats followed by Rieth's with 26 wins and 13 losses.

Locks Red Cross Drive Will Open

Combined Locks — The annual Red Cross fund drive will open Saturday, according to Mrs. James Schroeder, chairman.

Mrs. John Schumacher is in charge of workers on the west side of the village. Assisting her will be Mrs. Ray Jansen, Mrs. Sylvester Hermes, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Robert Biese, Mrs. Ervin Robinson, Mrs. Clarence Lamers, Mrs. Richard Wydeven, Mrs. Margaret Selbers, Mrs. George Jansen and Mrs. Robert Hella.

Workers on the east side with Mrs. Schroeder in charge are Mrs. Archie Jansen, Mrs. Sylvester Beyer, Mrs. Pat Van Dallen and Mrs. Albert Piepenberg.

Registration for the drive opens March 14. Interested residents can contact the clerk at the village hall.

Cana Day Registrations Being Accepted by Home School Club

Kaukauna — Registrations are now being accepted for the first Cana Day movement in Kaukauna which will be held March 16 at Holy Cross Catholic school cafeteria, sponsored by the Holy Cross Home School association.

Deadline for registering to participate in the conferences has been set for Sunday, March 9. The day will consist of three conferences on the vocation of marriage given by the Rev. Walter Imbierski, assistant director of the Cana Conference of Chicago and a national figure in the Cana Conference, family life, movement.

In addition to the scheduled conferences, a question and answer period will be held at which Father Imbierski will answer questions regarding marriage problems. This will be followed by a coffee break and social hour after which couples will renew marriage vows and attend Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Attendance at this conference will be limited to 100 couples and only couples may register. Boxes will be placed in the vestibules of Holy Cross and St. Mary's Catholic churches for placing registration slips after masses on Sunday. Registrations may also be mailed to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O'Connor, 223 Taylor street, by Sunday.

Registration will begin at 12:45 on the day of the conference with the first conference to get underway at 1 o'clock. The entire program, including benediction, will be over by 5:30 in the afternoon. No fees will be charged but a freewill offering may be made at the conference to cover the actual costs of the day.

Committee From Home School to Study Candidates

Kaukauna — A nominating committee was elected at a meeting of the Home School association of Holy Cross school Tuesday evening. The committee will present a slate of officers for consideration at the next meeting.

Members of the committee include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bootz, Miss Lottie McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Schommer, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanden Berg and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gerhart, Jr. Guest speakers for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitehead, Appleton. The couple was formerly associated with the Cana movement in Chicago and explained the movement in preparation for the Cana Day conferences to be held at Holy Cross school on March 16.

The attendance prize went to Sister Emeline's eighth grade.

Editors Named For KHS Alumni Group's Paper

Kaukauna — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Klister have been appointed co-editors of the Kaukauna High school Alumni Association newspaper, "The Alumni News," according to Mrs. Marvin Schuler, association president.

Klister has also been appointed a member of the board of directors of the association. The co-editors will begin collecting material for the annual edition immediately and will mail copies of the paper to all Kaukauna High school alumni later this spring.

Pairings Set For 1st Games In KAA Tourney

19th Annual Event Starts Play Sunday At High School Gym

Kaukauna — Competition in the nineteenth annual Kaukauna High school Athletic Association basketball tournament will get underway at the high school gym at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

The opening game of the day will have Combined Locks Graded school battling Trinity Lutheran of Kaukauna. Last weekend the Combined Locks cagers won the Foxland Cage tourney and to date have an overall record of nine wins and only one defeat. Trinity Lutheran, a member of the Kaukauna City Grade league, finished third in league standings and has a strong team.

The first game for adult teams will be played at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and will match the Menasha Athletic club against Readswood Athletic club.

Holy Cross Grade school will meet Park school at 6:45 Sunday evening at the gym followed by an adult game between St. John's of Menasha and Beren's Clothing of Kaukauna. The latter team is composed of Kaukauna High school seniors who have finished their cage careers.

Monday night action will have Brillion Grade school meeting Wrightstown Legion at 6:45 in the evening and the Brillion Athletic club battling Wrightstown Grandview Guernseys at 7:45 in the evening.

The final first round game will be played at 7:45 Tuesday night and will have Gustman's Chevrolet sales battling Combined Locks Paper company.

6 Requests for Improvements Go to Council

3 Aldermen, 3 Sets of Property Owners Ask Work

Three aldermen and three sets of property owners asked the city council Wednesday for improvement projects.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe listed his requests as:

Sanitary sewer for E. McKinley street between S. Jefferson and S. Madison streets; sanitary sewer, water main, grading and graveling on E. McKinley from S. Carpenter street east to the end of the street; storm sewer for E. Maple street between S. Carpenter and S. Ritter streets, and grading and graveling for the north end of S. Ritter and the east end of E. Lincoln street.

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider asked for sewer, water, grading and graveling of S. Telulah avenue between E. Fremont and E. Calumet streets and for curb, gutter, grading and graveling of S. Walden avenue between E. Fremont and E. Calumet.

Ald. Donald Mueller asked

Committee Asked To Solve Viaduct Sidewalk Trouble

The public safety committee ought to make a recommendation on how to protect pedestrians at the E. Wisconsin avenue viaduct, Ald. Roy Pointer said Wednesday night.

Pointer said he wouldn't feel bad if the committee took the initiative and he wasn't trying to be difficult in repeatedly seeking improvements at the viaduct.

The alderman's comments resulted from the committee's refusal to back a plan for a pedestrian bypass of the viaduct.

"Ald. Ogilvie and myself asked first for a protective screen for pedestrians on the north side of the avenue," said Pointer. "All that's there now is a dust control coat. It's no sidewalk. Then I asked for sidewalk. Now, this plan is denied."

Public safety committee members denied the latest plan on grounds it would route children to the railroad trestle level, a condition they considered of greater hazard than the existing condition.

for sidewalk construction on the west side of N. Meade street between E. Byrd and E. Pershing streets.

Madison Plat
Raymond A. McClone, builder, and Dr. William Madson asked for sewer, water, grading, graveling and extension of S. Gladys street south of E. Harding street in the proposed Madison plat.

Eighteen petitioners asked for curb, gutter and a 12-inch asphalt mat on E. Lindbergh street between N. Meade and N. Viola streets.

Nick, Roy J. and Leo J. Greisbach requested sanitary, sewer, water main, grading and graveling on:

N. Gillett street from W. Taylor street north about 389.5 feet.

N. Nicholas street from the north end of the street to the north city limits.

N. Douglas street from W. Brewster street to the north city limits.

The Greisbachs also asked for grading and graveling of W. Brewster street from N. Douglas street west about 153.6 feet.

Council Passes Ordinance to Let Railroad Block Street Half Hour

An ordinance which would permit the Chicago and North Western Railway company to block the W. Second street crossing up to 30 minutes was passed for the first time Wednesday by the city council.

The railroad sought the ordinance before announcing plans to move its passenger depot facilities from its downtown station to the Appleton Junction station, 1607 W. Second street.

Public safety welfare and recreation (ordinance) committee members endorsed the move because it would mean an end to lengthy blocking of the 1-way streets at the downtown depot between N. Oneida and N. Appleton streets.

W. Second, committee members said, is out-of-the-way and will not inconvenience large numbers of motorists as blocking of the 1-way pair did.

Railroad officials this morning said they still are unable to announce a date when the passenger facilities will be moved. In the meantime, workmen have begun washing walls at the Junction depot, start of an overall improvement project there.

These other ordinances were passed for the last time and will be law upon publication in the Post-Crescent:

1. Changing the name of three streets in the circular Ramien subdivision to Ramien court.

2. Placing a parking ban on the east side of N. State street from W. Washington street to the railroad tracks.

Grades for 42 streets were approved and referred to the welfare and recreation committee for drafting in ordinance form.

Wallace Case
Award totaling $8,023.10 for Lloyd and Doris Wallace and Clarence Crowe were apportioned.

The Wallace's son, Jerry, allegedly died from drinking raw sewage in which there was raw sewage.

Crowe's son, Patrick, allegedly became violently ill from drinking the raw sewage at the same time.

The awards were determined by a circuit court jury after the parents sued the city.

Wage Rates
Wage rates for inclusion in 1958 city contracts, as submitted by the Appleton Building Trades council, were approved. In general, they incorporate a 12-1/2 cent an hour increase in wages over the 1957 schedule.

Because the rates had not been adopted and contractors had been asked to take them into account in bidding, the board of public works has been holding unopened bids on a variety of city contract work.

Prange Company
H. C. Prange company was given permission to use exposed concrete as the finishing surfacing for the proposed Midway street bridge to be built during construction of a new Prange department store. It means the company will be working from an open pit in the street rather than a tunnel.

Shannon Deed
A deed for the Shannon property, N. Green Bay road at Bellaire park, was accepted on behalf of the park board.

The land will be improved along with the park this year and next. It is surrounded by park land. The park board paid $7,500 for the lot.

Marston Property
Purchase of the Marston property, east of the vocational school, for a parking lot was approved. Roy Marston will receive $14,000 cash and his sister, Louise, $2,000 down and the rest of her share in equal annual installments at 4 percent interest. Money will be taken from the parking meter revenue account.

Zone Set
The Relco-LaPlant annexation, east of N. Ballard road and north of the railroad tracks, was rezoned to commercial and light manufacturing district. This was agreed to by annexation petitioners at the time of annexation.

Street Signs
A plan to give scotchlight street marking signs a trial was approved. Of 90 new signs being ordered, 30 will be of the reflective type. They will be placed only on primary streets during the trial.

Buy Equipment
A total of $36,090 in equipment for the street and sanitation departments was purchased.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said the Sherry Motors, Inc., garbage truck bids were accepted because the Ford truck offered provides a shorter turning radius. The rest of the city business was spread among city dealers bidding in an effort to give all a share.

Resting Subdivision
Councilmen approved a cost study for improvement work in the Kesting-Kirk-Laux annexation, at the northeast corner of the city. The engineering department will make the study.

Water Mains
A total of $207,875.53 was ordered paid the water department for mains installed in 1955, 1956 and 1957. Of the total, $149,136.12 is for water mains and water service laterals chargeable to 1957.

Risk Insurance
A final payment of $3,565.45 for workmen's compensation insurance was ordered made to Hardware Mutual Casualty

Church Changes Name to 'First Assembly of God'

Members of Appleton Gospel temple have voted to change the name of their church at Durkee and Harris streets to First Assembly of God.

Although the congregation has been affiliated with the denomination since its inception, it has not been designated in the name.

According to the Rev. H. Redfield Brown, pastor, the congregation has a current Sunday school enrollment of 130. He said this was a representative figure, since the denomination doesn't place emphasis on church membership.

He stated the denomination is a member of the National Association of Evangelicals but does not hold membership in the National Council of Churches.

Fences for Private Swim Pools Urged

Mrs. Stillings Cites Danger to Children; Wants Law Revised

All private swimming pools in the city should be fenced as a safety measure to keep out small children, Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings told the city council Wednesday.

Mayor Robert L. Roemer referred the resolution to the welfare and recreation (or finance) committee, of which Mrs. Stillings is chairman.

After the meeting, Mrs. Stillings explained she has been told that several city residents either have or will have small private pools shortly.

"Any hole in the ground with water in it is a hazard to small children," said Mrs. Stillings. "We do have an ordinance which provides for fencing, but the height limit for the fence is four feet and that's not enough."

She said state law recognizes that children cannot be held responsible in the same way as are adults.

Mrs. Stillings also asked for adoption of an ordinance which will permit city officials to destroy some public records which are valueless under state law. The suggestion also was referred to her committee.

William R. Wenzel, president of Wenzel Brothers, Inc., requested approval for placing sanitary sewer and water main to the Lawrence college music-drama center under construction. The sewer would be extended from N. Drew street and the water main across E. College avenue.

Dr. William Madson resubmitted a tentative Madison plat of land he owns on the south limits east of S. Oneida street. It shows 51 lots around a new system of streets. His previous plat was turned down because of undesirability of the street plan.

Zone Change Sought
William W. Robertson, sales manager of the Steinberg Agency, asked for rezoning of Mrs. George Ashman's property, 206 S. Memorial drive, to local business district. He said plans for the property are not firm.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe asked for a parking ban within 50 feet of the E. South River street and West avenue intersection except for the north side of E. South River.

Ald. Gerald Wagner requested street signs for the N. Alvin, N. Erb and N. Harriman intersections with W. Parkway boulevard.

Ferro Enameling company, Oakland, Calif., asked to be placed on the list of prospective bidders for 3-dimensional street markers and highway signs.

Seek Licenses
William M. Ross, 208 W. Prospect avenue, asked to be named agent for the Appleton Labor Temple association's tavern.

Winston W. Kuehl, Shiocton, requested a sidewalk builder's license.

Joseph F. Haupt, 632 W. McKinley street, Little Chute, Neil Jahnke, 414 W. Fifth street, Richard H. Milback, 208 E. Maple street, Kaukauna, and George Mueller, 312 N. Oneida street, applied for bartender's licenses.

All items were referred to committees for study.

Major Changes Sought in City Street Policy

Alderman Wants Hot Asphalt After Curb, Gutter Work

A 2-point, major revision of the city's street construction policy was asked Wednesday night by Ald.

Pointer
like Oneida, Mason and John streets are primary streets.

2. All residential streets should be surfaced with hot sheet asphalt, or a higher type of surface, after curb and gutter is installed.

Mayor Robert L. Roemer referred the resolution to the street and sanitation committee for study.

Presently, some primary streets are improved with lesser surfaces, such as asphalt over a stone base, and the type of surface on residential streets after curb and gutter work varies with the desires of abutting property owners.

24 'Y' Members Pass Swim Tests

Twenty-four YMCA boys and girls passed swimming tests during February, according to George Goemans, youth program director.

Awarded beginner certificates were Stephen Bates, Gary Bayness, Mark Lowell, Thomas Tonkin, Jon Griffith, Michael Brown, Brian Voecks, Craig Nissen, John Reynolds, Douglas Carnes, James Reynolds, Susan Fraser, Jane Stevenson and Maifa Zupans.

Retailers Say City Should Buy Dump

The Appleton Downtown Retail association Wednesday went on record favoring city purchase of the ravine just north of the W. Washington street water tower.

Members said the site could be developed into a future parking lot, with an understanding that it also would be used for the monthly pig fair.

Part of it also probably will be useful in the proposed westward extension of W. Washington, they said.

Association Sec. Giles Flanagan was instructed to notify Mayor Robert L. Roemer of the suggestions.

Fill Adds to Cost
Ald. Donald Mueller approached the association with the idea, Flanagan said. Purchase of the property has been urged several times in recent years, most recently by Ald. Al H. Stoegbauer.

The ravine currently is being used as a dumping ground. Association members said the city is filling the ravine thereby adding to its ultimate cost.

In other action:

The association set the closing hours for Good Friday as between noon and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Good Friday is April 4.

Association members expressed dissatisfaction with lack of Saturday deliveries by Railway Express. It was explained that Railway Express tried Saturday deliveries for six months and found there was not enough business to warrant the expense.

Salvation Army Plans Annual Meeting

A report on the year's activities by Capt. George Haram and election of officers are on the agenda for the Salvation Army annual dinner meeting. It will be held at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Hotel Appleton.

Teacher to Discuss Year in England

Harold Carlson, a Wilson Junior High school teacher, will discuss his year of teaching in England under an exchange program when the Jefferson school Parent-Teacher association meets at 8 o'clock Monday night. He also will show slides.

Talk of Zones For 160-Acre Addition Begins

Kesting, Kirk, Laux Told to Consult With Highway Commission

The city planning commission Wednesday began discussion of zoning requirements for the Kesting-Kirk-Laux annexation, a 160-acre parcel taken into the city last fall.

Owners proposed a 225-foot-wide commercial strip along Highway 41. It would extend from about N. Meade street to N. Ballard road.

The rest of the land, the owners suggested, should be placed in residential district.

Commissioners questioned the 225-foot-wide commercial strip on the basis that the state highway commission has been requiring a 30-foot-wide service road along the highway until now.

They admitted that construction of a bypass Highway 41 might change the picture and suggested to the owners seek state highway commission approval for the commercial strip plan.

Other Action

The commission approved—and so did the council Wednesday night—the tentative Calmes plat. The plat is north of E. Woodland avenue between N. Meade street and N. Viola street and shows 22 lots. Don and Willard Calmes, owners of the plat, also sought rezoning of part of the land to multiple-family district, but withdrew their request after several property owners objected.

Action on rezoning part of Garvey's Second subdivision was put off when it was discovered the subdivision never was recorded with the county register of deeds after approval early last year.

The Garvey Agency resubmitted the subdivision at the council meeting and it was again referred to the plans commission. State law requires a penalty of at least $100 for failure to record approved subdivisions.

$2,000,000 in Bonds Given Council Okay

A total of $2,000,000 in bonds in various stages of bonding procedure was approved Wednesday night by the city council.

Included are proposed issues of $1,100,000 for the Huntley school construction, $800,000 for the College-to-Candee high level bridge and $300,000 for future sewer work.

The $2,000,000 will push the city's bonded debt total to $8,444,000. And, in the offering is another bond issue to pay for an outdoor swimming pool on the south side.

The $8,444,000 represent 48 per cent of the city's legal limit of $17,602,156.

The Huntley school issue was approved for the last time, the other two issues for the first time.

Bridge and sewer bonds will be offered for sale at the same time, but in separate issues.

Firemen Answer Four Minor Calls

Firemen answered four minor calls Wednesday and today.

Thomas Planner, 317 S. Elm street, reported an overloaded circuit burning out a fuse at his home about 10:30 this morning. The Institute of Paper Chemistry reported a minor fire when old, unknown chemicals were being destroyed about 4:45 Wednesday afternoon at the Institute. Laboratory personnel had the fire out before firemen arrived.

Miss Randall Reuss, 2125 N. Meade street, reported she was accidentally locked from her home about 7:12 this morning. Firemen opened the door. Firemen also report they were called to an unknown address about 7:53 this morning after a child was reported locked in an automobile. The father was nearby, firemen said.

Red Cross Collects $10,000 Toward Goal

The Outagamie county Red Cross chapter, with $10,000 collected, is about one-third of the way toward its $33,055 goal. The fund drive is conducted each March.

A breakdown by divisions shows $9,126 in advance gifts; $45 for business; $65 for residential; $658 in rural areas; and $106 in miscellaneous.

Klitzke Land Turned Down

School Board's Site Committee Cites 3 Reasons

The school board's site committee has turned thumbs down on the Klitzke tract, east of N. Mason street, as a site for a future junior high school.

Franklin C. Jesse, site committee chairman, told the city council Wednesday night the tract is unsuitable for school purposes for three reasons.

1. It's too expensive. (Klitzke offered it at $2,850 an acre).

2. It's poorly located and might create higher pupil transportation costs. (It's east of N. Mason about the point where W. Grant, W. Taylor, W. Glendale and W. Brewster streets leave the city.)

3. The land may be too low.

Two Sites Named

The committee, Jesse said, recommends two sites on the northwest corner, the same two it recommended in a Feb. 5 letter.

One site is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lecker, who offer land at $2,500 an acre. The tract is north of Highway 41 at N. Meade street.

The other site is known as the Hughes property. It includes 50 acres east of N. Richmond street and north of W. Lindbergh street. It is quoted at $4,200 an acre.

Children Hurt as Mother's Car Is Forced Into Bridge

Two children were slightly hurt Wednesday night when a car driven by their mother, Mrs. Marion L. Kuzenski, 216 W. Third street, Kimberly, hit the edge of the E. John street bridge.

The children, Jane Marie, 10, and Susan Kay, 5, were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by police for treatment of bruises on the head and face.

Mrs. Kuzenski told police she was forced to the side by an oncoming car. She was headed east and hit the southwest corner and flasher light of the bridge.

A car driven by Mrs. Patricia Sengstock, 1002 S. Jefferson is north of Highway 41 at N. Meade street.

The other site is known as the Hughes property. It includes 50 acres east of N. Richmond street and north of W. Lindbergh street. It is quoted at $4,200 an acre.

8 Treasurers Make Payments On 1957 Taxes

County Receives $159,594 on Real, Property Levies

Eight treasurers from Outagamie county communities have paid their county and state shares of 1957 real and property taxes to County Treasurer R. A. Bentz. Their payments represent settlements made Monday and Tuesday.

Twenty-four remaining municipalities will settle their tax share accounts by the middle of March, Bentz said.

The eight treasurers paid Bentz a total of $159,594. The figure includes payments from Cicero, Osborn, village of Combined Locks, Buchanan, Center, village and town of Black Creek, and Vandenberg.

Total Collections
Total collections were $598,799. The treasurers reported $11,907 in delinquent taxes and $8,618 in postponed taxes.

Money collected by the treasurers, but not turned over to the county for state and county shares, is used by the municipalities for running their governments.

Village of Combined Locks Treasurer John Siegel reported a total collection of $107,139, March 10 to 12.

or 99.7 per cent of the taxes. He turned $47,789 over to the county.

Cyril Klister, town of Buchanan treasurer, reported a total collection of $65,387, or 99.4 per cent of the taxes. He paid the county $30,497.

A total of $36,206, or 98.2 per cent of taxes, was collected by John Schumaker, town of Vandenberg treasurer. He paid $15,186 to the county.

Center Taxes
Town of Center Treasurer Alvin Rehmer turned $19,873 over to the county. His total collection was $107,145, or 97.7 per cent of taxes.

Ruben Mielke, town of Osborn treasurer, collected $47,107, or 96.6 per cent of the total. He paid the county $9,283.

Town of Cicero Treasurer Bert Brugger paid $17,059. His total collection was $100,295, or 95.1 per cent complete. Delinquent taxes were reported at $2,632. Postponed taxes amounted to $2,395.

Bentz received $11,079 from Harry Krueger, town of Black Creek treasurer. Krueger collected $69,149, or 52.9 per cent complete. He reported $3,873 in delinquent taxes and $1,430 in postponed taxes.

Elaine Brandt, village of Black Creek treasurer, paid the county $8,828. Her total collection was $57,391, or 91.9 per cent of the taxes. The village had $1,383 in delinquent taxes and $3,620 in postponed taxes.

Army Reserve Unit Honors 15 Recruits

Fifteen recruits of the 808th tank battalion army reserve were honored this week on completion of their training cycle, according to Lt. Joseph Bergomi, officer-in-charge.

Appleton graduates were Gary Eisch, Kenneth Hietpas, Lyle Manley, Robert Paltzer, Jr., Andrew Schuh, Charles Shaefer, Roger Seifert and Daniel Smudde.

Others honored were Merle Jacobson, Kaukauna, Brian Marks and Philip Marks, both of Black Creek, Donald Parker and Norman Yogerst, both of Hortonville and Norman Powers and Ruben Young, both of Shiocton.

Drill sergeant was Sgt. James Zimmer, Appleton.

Dry Milk Gaining Buyer Approval

Washington — Dry milk is finding growing acceptance among American consumers.

Reporting this, the agriculture department said the production of non-fat dry milk has increased for 20 consecutive months. Output in January was up 9 per cent from a year earlier.

But evaporated and condensed milk appear to be losing ground, the agency said. Production of these dairy products in January was the smallest for the month since 1939. Officials said some of the reduction in production apparently reflected moves of processors to reduce stocks before new and lower dairy price supports go into effect April 1.

Collegians to Discuss Policies

Lawrence Will be Host to Delegates To Government Parley

Two dozen young people representing student government groups in the Midwest conference will converge on the Lawrence college campus this weekend for a conference at which the Lawrence student executive committee is host.

Four representatives each from Carleton, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Monmouth, Ripon and St. Olaf will arrive late Friday afternoon for registration at Memorial union and a tour of the Lawrence campus. Dinner at Colman hall and attendance at the all-Greek sing will precede a 9:30 address by a representative from the National Student Association.

Discussion groups will occupy Saturday morning. Topics under consideration are the establishment of a conference sportsmanship trophy, the coordination of student activities by its student government, and methods of reporting and promoting student government activities.

After lunch at Colman hall, the group will split up into separate meetings for student presidents, student treasurers and women's association officers. A general business meeting late in the afternoon, dinner at Russell Sage hall, and a social evening will complete the schedule. Joe Dunbeck, Winnetka, Ill., former president of the Lawrence student group, is chairman of the conference. His committee consists of Sara Steele, LaCrosse; Jeanne Begalke, Wheaton, Ill.; Dorothea Binhammer, Watertown; Nathan Pusey, Jr., Cambridge, Mass.; David Smith, Milwaukee; John Owen, Neenah; Carl Gobel, Milwaukee; and William MacArthur, Wauwatosa, newly elected president.

Comes out striped—for sweeter breath, brighter smiles

Hexachlorophene deodorizes. Fresh minty taste makes brushing fun for everyone

New toothpaste with magic pink stripes

STRIPE with HEXACHLOROPHENE kills bad breath and decay germs better than any leading toothpaste... better than any leading mouthwash... even better than using both!

Yes, STRIPE* actually comes out striped! Those stripes tell you STRIPE is double magic.

First, it's the only toothpaste to bring you Hexachlorophene, the famous germ-killer so widely accepted by the medical profession.

Second, it has the finest cleanser known.

Protects hours longer than any other toothpaste

One brushing with STRIPE will protect you against the cause of decay and mouth odor hours longer than any other toothpaste you can buy. For most people STRIPE gives protection against bad breath all day long and even hours longer.

STRIPE with Hexachlorophene is better for your family because it seeks out and destroys millions of bad breath and decay germs every other leading toothpaste and mouthwash leave in the mouth. Tests show STRIPE kills more bad breath and decay germs than any other leading toothpaste plus a mouthwash!

Now STRIPE works

First, STRIPE's cleanser—proved in tests at a major university to be the most effective known—destroys, by removing, all the germs any toothpaste possibly can. Then it goes a big step further. STRIPE with Hexachlorophene keeps on protecting as no other toothpaste can—by continuing to kill literally millions more bad breath and decay germs. Safe even for children under six. 100% sugar-free. Get STRIPE toothpaste soon. Economy size, 69¢. Giant size, 53¢. Large size, 31¢.

Guarantee: The performance and quality of STRIPE Toothpaste is unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company. Purchase price refunded if not satisfied.

Young Miss Claims Column Has Poisoned Her Against Marriage

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 18 who has been reading your column a long time.

You've just about poisoned my mind against marriage to the point where I'm actually afraid to consider it.

Almost every day in your column you print a letter from a woman whose husband beats her, won't give her any money, or is running around with his secretary or the lady next door.

Why in the world don't you ever print a letter from a woman who is happily married? It would be refreshing. One gets the impression from you, that marriage is just a legalized cat-and-dog fight.

Is it possible that you, personally don't think very highly of marriage, which is why you put it in the worst possible light? How about it? — FRAIDY CAT

It's not true that I don't think highly of marriage. We've had it right in our own family.

The reason you read about so many unhappy marriages in this column is because this is a PROBLEM COLUMN — get it?

DEAR ANN: The advice you gave that girl who had a child out of wedlock and wanted to get married in a white satin gown and veil, really stunk.

Just because the poor kid made a mistake is no reason for her to be branded as "bad" for the rest of her life, is it? What's wrong with a big wedding and doing it up in style if she wants to? Who are you to look down your nose at a human mistake, and spoil a young maiden's dream?

I hope this girl ignores your lousy advice and has the romantic wedding she's always wanted. I hope she wears white satin and carries orange blossoms. And I hope she gets her picture on the society page. — WILLING TO FORGIVE

Dear Willing: A girl who has experienced motherhood no longer rates the title of "young maiden" — so never mind about "spoiling her dream". This kid should have awakened to reality a long time ago. And I think you ought to quit dreaming, too.

A girl who's had a baby out of wedlock merely sets herself up as an object of ridicule when she poses as a symbol of purity. I don't say she shouldn't be forgiven, but for heaven's sake, why focus the spotlight on an event as tardy as this?

DEAR ANN: A year ago I started to write to a fellow stationed in Japan. He was in the same outfit with my cousin, and I got interested in him when I saw a bunch of snapshots my cousin sent home.

We've both had troubles and this made us feel we had a lot in common. His wife left him, and my husband was killed in a logging accident. I have two small children.

This fellow (I'll call him Tony) returned to the States last month. He took a bus to the small town where I live and we met for the first time. It was awkward for both of us because my family was sitting around and he felt uncomfortable.

The next day when we were alone, it didn't go very well. We couldn't think of much to talk about. I haven't heard from him since he left town, and I'm wondering if I should contact him and offer to visit him in his home town. He's out of the service now, and ready to settle down. I'm sure we could hit it off better if I could see him without my relatives hanging around. — MYRTLE

Quit making excuses, Myrtle. The dream built up in the letters fell flatter than yesterday's omelet. If your soldier-friend liked what he saw, you wouldn't be looking for him, he'd be with you.

The mail-order romance was a flop, so admit it. If he should have a change of heart and decide to try for more favorable circumstances you'll hear from him.

Hanging Back Rest Styles Bed

Here's another way to style the bed that makes the room most attractive when it doesn't look too much like a bed. Give it a back rest that hangs on the wall from a curtain rod.

Foam rubber by the yard has the square cornered trimness the back rest needs. Cover it with the upholstery fabric that makes the simple tailored cover on the bed, and give the back rest cover upholstery weightings for a fine finish. To suspend the back rest, wide self-fabric loops stitched into a seam. A sturdy rod is required, and it can be supported by extra brackets between the two at the ends. Add a variety of pillows of differing degrees of firmness so combinations of them behind the back can add up to exactly the support and softness that give the most comfort.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

The suit-preference signal has become standard operating procedure with every partnership of reasonable experience, but there are facts of this device that are still not understood by many. Let's look at a deal from a team-of-four contest:

East, dealer.

H-K Q
D-A K Q J 2
C-8 5

WEST EAST

D-9 D-7 5 4 3
C-A 10 9 8 7 4 2 C-Q J

SOUTH

H-J 9 5
C-K 3

The bidding was the same at both tables, namely:

East South West North
Pass Pass 3 C D'bles
Pass 3 S Pass 4 S
Pass Pass Pass

The opening lead was also the same, the singleton diamond, but from then on the similarity disappeared. At the first table the diamond deuce was played from dummy, East played the three, and declarer won with the ten. A low spade was led; West went up with the ace, cashed the club ace, and when his partner followed suit with the jack, West huddled for a full minute before making another play. His problem is obvious: Should he lead another club, hoping to find his partner with the original holding of K-J, or should he shift to hearts, hoping that East had the ace? In either case East could then give West a diamond ruff for the setting trick. Unfortunately, West decided to

Wrong to Note Hair On Collar

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day my employer came over to my desk to discuss something with me. As I stood talking to him I noticed a hair on the collar of his jacket. I reached over and picked it off, thinking that I was doing him a kindness as he is a meticulous person. However, he seemed rather embarrassed at my doing this and I have been wondering ever since whether I was wrong. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: Had you noticed a trace of fresh paint on his sleeve you would have properly called it to his attention and offered to remove it with a little cleaning fluid, but it would have been better not to have done anything to show you were aware of the hair on his collar.

No Note Needed

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's employer gave him two tickets to a concert, which he could not use. This was a real treat to me and I had a wonderful evening. My husband thinks I should write a note of thanks to his employer for having given us the tickets. I will be glad to do so if you think it is necessary.

Answer: Taking it for granted that your husband thanked him when he handed him the tickets, that is all that is necessary. If he had sent them to you with a note, then you would write and thank him. Of course, if you have occasion to talk to him on the telephone you would certainly tell him how much you enjoyed the concert.

Too Soon

Dear Mrs. Post: How soon after her engagement is announced, is it proper for a young woman's friends to give showers and other parties in her honor? The friend I refer to particularly is not being married for almost a year, and some of us feel that it is as yet too soon to start giving parties for her.

Answer: A year is much too soon to start giving parties. When the wedding date has been set, her friends start giving parties for her.

Appleton Jaycee Safety Contest Closes March 15

March 15 is the deadline for the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce safety drawing contest, Robert Knapp, contest chairman, reminded Appleton residents today.

A $50 merchandise certificate will be awarded to the top drawing of a character to represent safety, he stated.

Entries should be drawn on 8½ by 11-inch paper. They should be addressed to the Mr. Jaycee art contest, Box 483, Appleton.

New Bird Species Found in Wisconsin

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Green Bay — On May 14 last year a Madison doctor took time out from hospital duties for a quick tour of Vilas park in that city to see what birds might be about.

He was planning to concentrate on migrating warblers, but as he stepped out of his car he heard what he described as a "rollicking song." He found the singer — a deep blue, almost purple bird, with brown wings and tan wing bars.

The bird, a little larger than a sparrow, had a stout, sharp-pointed bill. The mate, a brownish bird, also was seen. Dr. John Brenner identified them as a pair of blue grosbeaks, whose normal breeding range is in the southern half of this country.

An American avocet, a large sandpiper which lives near the "potholes" of western prairies, was seen last April 28 in the Peshtigo Harbor area by a group of bird students from the Marinette - Menominee Bird club. Other western species seen in Wisconsin in recent years are the Baird's sparrow, mountain bluebird, western tanager, scissor-tailed flycatcher, lark bunting, magpie, and the green-tailed towhee.

Birds which belong in areas far to the north, south, east or west of us are being reported as occurring in Wisconsin by reliable state bird students. Most of the species mentioned above, and many more, have been seen at various times in different parts of the state by different bird watchers.

Records Are Published
Accounts of these sight records have been published in the magazine of the Wisconsin Society for Ornithology, "The Passenger Pigeon." Unusual birds for our area have been found nesting in Wisconsin too, the yellow-crowned night heron at Racine; Bell's vireo in Madison, and the blue-gray gnatcatcher in Oconto county.

Twenty years ago if any of us birders had reported any of these observations to a recognized ornithologist, we would have been met by a raised eyebrow.

Now such records are accepted—not lightly, of course—the bird watcher must be known as a careful observer, and not over-eager to "see" new birds. But we no longer need fear the word "Impossible!" when reporting an unusual bird.

Although the WSO magazine reports the unusual records obtained by reliable birders, the new or rare species are not included in the state check list of birds until a specimen has been obtained. A specimen is a bird in the hand, one which has been caught or shot and can be examined so closely that there can be no mistake about its identity.

Seen Years Ago
A single sight record too can be doubted, but when several come from various parts of the state and from different people, it is more apt to be believed. About 10 years ago or so Ed Paulson of Green Bay saw a bird in the town of Scott, Brown county, which, according to his bird book, could be nothing else but a blue grosbeak. He sent the record to the bird magazine, but it wasn't accepted. If he saw one now, it would be.

Almost 20 years ago, when the WSO was first organized and began publishing its magazine, I sent in records of seeing the Connecticut warbler through the summers in Brown county. My record was doubted because only migrating birds of this species had ever been seen in Wisconsin. A few years later someone found nests of this warbler in northern Wisconsin.

Many more such instances could be given by birders all over the state. This makes us wonder whether birds are really invading the state from all directions, as summer or winter residents, migrants, wanderers or in some other status? Or has this always been so, and we are only discovering it now?

Dr. Knight Will Address Forum

Dr. Douglas M. Knight, president of Lawrence college, will discuss moral and religious aspects of business at a meeting of the YMCA business and industry forum at 6:15 tonight.

The program is the last in the 1958 forum series.

Birding is becoming a more and more popular hobby each year, and there are more and better birders in the state now than there were 20 years ago. We've got better "tools" to work with too—many wonderful bird books, field glasses, guides to the hobby, bird recordings, and a state society through which we can keep informed on what's doing. All this is a help in getting a truer picture of bird life in the state. Birds may be extending their ranges, but I think better bird watching accounts for most of the unusual records.

Our Children

Take Refusals of Food Calmly, Advises Patri

BY ANGELO PATRI

Mothers who have a food fusser are certainly beset by trouble that is not easily overcome. One comfort they can always have is that time is on their side and this fussing child who turns from his carefully prepared food will some day start to eat like any other human child.

Occasionally a child will insist upon eating only one food, meat, for example. No vegetable will pass his lips and any attempt to force the food only makes a bad matter worse. The doctor is likely to say that there is nothing wrong with him and to keep offering the food. That is about all one can do. Let him eat his meat and leave his carrots, but keep offering them and keep eating them before him, talking to each other about how good they are, but saying nothing to him about his refusal of them. One day he will make a mistake and eat them.

The children of junior high school age often refuse breakfast. When they do so it is best not to force the matter. In my experience they do not refuse breakfast faddishly but because they feel they cannot get it down. They have no appetite for it and they do have a strong feeling against it even nausea. Better say nothing and let them go breakfastless. Usually, these young ones are ravenously hungry at lunchtime and eat the school luncheon with hearty appetite.

After-School Snack

It is a good idea to have a sandwich, or a doughnut, a cookie plate ready for an after-school snack. If the children are allowed to bring along a chum to enjoy this they will be likely to come home directly from school and enjoy eating this treat accompanied by a glass of milk—not pop, please. This sharing a snack with a friend can lead to preparing it. That is likely to awaken a child's interest in food and its quality. One mother said to her two junior highs, "If you want to bring friends in after school you'll have to help get ready for them. You can make cookies; you can get the dough set for doughnuts. I'll have time to fry them for you. You can make the sandwiches and keep them in the refrigerator. Then I won't have to hurry so much before getting supper for the family."

There's nothing like a cooking party to waken interest in food and its serving. Try one occasionally.

Still Hoping

Harold Stassen, writing for the New York Times, insists that a disarmament agreement on a 2-year trial basis with the "suspension of nuclear explosions under a rigid reciprocal system of inspection can be negotiated within the next six to nine months" between the United States and the USSR.

Stassen, who recently resigned from his specially-created post of secretary of disarmament, outlines four steps toward this goal. First, "the establishment of a special agency of the United Nations with the responsibility of inspecting and assuring fulfillment of the steps agreed upon"; second, "the installation of necessary inspection posts inside the territories of the Soviet Union and the United States equipped with scientific instruments designed to verify the ending of nuclear test explosions"; third, an agreement by the U. S. and Russia not to conduct any nuclear explosions for two years; and fourth, the creation of a "negotiating group" to work toward further disarmament plans.

Involved as we are in a frightening race for nuclear preeminence in the world, we cannot help but applaud Stassen for continuing to hold out a light of hope. But, as usual, his reasonableness ignores the facts. What has he been doing the past couple of years but try to negotiate exactly such a deal? The United States cannot agree to halt nuclear tests until a system of inspection is arranged; the Soviet Union insists that the agreement be reached first. There has been no sign of compromise.

Moreover, now the whole idea begins to sound implausible. Suppose such a 2-year plan were reached. What is to prevent the Soviet Union from moving its equipment into Red China, for instance, where certainly no inspection would be permitted? What is to prevent the always impulsive French from trying out a nuclear test on their own? And what do we do when the scientific instruments in Russia reveal that they are conducting nuclear experiments despite their wide-eyed protestations of innocence? How long before the instruments in the hands of Russians in this country would suddenly purport to show explosions in the Pacific?

There is no hope for disarmament until the Soviet Union no longer wants to rule the world. And that looks like a long wait.

The Arabs Unite

The creation of two new Moslem entities, the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria and the Arab Federation of Iraq and Jordan, may seem to bring to sharper sword's points two antagonistic groups. The United Republic is subsidized in part by the Soviet Union and still mouths the Red line about western imperialism. The Federation gets considerably more assistance from the West and has ties with the Baghdad pact.

But actually the member countries complement each other in such a way that some of the nagging problems which have made the Middle East a tinder box might now be solved. If the leaders can forget their hatred of Israel and turn to promoting the real economic growth of their peoples, the new federations might serve as blocks to Russian aspirations in the Middle East and Africa.

Gamal Nasser, head of the United Arab Republic, had his charges of imperialism refuted by the Sudanese last week and he may discover it harder to sell the fight against colonialism as a rallying point after his own attempt for a grab in the Sudan. Nasser is an opportunist with no desire to let in the Russians except to assist him toward leadership of the Arab world. There have been signs that he is learning that his power and prestige depend on economic advances for his people. The example of Israel in using modern methods to gain a good living from the desert is one reason why hatred of that state has been kept alive by the Arab leaders.

Syria has room for some of Egypt's surplus population. As a traditional enemy of Turkey, Syria had to give up any idea of union with Iraq since the latter is allied with Turkey through the Baghdad pact. But Iraq pipelines run through Syria while Iraq is pledged to assist Turkey in case of any trouble. The pressures balance each other if they are kept under control.

Political Hay From Segregation

Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, who has claimed to be working for racial harmony and justice in his state, went ultra-political at a recent Jefferson-Jackson dinner in North Carolina.

The governor bemoaned the "reformers" who weigh "the heavy hand of coercion" on the South. He pleaded for time "to permit us to resolve our sins of racial discrimination, such as they may be, by our own efforts in our own time." He complained about the courts providing "a program of implementation" of the Fourteenth amendment and hoped for national "understanding about the segregation problem and acceptance of a sound states' rights philosophy."

Certainly the South needs all the understanding possible from northerners who are beginning to understand something of the South's racial problems as more and more Negroes come north. But the governor didn't study the history of the men for whom the $50-a-plate dinner was held.

What Others are Saying

Defends Country Against Pay TV

From the New York World-Telegram and Sun

Rep. Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn, chairman of the house judiciary committee, has set himself the task of defending the country against pay TV.

"I want to keep faith with the American people," he says. "It is they who own the air waves."

This appears to us as a lot of sound and fury. The American people also own the air through which travel pay telegrams, pay telephone calls and pay airplane passengers. They own the rivers with their pay towboats, the avenues with their pay street cars.

We haven't the least idea whether the American people want pay TV to use their air waves but there's a good way to find out. The Federal Communications commission has the right idea in suggesting a test period. That would let the promoters risk their money and try it. If the people didn't want it, they wouldn't buy it and that would be the end of that argument, and of pay TV.

Basically the opposition to pay TV is an effort to limit competition in the amusement field by political means. On comparable theory we should have forbidden radio because it might hurt movies and newspapers, TV because it hurt movies and radio, airplanes because they hurt railroads, and autos because they ruined the buggy business. That's no way to run a free country.

'Finishing Touches'

These Days

Hearing Raises Question of Who Makes Decisions on Preparedness

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

Orderly government is the product of long trial and error, resulting in a system which is understood by those who work with it and is generally accepted. Our system is outlined in the constitution, is implemented by acts of congress and the decisions of the courts, particularly the supreme court.

It is an interesting system because it permits the greatest degree of human liberty by deliberately sacrificing the power of the government to rule by fiat, which has usually been the method of rulers. Instead, the constitution established a system of checks and balances so that absolute power is lodged nowhere and in no person. That such a system should have survived so long is remarkable, because the looseness of authority makes for waste and inefficiency. It also gives ample opportunity for political racketeers to abuse the opportunities that are open to them.

War Never Ended
Only in time of war have Americans consented to the application of extraordinary powers by the president. Unfortunately World War II never quite ended. It has continued into what is for convenience called the "cold war," a political extension of a war of balance and attrition. This "cold war," in its current phase, is marked by a contest in the production of new weapons which are themselves novel applications of newly-revealed scientific principles.

There are those who continue to comfort themselves with tales of Russian thefts of American secret formulae, a comfort which true or untrue is now of no political significance. The fact is that Soviet Russia, if not absolutely equal to us in this field, is not far behind. Should it be proved, as it well might be, that Russian submarines off the coast of Florida caused American sputniks to fail, it can only be that they already have a device of defense against rockets and missiles, and therefore are ahead of us.

If the Russians get far ahead of us in this field, it will be argued that we must change our system of government, as some now want us to change our system of education to meet the enemy. In a word, there will be those who will attribute our failure, should we fail, to a loose system of government in which individual liberty is regarded as more valuable than government efficiency. Already in the time of Franklin D. Roosevelt, because of depression and war, there were those who set the presidency apart as a sacer-dotal office, with the president as sort of a man-god, a deus ex machina that could solve all problems with perfection of wisdom.

Harry Truman was too human for such a conception and it looked as though it might disappear with him, but it returned with Eisenhower, the very Republicans who had criticized Roosevelt as an absolutist, seeking such perfections in Eisenhower. However, no matter how popular the president remained, he could not transfer such popularity to Sherman Adams and Jim Hagerly who look and act very human, indeed, and often exceed constitutional authority.

Question of Authority
In the senate preparedness subcommittee's hearings, the testimony in which I am now engaged in reading, time after time, the question of authority arises. General Twining's outburst in his debate with Senator Symington is most interesting, because therein lies both a criticism and an objective view of our problem.

The issue is a clear one. Congress votes the appropriations. It needs to know what it is voting for. It needs to know whether there is an honest administration of funds voted; whether enough or too much money is voted and what is accomplished thereby. That is constitutionally the function of congress. To this challenge of this function, the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, General Nathan Twining, replied: "... I will give you all the information you want, and the witnesses will give you all the information you want, but you should not bring them back and say, 'is this adequate?' after the decision has been made."

"In the military terminology, a commander makes a decision and if everybody starts bucking it, it is just no good, you have no military."

But who made the decision to question? What the military, the scientists, the experts or the politicians? Was it the bureau of the budget which has no decision-making authority under the constitution? Who ultimately decides such questions? under our system of government, when it is orderly, congress decides.

Teachers' Institute at Appleton

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 8, 1879.

A Teachers' Institute of two weeks' duration, conducted by Prof. J. Q. Emery, will be held in the Second Ward School, Appleton, commencing March 31st.

Hon. William C. Whitford, State Superintendent, and R. Z. Mason, L. L. D., will address the teachers during the institute.

The proprietor of the Northwestern House will entertain teachers during the institute at reduced rates. As many of the teachers would prefer to remain at private homes, those wishing to accommodate them can notify Prof. R. H. Schmidt in regard to the number of teachers they can entertain.

Examinations for teachers will be held in Kaukauna April 14th and 15th; Seymour, April 16th and 17th; Stevensville, April 18th and 19th; the Court House at Appleton, April 21, 22 and 23.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 2, 1933

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, speeding northward with his bride of a week to become attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet, died of a heart attack at 7:10 a.m., that day while aboard an Atlantic Coast Line train. His death was a personal loss for Mrs. S. A. Dalson, Appleton, a niece of the senator.

Mrs. Helene Prather of the public relief department was to attend a meeting of the Wisconsin Council of Social Workers in Milwaukee.

The warm weather of the past few days led a few optimistic householders to make plans for taking down storm windows and putting up screens.

Notice was received by Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus, from the Wisconsin State Council, announcing that Martin H. Carmody, Supreme Knight of the Order, was to be the guest of Knights of Columbus of Wisconsin at an open meeting Thursday night at the club house of the Milwaukee council.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 4, 1948

Miss Mary Mullen, Appleton, was appointed a member of the committee for the annual junior prom at Marquette university, Milwaukee. Miss Mullen was a junior in the school of nursing.

Joseph Kox, city treasurer, was authorized to set up a special fund to receive contributions for a veterans memorial.

High Return on Can of Oysters

Buckner, Ark. —(AP)— Mrs. Jack Hensley bought a can of oysters and prepared them as a birthday treat for her husband. As they were eating the oysters, Mrs. Hensley bit on something hard and removed a pearl from her mouth. A jeweler appraised its value at $200.

Under the Capital Dome

State's Congressmen In Office Long Time

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—At a time when all of the state's representatives in congress are planning campaigns for reelection — with or without benefit of acknowledgment to date — it may be relevant to observe that several of them are accumulating respectable records of tenure in their jobs.

The late Rep. Smith of Racine, who died a few weeks ago, was the dean of the Wisconsin delegation in the house of representatives with respect to consecutive service, with about 17 years.

But Rep. Withrow of LaCrosse, now rounding out his 18th year in the house, is the senior member in total service. His problem is that his service was interrupted, and thus his rank is counted only for his last five consecutive terms. Rep. Alvin O'Konski of Mercer is in his sixteenth year, and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay is in his seventh term, or 14th year.

THE HISTORY

Such records are comparatively good ones. Membership in the house of representatives tends to turn over rapidly, and especially in the states of the northern and western parts of the country.

But they are not yet pacesetters in Wisconsin history. A handful of past masters at the art of vote-getting have superior records. There was, for example, the all-time champion among Wisconsin representatives in the national legislature, Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, who served for a total of 36 years, in two separate periods. It may be doubted that any Wisconsin representative, even taking into account the fair security of the leaders among Wisconsin's present delegation, will ever overtake that triumph. There also was John J. Esch, who had 22 years, and James A. Frear, who managed the same number.

The late Merlin Hull had 20 years, and several members who served the state in the past had from 15 to 20. The Library of Congress which provides a number of generally unknown services for members of the congress, has prepared a tabulation of Wisconsin congressional tenure.

The list of the dozens of members Wisconsin has sent to the congress over more than a century of its history, moreover, suggests how difficult it is for a member to make a lasting place in the history of politics. Only a few of the names would be remembered today, even among those who make some pretense of studying state and national affairs and the history of government.

THE OBSCURE NAMES

Such names as David Atwood, Victor L. Berger, Gabe Bouck, Orasmus Cole, James Duane Doty, Nils P. Haugen and Burr W. Jones, of representative delegations through a century, may indeed be remembered by diligent students of Wisconsin public affairs.

But mostly they are remembered for other things than the circumstance that they also served in the house of representatives during their life-times.

Thus also with such names as Robert M. LaFollette Sr., Irvine L. Lenroot, Alexander Mitchell, Theobald Otjen, Jeremiah Rusk, Philletus Sawyer, Isaac Stephenson. They had a secure place in the history of their times before they were chosen; some of them went on to higher things after their congressional apprenticeship.

The congress study also suggests something else about Wisconsin members of the house of representatives over the years: few of them have risen to real rank and power in the national legislature. Comparatively few of them got committee chairmanships of any kind, only a handful chaired really important committees in a legislative organization which functions by way of committee. And no recent Wisconsin representative, moreover, has risen to a rank in his house comparable to that attained in 20 years by Sen. Alexander Wiley in the other chamber of the congress.

Secy. Benson says his farm will help Republicans in the campaign. Any Republican running for retirement will have it made.

Spring is almost here. Judging by the amount the average suburbanite spends preparing his yard, he must think trees grow on money.

Democrats say the F. C. C. is a disgrace. In the days when they used to run it, a fellow had to be licensed to peddle influence.

Cardboard Picnic Plates
Turn Into Handsome Servers

BY CAPPY DICK

As a gift for mother, make her a set of decorated paper plates on which she can serve cookies to you and your pals.

At the outset, the plates are just cardboard picnic plates. But when you have decorated plates can be used over and over again.

Out of brightly colored paper, cut a disc that is the exact size of the flat center of the plate. Fold this disc in half (see dotted line in Figure 1,) producing the half-disc in Figure 2. Fold it a second time to create it into quarter sections, then a third time to create it into eighths (Figure 3).

With scissors, cut a design in the paper, being careful not to cut through the single heavy fold that is at one side. Figure 4 shows how to do it. When the cutting has been finished, unfold the paper and you'll see you have created an attractive design.

Cover the flat center of the plate with a thin coat of paste. Carefully lay the cut-out design on it (Figure 5). With a clean cloth, press the design tightly to the plate, being sure to leave no wrinkles or loose edges. Wipe off the excess paste.

When the paste has dried, brush clear shellac over the plate, design and all. Let the shellac dry, then apply a second coat to make the surface shiny. When one plate has been completed, start making another until you have prepared a set of six.

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED:

Avoid saying, "There were only four people present." Say, "persons," when referring to a small number. "The streets were full of people" is correct. OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Sapient (wise). Pronounce sapient, with accent on first syllable.

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Pill Cure for Drinking Habit Has One Glaring Weakness

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a very serious problem and hope you can help me. My husband doesn't touch beer sometimes for two weeks, but when he does, he drinks it all day."

"He took pills for 2 1/2 years and didn't drink. He was a man. Then he started — he'd put the pill in his mouth and go to the bathroom and spit it out. He was cheating."

"It's getting now so I've got lost weekends with him. Is there a liquid that can be taken instead of the pills for such a stinker? I've begged him to join the AA's but he won't hear of it. — Mrs. D.M."

Drinking is a widespread problem. The pills are a drug that makes a person sick when he drinks alcohol in any form.

The fatal weakness of this drug is exactly the sort of thing you discovered. As long as a man or woman takes it, it is impossible to drink without getting miserably sick. But there isn't anything you can do to make the person keep on taking it. Booze-hounds usually are smart people. Don't ask me why, because my answer would be long and complicated although (I believe) entirely logical. No matter whether you give the drug in pill or in liquid form, a person who is sternly devoted to getting drunk will find some way of not taking it.

Victory Needed
I wish you wouldn't refer to your weekend alcoholic husband as a "stinker." I admit that a conscientious alcohol-hound seems to be a thorough stinker while he is still bottle-happy, but I've known so many alcoholics who turned out to be mighty nice people by themselves (by that I mean without alcohol in them) that I'm convinced it is the drinking and not the person that is the stinker.

Don't reply on drugs, unless the drinker himself wants them. The real victory comes in the moment at which the drinker really wants to stop drinking.

By all means keep hoping that your husband will turn to Alcoholics Anonymous, or to an alcoholism clinic if he prefers, and be ready to help him any time he is ready to start.

An alcoholic needs all the help he can get in the way of sympathy and understanding—but he himself must have the will to try.

State Farm Income Up, USDA Says

Washington—(U)—The average net income of Wisconsin farm operators last year was $2,707, up 6 per cent over 1956. The figures are contained in an agriculture department farm income report.

The department said the national average net income last year was $2,374, down about 2.5 per cent from the 1956 figure of $2,432. The decrease in net income, that available for spending, occurred despite an increase of about 6.8 per cent in the national average total farm income.

On the whole, livestock producers fared better last year than crop producers.

According to the report, Indiana showed an average net income of $2,504, up 2 per cent over 1956. Other upper mid-west states showed declines or no change.

Illinois' 1957 average was $3,486, down 4 per cent. Iowa had $3,683, down 1 per cent. Michigan and Minnesota had no significant change. Michigan's 1957 average net income was $1,994, while Minnesota had $2,843.

What Young People Think

Rock 'n' Roll Still Shows Growth, Teenagers Don't Want It to Fade

BY EUGENE GILBERT

Say, Mom and Dad, maybe you'd better get those artillery-type ear-plugs after all. This rock 'n' roll racket is going to be around quite a while.

How long?

Well, a year ago when many observers were predicting that the frantic wall of the rhythm and blues artists would soon disappear from the land, our poll accurately predicted that rock 'n' roll was far from dead or dying.

At that time, only 10 per cent of the girls and 6 per cent thought it would fail to survive into 1958. A maddening majority wished it long life and continuing success.

This year, rock 'n' roll gets an even larger vote of youthful confidence. Only 3 per cent in a sampling of about 500 boys and girls predict an early demise for this musical mahem.

The rest—prepare yourself for an acoustical shock—figure it will last at least five years, maybe more.

Instead of dying out, rock 'n' roll is making further inroads on the musical field.

One major record company figures teenagers now account for 90 per cent of all single, (78 or 45 speed record) sales and almost 50 per cent of all long playing (33 1-3) record albums.

The result is that more and more rock 'n' roll artists are signing contracts with major companies for long playing—and in some cases—multiple-record albums.

Instead of three minutes of sustained blues shouting, parents of hep teenagers will now be exposed to 20 minutes or more, and Dad may have to get in line to use his hi-fi set.

Parents who hoped rock 'n' roll would be carted off to the musical bone-yard by the time their small fry reached junior high or high school are also in for disappointment.

Our current survey showed many of them have younger brothers and sisters, five, six and seven-years-old, who already have caught the beat and think rock 'n' roll is "the most."

New Generation

A new generation of foot stamping, hand clapping rock 'n' roll addicts is in the making, but whether their enthusiasm will survive or be captivated by some new trend remains to be seen.

Note that we used the word "trend" rather than "fad."

From the start, based on various opinion surveys, we were convinced that rock 'n' roll was more than a fad, like Davy Crockett or Algonquin haircuts. The figures, echoing the majority, showed a definite trend toward this 2-beat rhythm among the young music buying public.

Even now, however, this does not mean that all teenagers like rock 'n' roll music or prefer it to the exclusion of all other types of musical entertainment.

The fact that 95 per cent figure it will last five years or more does not mean that the same number are permanently enamored of it.

Can Let It Lie

Actually, only 60 per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls could be classed as die-hard rock 'n' rollers. The rest either like it "occasionally" or dislike it intensely.

What sort of teenagers comprise the real rock 'n' roll cheering section?

"Definitely the sideburns, black leather jacket, prune picker type," says a 17-year-old Alabama boy.

"No," insists a 16-year-old New Jersey girl. "Bright kids, stupid kids, rocks and goodie-goodies all like it. It appeals to very responsible teen-agers as

Catholic Men Schedule Joint Recollection Day

Holy Name societies of St. Therese and St. Pius X parishes will hold a joint day of recollection Sunday under direction of the Rev. Sylvester Borusky, Holy Name director of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay.

Participants will receive communion at the 7:30 morning mass at St. Therese church, after which Father Borusky will speak during a breakfast.

Conferences have been scheduled for 9:30 and 11:15 in the morning and again at 1:30 in the afternoon. A holy hour will begin at 2:35 and sessions are expected to be concluded by 3:30.

A question box session at 10:15 in the morning also is planned.

well as the undesirable element."

"Mainly," says a 17-year-old Frankfurt, N. Y., girl, "it attracts those who like to get up and make fools out of themselves."

Adds a 15-year-old Kansas City boy, "the only ones who don't like it are the sentimental slob."

Dislike Lyrics

While few parents relish the raucous sounds of rock 'n' roll, most of them object more to the words than the music. There have been continuing complaints that besides the basic savagery of its two beat rhythm, rock 'n' roll lyrics cater to the baser instincts by suggestion, double entendre and little concealed "blue meanings."

How do teenagers feel about this?

The majority never thinks about it at all. Seventy-three per cent of them claim they never listen to the words or, if they do, have never come across any double meanings.

But 24 per cent of the boys and 30 per cent of the girls—or about three out of every 10—think that the time has come to clean up rock 'n' roll songs and do away with off color lyrics.

Speaking for the feminine camp, 17-year-old Rhonda Levy of Syracuse, N. Y., says she solves the problem of questionable rock 'n' roll lyrics by "never buying records without first listening to them in the store. I don't want that kind of stuff around our house."

PSC Authorizes Three Applicants to Improve Lakes for Recreation

Madison —(AP)— Wisconsin's Public Service commission authorized three applicants Tuesday to improve lakes for recreational use by laying sand and other material on the lake beds.

Slovak Sokol Camp, Inc., plans to improve the bed of part of Potters lake in Walworth County. E. C. Sternkopf, Oconomowoc, intends similar work on Oconomowoc lake in Waukesha county, and Glenn Hesslink, Waterford, has a project for Wind lake in Racine county.

A commission hearing was scheduled at Marion March 20 on the Waupaca county conservation committee's application for determination of water levels in Kenney Lake. The committee said it wants to build a dam at the outlet of the 37-acre lake to help prevent winter kill of fish.

Heart Fund Has $6,700 To Date

Incomplete returns show heart fund receipts at $6,700 so far, an increase of $315 over the $6,385 total collected last year. The report was made by Allan Mink, general campaigner. The complete tally will be announced in several weeks.

He said returns from Heart

Creative Cookery Pops Up in Economy Meals Round About Tax Time

Spices and herbs used skillfully can lift inexpensive dishes into the glamour class. Especially well-suited to this glorifying role is the herb, bay leaves. Bay leaves, the dried leaves of the sweet bay or laurel tree, are possessed of a distinctive yet delicate, pungency of flavor.

A case in point is Herbed Salmon-Cheese Burgers, guaranteed to elate appetites without deflating the budget. In this dish, salmon, cheese and bread crumbs are mixed with milk and seasoned with instant minced onion, marjoram and parsley flakes. A single finely crumbled bay leaf serves as flavor highlight for a five-portion batch of these herbed burgers, and another bay leaf flavor-punctuates the burgers' crowning glory, spiced tomato gravy.

Among other dishes that take on added charm with a touch of bay leaf are many made with beef, veal or lamb and vegetable soups and casseroles.

Salmon-Cheese Burgers

- 1 pound can pink or red salmon
- 1 cup salmon liquid and milk
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon ground marjoram leaves
- 1 bay leaf, finely crumbled
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
- 5 slices processed American cheese
- 1/3 cup shortening
- Tomato Gravy
- Drain and flake salmon. Mix with next nine ingredients. Shape into 10 3-inch patties 1/2-inch thick.
- Cut cheese slices into 3-inch rounds and place one slice between each of two patties, being sure to press edges together.

Brown on both sides in hot shortening, in a heavy skillet. Serve with Tomato Gravy.

Tomato Gravy

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 10-ounce can (1 1/2 cups) tomato puree
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon powdered dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/16 teaspoon garlic powder
- Dash ground cayenne pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- Melt butter in a saucepan. Add green pepper and saute until limp. Blend in flour. Stir in remaining ingredients and cook five minutes or until medium thick, stirring constantly.
- Serve over Salmon-Cheese Burgers or other fish dishes.
- Tomato Corn Chowder
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup flour

For a Burger Sublime, flavor salmon-cheese burgers with a touch of the pungent, intriguingly flavored herb, bay leaves. Crown the burgers with thick, spiced and herbed tomato gravy.

Jellyfish With Its Tentacles, Umbrella Body Not a True Fish

BY RAMON COFFMAN

Jellyfish rank among the strange forms of animal life. Each of them has a dome-shaped body, often called the umbrella or bell.

A jellyfish has, in addition, a number of tentacles. Sometimes the tentacles are many feet long, but in other cases they are extremely short.

Q. Is a jellyfish a true fish?

A. Despite the name, the jellyfish is far outside the group of true fish. A true fish has a backbone, but a jellyfish is without any kind of bone.

- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup cream style corn (8-ounce can)
- 1/2 or 3/4 B57
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

Paprika for garnish. Combine the first six ingredients in a saucepan. Cover, bring to boiling point and boil 10 minutes. Stir in soda and set aside. In a separate pan, melt butter. Blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk and corn and cook until mixture begins to thicken.

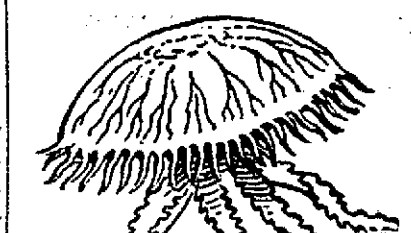

Add tomato mixture and cook five minutes or until slightly thick. Season with salt and ground black pepper.

Serve as main dish soup for luncheon or supper. Garnish each bowl with a dash of paprika.

Neither does it have a shell. The dome is covered by cells which are tough enough in their way. Between the upper and lower layers of cells we find the so-called "jelly."

Q. What service is performed by the tentacles?

A. They help this strange animal to eat. They snare worms and shrimps, also other small forms of animal life, including fish. Sometimes (but not always) the tentacles have stingers. The stings stun a victim so that it becomes easy to handle.

However interesting the stinging tentacles may be, they are dangerous. A large jellyfish can stun a man, and even a small one may cause pain.

Q. If a jellyfish has a stomach, where is it located?

A. There is a very simple stomach, an opening in the lower side of the body. Below the opening is a tube which serves as a mouth.

Q. Does a jellyfish have blood?

A. The body contains nothing which seems to deserve the name of blood. There is movement of the digested food, however, through the jelly around the stomach to the cells which cover the upper and lower sides of the body.

Two Glazes for That Easter Ham

These two simple glazes... Honey Glaze or Orange Glaze... give a ham a dressed-up appearance expected at the Easter dinner table.

Preserves are also used to add variety to the homemaker's repertory of fancy attires for pork loin roasts, leg of lamb, ham and other large cuts.

- Orange Glaze
- 1 cup sieved brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 3 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate

Combine ingredients, stirring until smooth. Remove ham from oven 20 minutes before it has finished cooking. Spread glaze over ham and return to 300-degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes, or until glaze is set.

- Honey Glaze
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 teaspoon orange rind
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine ingredients. Spread over Baked Ham and return to oven until glaze is set, about 15 minutes.

If desired, the ham may be garnished with citron cut in leaf shapes or your favorite design. Dip citron design into water tinted with green food coloring for a few minutes.

Blended Flavor in Nut Spice Cookies

When it comes to spices used in cakes and cookies, the combination of nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves or allspice, when each is used with discretion, gives fine results—regardless of whether white or brown sugar or molasses is used. As you probably have found, certain spices complement each other. None of them is too happy when used alone.

- Nut Spice Cookies
- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves or allspice
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nut meats
- Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt, and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until fluffy. Stir in well-beaten egg.
- Add sifted dry ingredients, to which raisins and nut meats have been added, alternately

Leftover Question

Do not let leftovers puzzle you. For leftover ham, simply dice it and combine the meat with diced green pepper and pimiento. Combine these ingredients with a cheese sauce and serve in a noodle or rice ring.

with the milk, and mix well. Drop by teaspoonsful on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 15 minutes.

The first and only food for dogs who don't get enough exercise!

New Rival is specially made for today's less active dogs. It's low in fat, and highest in protein of all leading brands.

Read what kennel owners say about new Rival Dog Food

"Most dogs today don't exercise enough. That's why we suggest feeding plenty of protein, but not too much fat. The only dog food I know of that's made this way is Rival." Larry Canfield, Pet Ranch Kennels, Chicago.

"Inactive dogs can't burn up excess fat. That's why new Rival is such good nourishment for dogs who don't get enough exercise. It's low in fat, and highest in protein, too." Art Hess of the Hessian Kennels, Cincinnati.

Costa Rican Urges South Americans To Begin Disarming

Washington — (AP) — A spokesman for the only western hemisphere nation without a standing army urged Latin American nations Wednesday to start partial disarmament.

Such a move would give the world "a new example of solidarity," Ambassador Gonzalo J. Facio of Costa Rica told the council of the Organization of American States (OAS).

Calling for formation of a special 7-nation disarmament committee, Facio said: "The Latin American military forces, equipped with conventional arms, would be impotent and even useless in a horrendous world war in which the main combatants would use nuclear arms and intercontinental missiles."

Cream Cheese Cake Topped with pineapple and maraschino cherries is an exciting but easy-to-create finish for a meal. Cut canned pineapple slices into thirds and arrange the pieces around the rim of a cream cheese cake. Red or green cherry halves placed alongside each pineapple section lend tempting touches of color.

Seasoning Important To Spaghetti Sauces

In three tablespoons hot olive oil, saute one-half cup onion rings, one-half cup chopped green pepper and one-fourth cup chopped celery. Add two cups canned tomatoes, one bay leaf, one tablespoon dried parsley flakes, one-half teaspoon basil, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper and one-eighth teaspoon garlic powder.

Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf, mix well, and pour over hot cooked spaghetti.

This makes about two cups of sauce.

Fruits Take to Deep Fat Frying

Banana chunks, orange sections, apple slices, canned sliced pineapple and canned peach halves may all be dipped in fritter batter and deep-fat fried. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve hot as an accompaniment to baked ham or for dessert.

Two AHS Students Take Honors in Mathematics Race

Linda Malmstrom and Karl Brummund received highest scores in the preliminary math examination given to all fourth year mathematics students at Appleton High school. The test was sponsored by the Wisconsin Mathematics association as a preliminary step in the 1958 high school mathematics contest.

The score attained by Miss Malmstrom and Brummund was 88 out of a possible 96 points. Other high scorers were Janet Smedlund, 84; Jerry Wegner, 80; Al Cunningham, 78; Jerry DeBruin and John Kesse, 76; Howie Hamann, 75; and Ed Ruscher, 74. Some 60 students wrote the exam.

Names of top scorers have been sent to the Wisconsin division of the MAA, Mathematics Association of America. From those sent in from the state as a whole, a cut-off score will be set so that about 1,000 students will be entered in the final contest to be held April 12.
